Pendleton, Ore., Oct. 24, 1911.

To the Public: I heartily recommend to you Dr. Gray's method of extracting teeth ABSOLUTELY without pain.

For several years I have been a sufferer from severe attacks of neuralgia caused by decayed teeth. I consulted dentists in Spokane and Portland, but owing to a diseased condition of the heart, I could not have chloroform or ether administered, and they positively refused to extract the teeth without the aid of one or the other of these anesthetics.

When I called upon Dr. Gray in his apartments in the Bowman Hotel he convinced me that I could take Vitalized Air without injury, and he extracted four teeth for me so quickly and painlessly that I scarcely realized they were out. Let me assure you that Vitalized Air is just what Dr. Gray tells you it is. There is no smothering sensation or unpleasantness when it is being administered, no repulsive odor, and NO bad after effects.

I take great pleasure in offering this tribute, unsolicited, to Dr. Gray's painless method of extracting teeth, and the speed and efficiency with which he accomplishes it.

Very Respectfully Yours,
MABEL YOUNG WARNER.

MORE JUSTICES FOR SUPREME BENCH

GROWING DUTIES WILL NECESSITATE ADDITIONS

Next Legislature of Oregon Will be Presented With Petition for Creating Two New Judgeships on State's Highest Tribunal of Justice.

Salem, Ore., Nov. 9.—Inevitable changes in the Oregon supreme court are sure to engage the attention of the people of the state during, if not prior to the next session of the legislature, it is believed. That the court must be enlarged by the addition of two new judges and that the court must be permitted to sit in separate departments in order that the rapidly increasing business coming before it may be given due attention is now almost certain. These things will probably be recommended by the commission created to revise the system of courts of the state.

"While 15 or 16 appeals each month has been a fair average," said Judge J. C. Moreland, clerk of the court, "we filed the eighteenth appeal for the present month yesterday afternoon, and the month is less than one fourth spent. While in Pendleton last week the court heard 26 cases, whereas 17 was considered a large number before."

"The court is certain to increase the number of cases over which they are to take original jurisdiction as time goes on. This will add to the work of the court. Of course, many of these cases would reach the supreme court on appeal anyway, but many would not. The court will not take original jurisdiction where it can avoid doing so, but these matters must be determined for the best interests of justice and law. The new law giving the supreme court original jurisdiction over certain cases will naturally increase the number handled in this way."

"The court is not as far behind as it was at the first of the year, but the big rush of business which seems to have just begun to flood in will cause the court to fall further behind. This is a court of last resort and the man who would hurry the court in its work surely does not understand the purpose of a supreme court. They can do more work, but they can do only so much well and cases here deserve the most careful and painstaking consideration."

"In many states no written opinions of length are required, but in this state written opinions giving reasons in full are required by the constitution. The court is establishing and interpreting the law and it is perfectly right and proper that they should give these decisions in writing, although it requires much more time. In many cases the decisions could easily be given from the bench, but written decisions are required."

It is now believed that the two new judgeships will be created before the new supreme court building will be completed. This prediction is based upon the alleged fact that the appropriation is not large enough to cover the erection and furnishing of the new building. If the $100,000 available for this purpose proves sufficient to complete the structure itself it will do well. The next legislature will, therefore, be expected to make an additional appropriation for furnishings. In the meantime, it is thought, two more judges will be added and the present court room readjusted accordingly.

SEATED IN BATHTUB, JUDGE HOLDS COURT

Porterville, Calif.—Police Judge Aubrey M. Lumley, former assemblyman, established a precedent when he held court in his home while seated in his bathtub.

W. W. Sargent, a San Francisco auto salesman, and F. E. Devalon, a Porterville garage owner, were arrested for speeding. Both being well known and expressing anxiety to start on a journey, Policeman Isham released them on the agreement that they appear before the judge before going.

As court was not in session the two men drove to the Lumley home and when a voice answered the bell they walked into the house. Finding the judge in his tub, they explained the necessity for their unconventional call. They waived their rights and were fined $10, which they paid by leaving a check on a table in the judge's sitting room.

Some of the tale men in the McNamara case are not to be much blamed for helping to make the proceedings a farce.

SPORTS

Boxing on Decline.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 9.—Jack Welch the well known referee, recently returned from a trip in the east and has the following to say regarding the fight game and fighters in the east.

"All the good fighters have left New York and the better of those left are looking for matchers in other parts of the country. No new men are coming up very fast, so the outlook in the metropolis is far from bright. In fact, things do not look promising in any of the eastern cities. As far as I could learn no promising fighters are being developed in any of the classes. Cincinnati is booming wise, a light-heavyweight, who has plenty of speed but who apparently needs lots of seasoning."

"Max Wells made a big impression in New York in his matches with Abe Attell, Knockout Brown and Freddie Welsh. He is not a light-weight, however, and can't qualify for a championship match. He got tired of conditions prevailing in New York and went back home."

Welsh says Abe Attell is still nursing his broken arm, but expects to be as good as ever when he gets back in the ring.

Willing for Fight.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Tom Jones, manager of Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast, today expressed his willingness to let the champion box Paeky McFarland 20 rounds in San Francisco New Year's day.

Picks Washington to Win.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 9.—After seeing every northwest conference football team except Whitman in action, Coach Sam Dolan, whose Oregon agricultural team was so badly beaten by Washington Saturday, believes that the sectional championship will be won for the fourth successive time by the Washington university.

"There's nothing to it," said Dolan after Saturday's game. "Dobie has a team that combines speed and strength. The strength was visible enough in the Idaho contest, although in the latter part of the game, for some reason that I cannot name, the speed was not so prominent."

"But who thought the team was weak because of that showing certainly had an opportunity to think again after the contest Saturday. Every department of the team was in form and evidently able at any time to do what they pleased with our defense or offense. And my team is not weak, either, despite its disadvantage in weight."

"Pullman probably has as strong a line as Washington's but the backfield is weaker. Coyle, Wand and Munklestone we all know were bona fide stars anywhere, but the showing made by Sparger Saturday was somewhat of a surprise to me. His line-smashing was the best I have ever seen in the northwest this season. Of course, the work of Patton and Bliss helped him considerably."

"Washington's big fight, however, will be with Pullman. The state college boys played Oregon off its feet all the way, and to lose as they did by a long run or an intercepted forward pass, is nothing but hard luck. Even at that, Osthoff and his men were not discouraged because they believe that Washington will defeat Oregon, and that thus the real championship battle of the season will be played Thanksgiving day on Penny field, when they meet the Washington men."

GREEK FAMIL FAHS TO CONVERT AMERICA

Ancient System of Little or Nothing to Wear Not Popular—Promoters of the Reform Go Home in Disgust.

New York.—The Raymond Duncans and their shivering little son Menalkas sailed for Europe on La Savote of the French line. The fond, and most affectionate of good-bys at the pier were interrupted while fearful huggers and kissers took a glance at their costumes.

Mrs. Duncan is a Greek. Both she and her husband try to make themselves believe that they and poor little Menalkas of the blue shins are very ancient Greeks. Mr. Duncan wore a white tunic over a green robe. Mrs. Duncan wore a green tunic over a purple robe. Menalkas did not have any tunic. His robe, which ended above his bare knees, was also green.

The Duncans have been in California among the Klukit Indians, studying basket weaving and teaching the red men how to weave their own clothes and make a tribal yell like the frog chorus in Aristophanes.

They founded a weaving institute for destitute women and also spent much time in Chinatown in San Francisco learning things about Chinese portulacs.

Mr. Duncan said they were going to Paris to keep some lecture dates, and that they would return to this country to settle up their affairs. After that, he said with firmness, but sadness, never again for America. Mr.
