MUSICAL RECITAL SUCCESSFULLY GIVEN

The friends of Mrs. Anna Selkirk Norton, one of the best known contralto singers of the northwest, were deprived of the pleasure of hearing her sing at the recital Friday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Norton was suddenly taken ill on the eve of the recital and was compelled to return to her home in Walla Walla. However, an excellent program was given, and the participants are to be congratulated on their artistic work.

Miss Bernice Crawford of Walla Walla, and a pupil of Mrs. Norton, sang the first group of songs. Her voice is of very rare quality and she sang the songs with a delicacy and understanding that was very creditable.

Miss Lora Perry played the C Sharp Minor Prelude by Rachmaninoff, and was very enthusiastically encouraged. She responded with the beautiful "To a Water Lilly," by Edward MacDowell.

Miss Perry also accompanied the singers and the fact that she played most of the accompaniments without the notes, was appreciated.

Miss Bernice Ruppe, also a pupil of Mrs. Norton's, and of Mr. Francis Stuart of New York, sang the last group of songs. Her versatility was shown in the contract of her opening and closing songs.

The first showed volume and strength; the last was sung with delicacy and charm.

The program given, was as follows:

"Sweetheart"..... Franz
"He Loves Me"..... Chadwick
"The Lass With the Delicate Air"..... Arne
"C Sharp Minor Prelude"..... Rachmaninoff
"Spring"..... Hildach
"Alah"..... Chadwick
"Sonnet d'Amour"..... Thome
"Summer Noon"..... Margarette Lang
"Clochette"..... Miss Bernice Ruppe
"The Lass With the Delicate Air"..... Miss Bernice Crawford.

There is little danger from a cold or from an attack of the grip except when followed by pneumonia, and this never happens when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. This remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds and grip and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

Vale, Ore.—Fire destroyed the $5000 store building and general merchandise stock of J. W. Lee & Co. at Alberson, Ore., last Saturday night. Alberson is an isolated town on the Malheur-Harney county line and the news just reached here. The loss is covered by $9250 insurance.

PERSONAL MENTION

On Hunt for Geese.
Col. J. H. Railey and Sam Thompson left today for the west end of the county to hunt for geese.

Girl Has Appendicitis.
Miss Ina Jack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jack is suffering from appendicitis and is to be operated upon at the St. Anthony's hospital Monday.

Pendleton Shivers.
With the temperature falling to 10 degrees above zero in this city last night, Pendleton experienced one of the coldest nights in its history for this early date.

County Superintendent Returns.
Frank K. Welles, county school superintendent, returned this morning from a weeks visit in the Camas Prairie country. He reports very bad weather in that part of the county which made traveling difficult and disagreeable.

Cayuse Telephoners Meet.
Stockholders of the Cayuse Telephone company met in this city today to discuss the improvement and repair of their line. Among those present were Will and James Wyrick, Martin Madison, A. B. Cooley and Sam Bittner.

Should Have Bought Coal.
Lou's Singleton imbibed too much "fire water" yesterday in an effort to counteract the snow and cold winter breezes. As a result he was arrested and lodged in the city bastille and it cost him the price of a half ton of coal to be turned loose into the cold world again.

Broncio Busting Postponed.
On account of the snow and the cold weather, the cowboys who have been arranging for a Round-Up after-math tomorrow afternoon, have announced the postponement of the show for a week. It would be impossible for the horses to keep their footing on a slippery field and it would be improbable that many people would sit through a cold afternoon to witness the performance.

Is Reappointed to Fair Board.
R. Alexander, proprietor of the Alexander Department Store, has just received his appointment from Governor West as commissioner of the Third Eastern Oregon District Agricultural society which presents the annual Umafilla-Morrow county fair in this city. Mr. Alexander has held this position before and thus succeeds himself. His term will expire November 8, 1913.

Elmer Crafts is Dead.
News has been received here of the death at Athena last night of Elmer Crafts, a brother of Mrs. Marion Jack of this city. He died at 8 o'clock last evening and but shortly after completing a trip from Hood River where he had been living. The dead man was the son of Mrs. C. T. Smith of Athena and was well known in that section. He was 31 years of age and married. Death was due to tuberculosis with which the young man had been suffering but a short time. He is to be buried at Athena at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Check Artist Turned Loose.
Robert Elmer, the man who passed bad checks at the Office saloon and the Workingmen's Clothing store, is a free man today by virtue of the efforts of his friends and the lack of disposition on the part of his victims to prosecute the case against him. The money he secured by his fraudulent operations was returned and Messrs. Schneider and Moses were induced not to appear against him. Consequently he was liberated and the officers, who searched for and captured him are not in a very amiable mood this afternoon.

Pilot Rock Sees "Aunt Jerusha."
Pilot Rock was given an enjoyable entertainment last evening when the ladies of the local Methodist church invaded the sheep town and presented "Aunt Jerusha's Quilting Party." The audience was a large one and very appreciative of the ladies' efforts. The Pendleton male quartet, consisting of Messrs. Welles, Landers, Okers and Owens, rendered a few selections and Mr. Akers gave a humorous reading, all of which added greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

Jetha cloth market to offer prayers money that commenced at the Mulji for rain was concluded Thursday.

Preparations were made to carry the idol to sea. A large bullock cart gayly decorated and filled with young native tom-tom players attired in yellow robes, followed by a flower-festooned palanquin, and amid deafening noise of the band, the officiating priest reverently brought out the idol garlanded with flowers and with the auspicious mark of red paint and placed it gently in the palanquin.

Brahmins swarmed around the sacred vehicle and formed the vanguard of the procession. Behind them walked a party of "ghatis," about 200 in number, singing hymns; dealers in cloth and other petty traders, who had closed their business in the afternoon. The procession was fairly large, but it was not nearly so large as was looked for, though it swelled considerably as the people wended their way through this quarter to the seashore. Care had been taken to avoid any disturbance and everything passed off quietly.

One of the most interesting features of the programme was that at one point 200 children of Lady Northcote Orphanage and other Hindu orphanages joined the procession and sang a hymn specially composed invoking the gods to help in this time of trouble.

As the procession wended its way through the different localities, particularly through the Marwari bazaar crowds of devout Hindus joined it and followed the palanquin, which, covered with a scarlet umbrella, occupied the center, to its destination. The sea was reached after 7 o'clock, an hour later than was anticipated. The last rites were then performed. The last salute to the idol was given by those present.

The party of Brahmins then put the idol in a country craft, which was steered out till deep water was reached, not without considerable risk to the occupants owing to a heavy swell which several times threatened to overturn the boat. The idol was then lowered into the sea amid shouts of the people who lined the shore.

Many of the processionists stayed behind to take a sea bath, a piece of religious duty generally performed after such a ceremony as this.

The Orpheum.
Where the best of everything is seen to the best advantage:

- "Sheriff of Tuolumne." Selig. Ben Kirby, the sheriff, and Joe Standing a young prospector, are suitors for the hand of Lucy Hanford. She shows her preference for Joe and the sheriff retires, heavy hearted. Joe finds a valuable claim and a couple of claim jumpers plot to get possession of the claim. Joe and the sheriff outwitted them.
- "The Rubber Industry on the Amazon." Selig. An interesting subject showing the tapping of trees and packing the rubber for market.
- "Flirts." Pathe. Two girls and two fellows—officers in the army—think they are deeply in love, and sad the partings when they are ordered to join their regiment. Each vows undying fidelity to the other, but the officers make love to other girls and the girls accept the attention of other fellows, and things are in a fair way to become badly mixed for life when the disappointed couples meet, when loving explanations end in reconciliations for all concerned.
- "Trained Dogs." Pathe. A film showing the perfection to which these intelligent animals may be coached.
- "How Mrs. Murry Saved the American Flag." A picture in the series of revolutionary incidents that the Edison company is undertaking. It is a story of the retreat from New York. To allow Putnam's division of the army, moving from lower New York to Harlem Heights, time to escape, Mrs. Murry and her daughter entertained the British officers.
- "Ups and Downs." A great many more people get married than go to housekeeping. Have a look at this Vitagraph and see how a couple of newlyweds go to housekeeping without proper equipment, a knowledge of housekeeping and sufficient income to live as their father's supported them.

The Pastime.
Where you see the best in motion pictures Sunday's program:

"Saved from the Torrents." Essay-nay. This story is dramatic. The girl who saves the train at first tries to keep it from being stopped by the police, who want her criminal, but repentant brother. Then she hears of the dangerous bridge over the rapids. She and her sweetheart rush to save the train in a handcar.

"The Mission Wait." Melles. A story of Old California, beautiful in conception, rich in settings, and containing an unceasing interest from start to finish. A picture that will cause an audience to marvel at the wonders of motography.

"Cora and the Fortune Teller." Eclipse. A trick film of merit, baffling in some of its manifestations. It possesses a number of novel scenes.

"The One Hundred Dollar Bill." Vitagraph. This picture takes up on a sight-seeing tour of the underworld. A down and out young man finds a helping hand in a jolly man about town who "feeds" him, then gives him a one hundred dollar bill. There is much that is comic also something pathetic, about this picture.

"A Jealous Wife." Eclipse. Imagine the wife's consternation when she learns "Fifi" is only a pet dog.

Akers' Hoe Attachment

All farmers realize the importance of sowing their grain at a uniform depth and at the right depth; but this cannot be accomplished with any drill as they are found on the market.

This problem is solved by the simple attachment shown in the accompanying cut. It consists of a collar which fits the hoe, to which it is secured by means of two set screws, and a shoe, with means for adjusting same for any depth of sowing desired.

The shoe answers the double purpose of

Insuring the proper depth of sowing and packing the soil around the grain
