DARROW AND COURT CLASH

McNamara's Chief Counsel Again Tells Judge He is Discriminatory.

REBUKE IS ADMINISTERED

Morning Session Charged With Electrified Verbal Exchanges When Bordwell Refuses to Give Defense Same Privilege Allowed State.

Half of Records Los Angeles, Nov. 22.—Three sweeping rulings which materially aided the state's contention—that a juror isn't disqualified from service in the McNamara case because of an opinion he holds so long as he agrees that he can lay it aside—was made by Judge Bordwell today in disallowing the defense's challenge against S. H. Olcott, who believed that the Times was dynamited and that McNamara was guilty also against A. J. Stevens, who believed the allegations against the unions were well founded. Both said they could lay their opinions aside.

Judge Bordwell also refuses to entertain a challenge against F. A. Brode, made because his personal attorney is connected with the prosecution.

The decisions were decidedly disappointing to the defense. Attorney Darrow protested their unfairness and was rebuked by the court.

The rulings will materially hasten the work of securing a jury.

Despite the rebuke Darrow insisted on his allegations, that the court was discriminating against the defense and perfected the record so grounds for an appeal might be specifically evident.

High tension on the case marked today and the dull monotony of examining witnesses was frequently enlivened by clashes between opposing counsel and occasionally the court.

Darrow was interrogating F. A. Brode, a business man and had asked him one of a thousand leading questions with which the records are filled, when Deputy District Attorney Horne objected and was sustained.

Darrow angrily took exception, exclaiming: "When the other side wants to disqualify a juror, the court permits them to ask leading questions for half a day."

"Your remark is decidedly improper," said the court.

"It is a fact that the record discloses, nevertheless. I want a specific ruling on this point," said Darrow.

Judge Bordwell ruled that certain questions that might be proper in the case of one juror would not be proper in the case of another.

This plainly amazed Darrow and he promptly declared that he never before had heard of such a ruling and the fireworks enlivened the rest of the morning session.

After a three hour examination, the defense challenged Talesman Brode because he said the Times was dynamited. The state resisted and Judge Bordwell disallowed it.

PENDLETON ENAKOPS PRINCESS CHOSEN

Miss Effie Parkes is to act as princess of Pendleton at the Enakops Jubilee and Apple Show which commences tomorrow and continues the remainder of the month. At a meeting of the committee of business men appointed for the purpose last night, she was chosen as the honored one and the selection is meeting with hearty approval.

Miss Parkes is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Joe H. Parkes and is a very beautiful young lady. In the Westward Ho parade during the last Round-Up she was the central figure on the float "Winning of the West," representing at that time the Queen of the Pacific.

She will leave tonight for Spokane and will remain there during the jubilee as the guest of the management and will, with about twenty-five other princesses be met during her stay there. In the parade which will be held next Monday she will be mounted on a thoroughbred horse and will lead the mounted Round-Up Cowboy Band which leaves Sunday to participate in the big pageant.

BANKERS FAVOR ALDRICH PLAN

America's Financiers Say Present Money Reserve System Causes Panics.

BANKS HURT EACH OTHER

Association President Says Proposed Remedy Would Prevent Business Depression by Allowing Banks to Issue Notes and Hold Their Cash.

New Orleans, Nov. 22.—Strong approval of the National Reserve association plan of ex-Senator Aldrich, was voiced today by the American Bankers' convention.

George Reynolds, president of the Continental Commercial National bank of Chicago, said the reserve requirements were such that one bank weakened another's reserve whenever it withdrew its funds to straighten its own reserve. This unscientific system he said makes for financial panics.

He said the Aldrich plan would remedy this by allowing the banks to issue notes in stressful times, without impairing their reserve, by paying out actual coin.

Mr. Reynolds said in part: "That we have not had more frequent panics, or seasons of severe depression in business, is due largely to the growing use of credit in business transactions in this country, one of the most noted instruments of which is the bank check."

"Credit is thus one of the most potent factors in all economics and credit, to be staple, must be protected by a system of currency and banking which, while providing for an amount of credit necessary to meet the reasonable requirements of business, will prevent expansion of credit."

He said this was what the National Reserve association intends to do.

SUFFRAGETTES STORM HOUSE OF COMMONS

London, Nov. 22.—Disheveled after their night in jail, but undaunted, 229 suffragettes appeared today in Bow street court to answer to charges of participation in last night's rioting, when a frenzied mob of women smashed the windows, defaced the government building and fought with policemen in an endeavor to enter the house of commons and force Premier Asquith to change his determination not to make woman suffrage an administrative issue. A huge force of police lined up in the court room to preserve order. Mary Oldham was the first arraigned. She was sentenced to fourteen days in jail and the others were fined.

AUSTRALIA WOMAN CLAIMS CITY

Writes Mayor of Atchison, Kan., That She Owns the Land.

Atchison, Kan., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Elizabeth Atchison of Sydney, N. S. W., in a letter received by Mayor Walker today, lays claim to the land upon which Atchison, a city of nearly 20,000 people, is built. The land, she says, was given before the Louisiana purchase to David T. Atchison, of whom she says, she is a descendant.

The Atchison heirs, the Australia woman declares, have perfected their plans to carry the case into the courts of this country and England. She states that this city was named for her ancestor, but in this she is mistaken. The city was named for Senator David A. Atchison of Missouri.

Mayor Walker referred the letter to the State Historical society at Topeka, asking that it be investigated.

FATAL DUEL IN A PRISON.

Prisoners Fight With Knives After Card Game Dispute.

Madrid, Nov. 22.—A mortal duel was fought in the jail at Malaga between two prisoners. The story throws a strange light on Spanish prison methods.

Eleven men sleeping in the same room were playing cards when two of them quarreled and a duel with knives was arranged between Antonio Jimenez and John Domingo.

They plunged their weapons into each other several times and finally Jimenez collapsed in a dying condition.

The examining magistrate had the sleeping room searched, and there were discovered a large number of knives, revolvers, boxes of dice, packs of cards, photographs and a quantity of wine and brandy.

Found Guilty of Negligence.

Couversport, Pa., Nov. 22.—George C. Bayless, president and Frederick J. Hamlin, superintendent of the Bayless Pulp & Paper company, whose dam at Austin, Pa., burst causing the recent disaster, were found guilty of gross negligence by the coroner's jury last night.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN AND FAMILY ON BOARD SINKING SHIP AT SEA

New York N. Y., Nov. 22.—A wireless message received here this morning, says that the Hamburg-American ocean liner, Prinz Joachim, is in a sinking condition as the result of having run on the rocks of Samana Island, near Santo Domingo. Among the large number of passengers on the liner are William Jennings Bryan and his wife and family, who are enroute to Kingston, Jamaica, to visit his daughter.

The appeal for help, says that the situation is very dangerous unless aid arrives soon.

Several ships, of all descriptions are rushing from every direction to the danger point to render aid to the distressed vessel.

In the message, it is stated that all preparations have been made on the vessel to transfer her passengers to the first ship that reaches her, and little time will be required, in saving the passengers. Officials of the company here maintain that there is no danger.

Samana Island is almost a solid rock, eight miles long and one mile wide, and is uninhabited.

DR. M. B. METZER COMMITS SUICIDE

Blows Out Brains With Bullet, After Bee of Drinking

Heppner Dentist, Well Known in Pendleton, Ignores Wife's Plea; Then Resents Her Absence.

Pendleton friends were shocked this morning to receive word of the suicide of Dr. M. B. Metzger, well known dentist of Heppner, at his home in that city last night. Excessive indulgence in intoxicants, it is said, resulted in his tragic end.

According to advices received here, he had of late been drinking hard and his wife had repeatedly remonstrated with him to no avail. Finally in desperation she threatened to leave him unless he corrected his intemperate ways.

Last night Dr. Metzger, when he returned home late in an intoxicated condition, found his wife gone and, in his despondency and remorse he seized a .22 calibre rifle, placed it to his head and blew his brains out.

He was found dead in his home and his wife, who was spending the night in a neighbor's home, is prostrated with grief.

The deceased man was about 35 years of age at the time of his death and had made Heppner his home for a number of years.

BEATTIE TO BE BURIED BESIDE MURDERED WIFE

Richmond Va., Nov. 22.—Expressing a desire to end his father's agony of suspense, Henry Clay Beattie today issued a statement saying he was ready to die Friday and said it is just as well as thirty days later. Beattie will be buried by the side of his wife, of whom he was convicted of murdering.

KANSAS COWARDS WILL TRY TO JUSTIFY THEIR BRUTALITY

Lincoln Center, Nov. 22.—Attacking the character of Mary Chamberlain is the method by which Prisoners Simms, Schmidt and Clark expect to justify their action in tarring and feathering her. Simms will be the first on the stand. Miss Chamberlain appeared in court today, pale and nervous.

BROWN EYED MAID OF PORTLAND SEEKS HOME IN THE LAND OF GOLDEN SUNSHINE

The following letter received by the East Oregonian today explains the longings of a gentle maiden of Portland who evidently would like to try life in this land of sunshine, fresh air and blue skies:

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21, 1911.

To the Editor of the Pendleton "Cattle-Roper": (or so forth.) You are about to suffer the penalty of being the "everything" on a progressive western (medium of news exchange) paper.

Idea came from somewhere—am not sufficiently advanced as a student of psychology to say from just where, however I have one, I am sick of being a stenographic nobody, or a bookkeeper for nobodies. Ads won't get there quick enough, so I write directly to you to ask if there are not places where live girls with red cupules can work—not the heavy drudgery of ranch life, but where they can do enough work to guarantee the necessities and still have life and ambition to ride, walk, study and live—real life.

I know that in your country is where people live—live by minutes, vital breathing minutes—and not the slow enervating drag of tall buildings, sketchy patches of blue sky and a stifled longing to get out where one can see it for hours at a time.

If I say that I was brought up in an old fashioned New England motherer will it not be sufficient guarantee that I am a good cook, can sweep, wash and iron? And if I say that I think a woman's rightful sphere is

EYE WITNESS TELLS OF DENVER MURDER

Says Mrs. Patterson Shot Husband in the Back

Prosecution Trying to Show That Slaying Was Result of Desire to Rid Herself of Lifermate.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 22.—"I saw her standing over Patterson's prostrate body with a revolver pointed at his neck. She was about to fire again when I shouted and she shot him in the back. She then hid the revolver under her body and ran," testified George Strain, an eye witness to the shooting of Patterson by his wife who is on trial today.

The jury was completed last night and sworn in today and the state's attorney delivered the opening statement Judge Hilton for the defense replied.

The attorney for the state said he would prove that she killed her husband out of sheer desire to be rid of him, and the culmination of her repeated threats to kill him if he persisted in his determination to sue Strouse for the alienation of her affections.

BIG GUNS FOR BATTLE SHIPS.

Three 14-Inch Bore in Each of Two Turrets on Oklahoma and Nevada.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Three 14-inch guns will appear in each of two turrets of the giant battleships Oklahoma and Nevada, b/ds for the construction of which are to be received by the navy department next month.

President Recovering.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—President Taft is recovering rapidly from his cold and probably will be able to attend the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia next Saturday, according to an announcement made here today.

Wants Special Session.

Seattle, Nov. 22.—Stanton Warburton, congressman, declared himself emphatically in favor of a special session of the legislature, to enact a presidential primary law, in a letter received by the Progressive Republican League here. He said a direct system of nominating candidates, including the president, met his favor.

that of a homemaker, is it not evidence enough that my home instinct is still intact?

There must be nice people, or a nice person to whom or in whom, this longing of mine would find ready answer—nice person means English that doesn't have to be labelled as such, and who have no terror that pens will not stay on their knives.

Now please be a nice editor man and write me a letter and tell me just what course to pursue to find what I want.

Sincerely, STERLING ATWOOD, 286 Oak Street, Portland, Ore.

P. S.—Should I have added that I am 25 "winters," brown eyes, light brown hair, 5 feet 5 inches, and weigh 125 pounds. The history of my life?

Up to Keefe.

The communication from Miss Atwood has been respectfully referred to Jack Keefe, secretary of the Commercial club, whose duty it is to promote new settlement in Pendleton and the happiness of the world in general. In a letter to the Portland girl the editor of the "Cattle Roper" tells of the action taken and also informs her that Mr. Keefe himself is a young unmarried man with brown eyes, speaks English is a psychologist, a crack baseball player, has a good voice and an attractive disposition.

SUBPOENA FOR ROCKEFELLER

Backwoodsman Tells How He Was Cheated in Ore Mine Transaction.

PREACHER TOOL TOLD LIE

"By Golly, I Believed It." Rustic Witne's Tells Congressional Committee in Investigation of Steel Trust—Frick, No Gentleman.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Chairman Stanley of the congressional committee investigating the Steel trust, today announced that a subpoena "duces tecum" would be issued ordering John D. Rockefeller to submit to the committee certain documents bearing on his deals in the Minnesota ore lands.

Lon Merritt, the backwoodsman who discovered the Mesaba range of iron ore, which later became the biggest producer in the world, told of the difficulties he had in raising money to develop the ore bodies in the range, which he explored for sixteen years.

He said he went to Carnegie and Frick. Frick, he said, ridiculed the idea that there was ore in any quantity there and "didn't treat me like a gentleman."

Merritt then described the building of the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railroad. He said Rockefeller representatives offered to help finance the road and actually furnished $350,000 to buy stock and promised further financial assistance, which did not materialize. Finally Merritt went to New York where he met Rev. Gates, Rockefeller's right hand man, and now his chief philanthropic agent.

"Gates told me how pious and honest Mr. Rockefeller was," stated the witness. "This was in the panicky times of '93. Gates suggested also that we consolidate our mines and railroad and that Rockefeller would purchase the bonds and there would be no further financial trouble."

"Several days I hung out and then Gates said no one had any money and that even Rockefeller was hard up and 'by golly' I believed him but now I know Gates lied."

Then he said the consolidation was effected and later he (Merritt) was frozen out, as Rockefeller failed to take up the bonds.

"I was out there for a long time and then Gates said no one had any money and that even Rockefeller was hard up and 'by golly' I believed him but now I know Gates lied."

ALIENS SLAIN BY BOTH SIDES

Rebels and Manchus Each Claim Foreigners Favor Their Opponents.

FLEEING FROM INTERIOR

Imperialists at Nanking Are Surrounded by Overwhelmingly Larger Force of Revolutionists and Their Food is Exhausted.

Shanghai, Nov. 22.—With massacres of foreigners at the hands of rebels and Manchus, each of whom blame the aliens for favoring the other cause, foreigners in the interior are fleeing towards the coast. Many of them, it is feared, will be killed en route.

In the province of Hohan, where a wholesale exodus of Europeans is progressing, conditions are particularly threatening.

Foreigners Massacred.

Shanghai, Nov. 22.—Peking dispatches say that indefinite reports of massacres of foreigners in various interior cities have reached the capital through native sources.

The rumors are given a color of truth by Hankow reports, which state that there is an anti-foreign feeling among the revolutionists because they believed that the Manchus would have quit the fight long ago if they had not been morally supported by the powers.

Foreigners at Nanking have been warned to leave as desperate fighting is expected immediately.

Manchus Fostering Move.

Peking, Nov. 22.—Dispatches from various points today indicate that the Manchus are fostering an anti-foreign propaganda and an outbreak is imminent.

Nanking messages say the imperialist garrison is surrounded by a horde of revolutionists and are vastly outnumbered and that their food supply is nearly exhausted.
