SEA MONSTER MORE THAN 150 YEARS OLD
Manatee Captured Alive Off Texas Coast Being Exhibited in Southern Cities.
New Orleans.—If Methuselah were alive today he might feel something in common with a sea cow which is at the stables of the Wells-Fargo Express company at Dryside and Calhoun streets. On account of the thickness of its skin the animal is estimated to be between 150 and 200 years old. It was brought to the stables from Shreveport, where it had been on exhibition at the state fair. The creature is 11 feet and 4 inches long, and weighs 1,310 pounds, and despite its years is enjoying the best of health.
This species of the sea cow, also known as the Sirenian or Manatee, was captured in July off the coast of Point Isabel, near Brownsville, Tex. The fishermen of this region noticed for some time a peculiar looking animal in the waters thereabout, and a number of seals belonging to the sealing men were ruined through coming in contact with this monster.
After several attempts to land the animal on the beach, the fishermen finally succeeded in capturing him, 32 seals and 93 men being needed to accomplish the feat, it is stated.
The creature destroyed the first two tanks which were provided for him after he had been kidnaped from his briny home, and for 32 days lived entirely on water, refusing to eat any of the solids put before him. He is perfectly tame now, and eats between 60 and 70 pounds of vegetables daily. In diet the animal is strictly a vegetarian, lettuce being his favorite dish.

WASHINGTON LIBELED FOR 'PROPER' SALVAGE
Portland, Ore.—Alleging that but for the efforts of the tug Tatoosh and her crew the steam schooner Washington and all aboard her would have been lost on North spit November 13, the Puget Sound Tugboat company and the crew of the Tatoosh filed a libel in the United States district court against the Washington.
The crew participating in the libel include C. T. Bailey, master; S. S. Connauten, mate; Charles Tinsley, chief engineer; N. Sigage, assistant engineer; Martin Martzen, Theodore Nelson and Thomas Anderson, seamen; W. S. Connauton and John Wilson, firemen; Harry Warner and Lawrence Patterson, oilers; S. H. Brown, wireless operator, one Japanese cook and one Japanese mess boy. The value of the Tatoosh is placed at $90,000 and of the Washington $40,000. She carried a cargo of 500,000 feet of lumber and 43 passengers and crew. The libel alleges nothing but the action of the Tatoosh in rescuing her when other bar tugs had found it impossible could have saved the vessel and those aboard her.
The complaint asks the court to fix a "reasonable and proper salvage in proportion to the value of said vessel and cargo."

The Easy Way To Take a Raw Egg.
Most people find a great deal of trouble in swallowing a raw egg. When prepared in the following simple manner it will be a pleasure.
Put one teaspoonful of any fruit syrup into a thin glass. Carefully drop a raw egg in on this, being particular not to break the yolk. Over the egg pour a tablespoonful of Duff's pure malt whiskey; drink. The taste of the egg will not be noticed, and taking it this way makes it doubly nourishing and beneficial.

After Judge Jordan had filled out the license and was just about to tie the knot the young man had a thought.
"What's the charge?" he inquired.
"Five dollars; $2.50 for the license and the same for the hitching," replied the judge.
"Goodness sakes, judge; hain't got that much money. I thought it was only $3."
He carefully searched his pockets, but could only scrape up a total of $3.30.
The bride nearly fainted with chagrin. Judge Jordan took pity on them, and they were made happy.

TWO YEARS A BLANK TO A FORMER LAWYER
Doctors Puzzled by the Case of Attorney Who Had Been Debarred.
New York.—There is a gap of two years in the mind of James A. Howard of No. 113 Gates avenue, Brooklyn, a lawyer disbarred in June, 1909, on a charge of subornation of perjury, and many doctors are puzzled over the unusual case.
On October 21 last, Howard fell from a trolley car and injured his head. For twelve days he was unconscious, but his wife heard him murmuring:
"I must get an appeal. I must get an appeal."
Howard cannot remember anything, even the most important and intimate events in his life, that has happened during the two years and five months since he was disbarred nor during the few months before that when his ruin as a lawyer impended. But he remembered well what happened previous to that period. His wife, who is constantly at his bedside says Howard believes Theodore Roosevelt is president, that Justice Hughes is governor and that Mayor Gaynor is a supreme court justice.
It seems that everything that happened since disgrace overwhelmed him left but a slight impression on his memory, for his mind reverts only to his disbarment.
During the last few days Howard has regained partial realization of his surroundings and has recognized his wife. But he keeps saying to her: "You don't think I was guilty, do you, Lena?"
And he asks her if the men of the club of which he is president believe in his innocence. It has been his wife's only ambition to restore his good name, and his clouded brain seems to realize that.
Newspapers have been given to Howard in the vain hope that the news would bring to him the realization that he is living in today.

MARRIED AT CUT RATES BY A JUDGE IN KANSAS
Jurist Takes $3 for the License and Ceremony When the Price is $5.
Hutchinson, Kans.—If you are contemplating committing matrimony don't attempt it on less than $5.
A Hutchinson young man who tried to get through on $3 got cut rates, but bargains have been suspended.
They called at the home of Probate Judge J. M. Jordan and asked to be married. The judge keeps an emergency supply of licenses at his home and he had one filled out in short order.

and it is right, for perpetual motion in its ordinary sense is impossible. My machine is, therefore, called a 'self-acting motor.' There is no limit to its power and it will continue to run until it falls to pieces. Its principle is magnetism, and the secret of the discovery lies in the shape of the magnets, which makes them grow stronger the more they are used. The motor revolves in response to the same forces that make the world go round.
"From experiments made as a boy with penny magnets, milk cans, and fittings from incandescent gas jets, my father encouraged me and sent me as a pupil to Sir Hiram Maxim. There I worked in the laboratory.
"The machine can be fitted up in private houses and used to work a dynamo and so supply electric light, work the lift or sewing machine, do the cooking or pumping, or anything required of it at no cost at all.
"Its power is unlimited and it could be built inside the ordinary motor omnibus bonnet. The only cost after installation is for lubrication."
