MAYOR-ELECT TO GO UNDER X-RAY

PLANS TRIP TO PORTLAND TO RECEIVE TREATMENT

Expects to Return in Time to Be Sworn in as Municipal Chief Executive, But Present Incumbent Will Remain on Job Until Return.

W. F. Matlock, mayor-elect of Pendleton, is to leave tomorrow for Portland, where he will have an X-ray examination made of his lower limbs in connection with the treatment he is taking. Mr. Matlock is greatly improved over his condition of a few months since and he says that while he is feeling very well he hopes to better his condition and so is going to Portland with that end in view. As to how long he will be away the mayor-elect is not sure, but he expects to be back before January 1, on which date he is to take office. However, he has made arrangements with Mayor Murphy whereby the present incumbent will continue to perform the duties of mayor in the event his successor should be detained by the treatment.

In discussing this subject this morning Mr. Matlock recalled that such an arrangement as this was made at Eugene when his brother, J. D. Matlock, was serving as mayor. The successor to Mayor Matlock of Eugene was unable to take office for several months and during that time J. D. was compelled to continue in office.

That he has no announcements to make at this time as to whom he will name as city attorney is declared by Pendleton's mayor-elect. He says he will take no action regarding the city attorneyship or regarding the chief of police until after he takes office.

2 CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH AT BALM

Bay City, Ore.—With faces not yet dry from the tears shed at the funeral of one child, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eason, living at Balm 10 miles north of here, are now waiting by the bedside of two other dying children. The parents buried one of their four children; the Eason house was destroyed by fire and two youngsters, aged 8 and 3 years, were fatally burned. The father was also seriously injured.

Word was received here of the heartbreaking affair, and friends of the family hurried to Balm to assist in bringing the children, or their bodies, to this city. The message that was received stated that there was no hope of saving the lives of the little folk burned.

The barn and other buildings were destroyed at the same time the house burned down.

CONVICTS BATTLE FLAMES.

Birthplace of Grover Cleveland Saved From Destruction.

Caldwell, N. J.—A squad of thirty convicts from the Caldwell penitentiary is responsible for the fact that the historic mansion where Grover Cleveland was born is not a mass of fire-swept ruins.

Fire destroyed parts of the Van Order Lumber Yard, adjoining the Cleveland mansion, and it was believed the old house was doomed. No local apparatus could be spared from the main blaze, and an appeal was sent to the warden of the penitentiary, who responded by sending a squad of thirty volunteers in charge of ten armed guards.

The men in striped suits seemed to enjoy their temporary freedom and fought the fire vigorously and successfully with the prison apparatus.

ONE SHAVE EQUALS TWO.

Hence an Angry "Shavee" Can't Get a Barber Arrested.

New York—"I want a warrant for that shaver man," exclaimed Morris Berg forty-five years old, "of 166 Cherry street, to Magistrate Freschl, in the Essex Market court. "He is a thief. On his shop it says, "Shave, 5 cents." I gave him a quarter and he takes a dime out of it."

"Are you sure he didn't use bay rum on your face?" queried the magistrate, who knows by hearsay the "extra" charges of cheap barbers. After ten minutes of questioning and answering it developed that Berg had not shaved for several days and his beard was so long when he took the barber's chair that it had to be clipped before the barber would take a chance of dulling his razor.

"You virtually got too shaves," said Freschl. "That would make your bill 10 cents. No, I won't grant you a warrant in this case."

As Berg went out he said bitterly that he'd get even with the barber—with all the barber trade, in fact. How? Why, he'd never get shaved again and just think of the money they'd lose!

MAROONED IN WILD.

Twenty-Four Prospectors and Woman Cook Nearly Starve to Death Near Lake Superior.

Duluth.—While searching on the north shore of Lake Superior for the lost south shore copper lode, twenty-four prospectors and a woman cook were marooned on a narrow peninsula fifty miles from civilization for many days. They were so close to starvation that they started to walk fifty miles to a railroad in search of food.

When a tug reached them carrying provisions not a bit of food was left in the camp.

The story is told by W. R. Rathbun, a mining man, who returned to the city from Port Arthur. Mr. Rathbun was on the tug that took provisions to the starving crew.

"They were prospecting alone along the north shore for a continuation of the lode from the Michigan copper country," said Mr. Rathbun. "Their camp was in Black Bay Peninsula, which is fifty-five miles from Port Arthur, and is cut off from the mainland by a wilderness.

"The snow was three to ten feet deep and it was impossible for them to make their way through it.

"The men tried every expedient. They bored holes through the ice and tried to catch fish, but failed. They went hunting, but for some mysterious reason had no luck.

"When we finally reached the camp the woman, who had been given all the best of it, had retained her strength. The men, however, just sat still and cried."

BRIDE OF TWO DAYS; AFFINITY.

Stockton Husband Says He Forgave, But It Did Not Good.

Stockton.—Sensational allegations are contained in a divorce complaint filed by Ralph L. Prouty, against Margaret Prouty, a trained nurse formerly employed at a local hospital. The action is brought on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

The husband alleges that two days after his marriage, which took place August 17, 1910, he returned home unexpectedly in the evening and found that his bride had an affinity in the home. Mrs. Prouty, he says, shed tears and promised to be loyal to her husband if he would forgive her. Prouty consented to forget about the affinity, but took occasion to prescribe a number of rules to govern the future conduct of his bride.

Later, Mrs. Prouty, according to the story of her husband, did several things which he had forbidden. Finally the couple separated. Mrs. Prouty going to Sacramento to live with her parents.

The name of the affinity is not given in the complaint.
