

PRIVATE INTERESTS OPPOSE EXTENSION

Washington, Dec. 14.—Senator Chamberlain is much encouraged in connection with the West Umatilla project by a letter from a reliable source branding as unfair the Stanfield and other protests. The letter attributes all activities to W. J. Furness and H. W. Coe, who according to the letter, "have lands on the market at $250 and $300 per acre which would come in direct competition with the government project lands, which would probably sell at $50 or $90 per acre."

The letter says that emissaries for Stanfield people are creating the dissemination among Ben and McKay creek settlers, despite the assurance that there is no intention on the part of the government to interfere with the rights of legal water users. The O. W. R. & N. Co. is said to be holding up construction of the Coyote cutoff pending the government's decision whether the Stanfield reservoir will be built. If the reservoir be built the cutoff will leave the main line back of Echo, going south of the reservoir leaving Stanfield on the branch line from Echo to Umatilla. Some railroad authorities remark that possibly a junction would be made near the proposed dam, the line running to Hornistown, the track through Stanfield being abandoned.

If the west extension be abandoned the railroad will build the Coyote cutoff, beginning near Stanfield and running through part of the proposed reservoir site, putting Stanfield in line for the end of a freight division. "These facts and the further fact that some farmers in the proposed reservoir site are growing weary of delays," the letter says "are the real cause of opposition." It is held here that the president and the secretary of the interior are broad enough to overlook the selfish interests and build the project.

Mrs. E. J. Meiners, 501 Lew's street, Pendleton, Oregon, says: "About two years ago a cold settled on my kidneys and caused backache and pains through my loins. I felt lame and sore and any movement such as stooping or lifting was accompanied by sharp twinges. While I was suffering in this way, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box at the Pendleton Drug Co. They gave me relief at once and I had not used them long before my trouble was entirely removed. I know that this remedy is one of great merit and consequently I do not hesitate to recommend it." (Statement on October 19, 1905.)

Time Is the Test.
Mrs. Meiners was interviewed on May 17, 1910, and she said: "I still hold Doan's Kidney Pills in high esteem and I am pleased to again say a good word for them. I have taken this preparation recently and it has done good work."

EASTERN ORE. R. R. WILL BRANCH OUT

Salem, Ore., Dec. 14.—For the purpose of running a railroad the full length of Oregon from Natron, near Eugene, to Ontario, on the Idaho line and dropping feeders from that line to several important points along the southern border of the state, the Oregon Eastern Railway company filed supplementary articles of incorporation with the secretary of state increasing its capital stock from $100,000 to $5,000,000.

From the main line the company proposes a branch line to Weed, Cal., to connect with the Central Pacific line, a branch from the main line to Agency Plains, a branch to Lakeview and a branch from Lakeview 15 miles south to Goose lake on the state line. The resolution by the board of directors increasing the capital stock and embodying the above plans of construction with the necessary accompanying powers is attached to the articles. 17-Year-Old Whips Lewis.

Paris, Dec. 14.—George S. Carpenter, the 17-year-old French welterweight champion, won the decision over Harry Lewis, the American pugilist and welterweight champion of England, in a 20-round fight at the Cirque de Paris last night. The fight went the limit, and Carpenter won on points.

Parisian society, including hundreds of women in evening gowns, witnessed the contest. In the early rounds Carpenter had all the better of the bout. He succeeded in closing Lewis' eye and in the tenth round punished the American severely. After some stalling, Lewis came up fresh for the fifteenth. He jabbed Carpenter repeatedly and held his own until the end, but the Frenchman had shown better form throughout.

The fight was for a stake of $5,000 of which $3,000 went to the winner.

CHAS. FULTON MAY OPPOSE BOURNE

FORMER SENATOR MAY BE HOPE OF SOLON'S ENEMIES

Refuses to Commit Himself on Matter and Denies Responsibility of Boom Started in His Behalf—Will Prove a Factor.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 14.—Charles W. Fulton, ex-United States senator and antagonist of Jonathan Bourne, may yet become the "hope" of those who seek to overturn the quiet senator. For some time a quiet movement has been on foot among some of the old guard republicans to put Fulton to the front once more, and the Morning Astorian, published in Fulton's old home at Astoria, has now taken the lead in urging his candidacy.

Mr. Fulton coyly sidestepped a direct answer when he was asked if he will be a candidate. He said he had seen the front page editorials of the Astorian under the heading "Does Oregon Want Capable Men in the United States senate?" adding that this was published without any suggestion or connivance on his part.

"I am not prepared to discuss the matter at this time," said the ex-senator. "I will not say that I will not be a candidate, nor will I say that I will be a candidate. I have given the matter no consideration."

As Fulton does not put aside the suggestion of his name for the senatorship and some of his friends have taken up a crusade in his behalf, an exceedingly important factor has been added to the situation. Since it became known that Ben Selling is likely to become a candidate, Selling has been regarded as the residuary legatee of the bitter anti-Bourne element. But if Fulton comes into the race there will be a stampede of old liners to the ex-senator, who considers that their first allegiance is to him if he sounds the battle call.

Selling Considering Matter.

Selling has not definitely announced himself a candidate. He has only said that he is seriously considering the matter. Apparently Fulton is called in the field there would be a decided division of the forces that might otherwise be united against Bourne. It is therefore safe to say that strenuous efforts will be put forth by the anti-Bourne leaders to keep one or the other out of the race.

While the general preference of the old guard would be for Fulton, and many would go to him from a sense of loyalty, whatever they believed his chances to be, many who would like to see Fulton senator again do not believe he is available as a candidate, and will argue that Selling should be made the standard bearer. Selling has carried the progressive label and has made a fight for the Oregon system in years when Fulton and his friends were standing on the other side.

Need Progressive Fire.

Arguing that this is a progressive year, with the La Follette "peril" giving them bad dreams, many of those allied with the old-line faction declare that concession must be made to progressive sentiment, and they doubt their ability to show Fulton sufficiently progressive. To best Bourne, they contend, they must lay in a quantity of progressive fire.

Meanwhile, much interest will be taken in the reception that Fulton's name receives in other parts of the state. Some of his friends believe he will not only consider the senatorship, but will be induced to enter the race. This contingency, it is admitted, is dependent upon other turns the situation may take and upon what decision is finally reached by Ben Selling.
