At the Grand.

A crowded house last night saw the Austin Musical Comedy company in the first performance of "A Night in Pekin" and all had a good, hearty laugh. The bill is one combination of laughs from curtain to curtain. Too much cannot be said about the cast as each and every one played the different characters perfectly.

Dick Austin and Leslie Bates, the comedians, are really the funniest ever seen in Pendleton. Austin, the Irishman and very short, and Bates the Irishman and six feet four inches tall, keep the audience in a continual round of laughter. The contrast between them as soon as they appear on the stage creates a laugh and they certainly know how to keep the audience smiling. Bob Miller as the Foxy Guy plays his part well and knows how to fleece the two unsuspecting foreigners out of their money, being ably assisted by Bessie Bates and Lulu Austin in the fleeing ventures. Mr. Bert Lonk in the comedy roll of Beau Brummell plays the part well. The motion pictures are the best. A good comedy reel and a special feature reel. A western drama being shown. Complete change of both comedy and pictures every Monday and Thursday.

TO MARRY MAN WHO SHOT HER.

Kenosha Girl, Wounded Twice by Sweetheart, to Wed Him.

Chicago.—Annie Triebichowski of Kenosha, Wis., who was shot twice by her sweetheart, John Holicka, who then shot himself, is ready to marry the man just as soon as he can obtain bonds and $1000 and she is able to leave the hospital.

Holicka, who is foreman of the sole leather department of the N. R. Allen Sons tannery, is in jail in Kenosha on the charge of attempted murder. Yesterday the girl sent him a message in which she said: "Tell him that I forgive him and I know that God forgives him."

The man has kept the girl supplied with flowers and delicacies at the hospital and she has asked for him daily.

THIS DOG GOES ON SPREES.

Drunk Every Month and Returns Home Looking Like Other Pendletons.

Muncie, Ind.—"Trixie's gone again. I suppose, on her regular monthly spree, but I dunno," said a man whose name could not be learned, appearing in Central police station.

"It's an old complaint," said the night desk sergeant, Thomas Prutzman. "This dog disappears periodically and goes on a protracted 'drunk.' No nature fake, I tell you."

"Trixie has a fondness for beer and so many people around town know it that when the dog appears she is given all she will drink every place she goes. The result is that the dog soon gets on a terrific 'jag' and falls to return home. Generally Trixie herself recovers from the spree and goes home with her tail between her legs and with the expression on her face of every other penitent after a night of revelry."

The "Holy Ghost and Us" crazy manslaughterer said the Lord would take care of him. True enough, perhaps; he was speedily convicted.
