Vancover Mayor Expected to Appoint Miss Mildred Henthorne.

Vancover, Wash.—The name of Miss Mildred Henthorne, the law office stenographer, has been spoken of as a possible appointee of the office of police judge by Dr. Charles S. Irwin, who assumed the office of mayor of Vancover January 2.

Miss Henthorne, it will be recalled, was the first woman judge in the state of Washington, stalling a case amounting to about $100, a few months ago.

When asked if she would consider the appointment of police judge, she said that she "would take the matter under advisement."

Miss Henthorne has worked for several years as a court stenographer and was four years in the office of James P. Stapleton, when he was county attorney, so is quite familiar with the statutes and law.

NE WRIND OF CLOVER FOUND BY OREGON MAN

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 1.—A new kind of clover, said by those who have experimented with it to produce many tons of feed to the acre has been discovered. The plant is a native of Tillamook county, Ore., and is called a perennial clover. It is a species of the alsike with the alsike food values. It perpetuates itself from node buds and bulbs and has no bloom, flower, seed or sex.

It grows in winter as well as in summer and frost does not interfere with or stop its growth. A sample of the clover was sent to the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., and J. M. Westgate, agronomist, writes that it is one of the most interesting specimens that has come to the attention of the department.

GETS RABBIT; LOSES LIFE.

Man Shoots Self, Catches Bunny, Walks Home and Drops Dead.

Lawrenceburg, Ind.—Shooting through a hollow log with a trap gun, John W. Cook got a rabbit but lost his own life. Cook's dog started a rabbit in the underbrush and it ran into a hollow log. Cook set his rifle's muzzle in one end of the log, attached a string to the trigger, stooped over the other end of the log and pulled the string. He received the bullet in his breast, but as the rabbit ran from its refuge he caught it with his hands and made his way two miles to his home, in his kitchen Cook fell dead.

GIRDER SWEEPS NINE INTO RIVER; TWO DROWN

Others Have Broken Bones—Men Hurried Jobs to Get Home for Christmas.

Camden, N. J.—Nine men set to work to put in place a new 70-foot span in the bridge that carried the Medford branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad across the Cooper Creek, ten miles below this city. The men worked fast, in an effort to finish the job.

The last of the girders were swung over the abutment and were being lowered with jack screws when one of them slipped. The girder fell and carried all the men into the creek.

C. W. Suters, forty-three years old, and William Carey, twenty-eight, both of Camden, were drowned. Joseph Tegan of Ateo was got to shore, his right thigh and right shoulder broken. George Moore of Glassboro had his right leg broken. The left leg and right arm of John McQuigg of Camden were broken. John Carpenter of Woodbury had his left leg broken. William Demble of Camden had his right leg and right shoulder broken. Ellis Hand of Camden had his right leg and right arm broken. John Farrell of Glassboro was injured internally.

An hour more would have seen the work on the new span completed.

MRS. HARMON SHARES IN GRANTING A PARDON

Columbus.—After Mrs. Harmon had exacted from Rufus Burcham, a life prisoner in the state prison, a promise to abstain from intoxicating liquors and to lead an upright life, Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio granted him a pardon.

Burcham was convicted of complicity in the murder of a man in Portsmouth, O., for which crime Mose Johnson, a negro, was electrocuted in 1904. Before his death Johnson exonerated Burcham of the crime in a statement to Warden Hershey of the prison. Before the warden could present the facts to the governor he dropped dead.

The case was recently brought to the attention of Governor Harmon by prison attaches, who knew of the negro's confession. Before granting the pardon Mr. and Mrs. Harmon were closeted with the prisoner for more than thirty minutes, while Mrs. Harmon admonished him as to his future mode of living.
