

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum. Excellent program for Friday and Saturday.

1. "Sunshine Through the Dark." Biograph. The poor little housemaid desponds of ever experiencing a kindness. Even the spoiled child of the household orders her about and treats her with disdain. The child wears a bright ribbon sash, which is beautiful to the slaves, so much so that she is tempted to steal it.

2. "Home." Edison. The picture is full of the sentiment of home, the story will reach thousands of hearts. It tells how a personal, inserted to reach an absent son had a far-reaching influence.

3. "Courage of Sorts." Vitagraph. There are many sorts, this is the right sort. A doctor falsely accused stops in his flight and saves a little child rather than himself.

4. "Some Mother-in-law." Lubin. She gave son-in-law several red-hot surprises. Mother turned out to be a peachetino and the joke was on the son-in-law.

The Pastime. The home of good pictures. A classy program for Friday's change.

"A Woman Scorned." Biograph. Her revengeful spirit aroused through jealousy. The little sweetheart of a sneak thief finds herself neglected for another, vows to get even, and she gets a chance she little hoped for. "The Man in the Taxi." Lubin. There was no "bless you, my children" stunt when John Mason and pretty Betty Brown wanted to get married. Elopement, robbery, arrest and some other forms of exciting adventure make the path of their love extra rough. But it all came out right in the end.

"A Tennessee Love Story." Selig. A strong story possessing fine qualities of humor, sympathy and understanding of character.

"Incendiary Indians." American Pathé. A western that thrills and throbs with swift mad rush of exciting events.

"Glimpses of San Francisco." A beautiful series of views.

Cosy.

Friday and Saturday, two out of the ordinary dramas and three joy dispersing, gloom dispelling comedies: "The Breach of Faith." Rex. A sensational stiletto duel. Knowing that he stood no show of winning the girl, the brother resorted to treachery and pays dearly for his deception.

"The Horse Thief's Bigamy." American. Closely pursued by outlaws, the man and girl dashed across the railroad track just ahead of a long freight that stopped their pursuers, and gave them a sufficient start to escape.

"A Temporary Millionaire." Solax. Suppose you were dead broke and some kind soul gave you a million. That's what happened to Weary, the hobo. Come in and see the finish.

"A Quiet Evening at Home." Reliance. The comedian O'Sullivan plays the lead in Pat O'Brien's far from quiet evening.

"Winning Papa's Consent." Reliance. Dad said no, but the young folks got him in such a predicament that he was glad to say yea.

At the Grand. Tonight, complete change of program. The Austin company presents one laughing farce comedy, "A Trip to Coney Island." This is positively the best bill put on by the Austin company. We can truly say this as each bill Mr. Austin produces is better than the one before it. When you come and take "A Trip to Coney Island" bring your doctor along so you won't laugh yourself to death. This is the same bill that Billy Watson and his beef trust bathing girls made a big eastern hit with and can be relied on to please all. Six classy song numbers will be rendered. Two feature reels of motion pictures tonight. Amateur night Friday night.

AT THE OREGON THEATRE

"Polly of the Circus." Frederic Thompson's mammoth production, with Miss Ida St. Leon in the leading role, will be seen at the Oregon theater on Sunday, January 14th. One of the great features of the play is the realistic third act in which the circus scenes are depicted, including a miniature circus caravan disappearing in the distance. The second scene of this act shows a circus in full swing, with the trained horses, ponies, dogs, cows, acrobats, ringmasters, bareback riders and aerial acts of all descriptions, with all the necessities of the white tops, and is in full keeping with the standard set by Frederic Thompson, producer of the play and the creator of the huge Hippodrome and the greatest amusement park in the world—Luna Park, Coney Island, New York City. Watch for the parade.

gan to pay ardent attention to her, but the admiration was not mutual and finally she appealed to her brother to check Powell's love making.

Powell visited the village almost every evening and, armed with candy or flowers, insisted upon entertaining Mrs. Vandemark in her parlor. The brother's intimation to Powell to cease his visits seemingly had no effect upon the swain, and finally Mrs. Vandemark appealed to the courts. The papers of the injunction suit were served on the persistent lover. Sunday night he again drove to the house of the pretty widow and demanded to see her.

D. R. Riser, her brother, and David Sherry, his friend, encountered Powell and a fight is alleged to have ensued. Riser then appeared before a justice of the peace and swore to a warrant for the arrest of Powell, charging him with a breach of the peace. Powell has pleaded not guilty and has been held to court of common pleas.
