IS GIRL LEGALLY DEAD?
But Identification by University President May Make Her Heiress, Minneapolis, Minn.—Whether Miss Mabel E. Allen of Brooklyn, N. E. is entitled to a share of the estate of one Jonathan Merry, a merchant of Boston, who died in 1828, or whether she is "legally dead" is a problem which, it is said, will be decided by the depositions of Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, and Mrs. Northrop.

Miss Allen's attorney asserts that Dr. and Mrs. Northrop were acquainted with her when a child and that their depositions will go far toward establishing her identity.

"I know nothing of the Merry fortune or of Miss Allen's rights," Dr. Northrop said, "but I can swear that a Miss Mabel Allen once lived opposite my house in New Haven."

3. "The Desert Claim." Essanay. A drama of the golden days in California.

4. "Why He Gave Up." Biograph. A fine farce comedy. Hubby is a gay bird. He pretends to be in a great fury because wife ordered a new hat. He went down to the shore to have a good time with the boys and girls. He didn't know his wife was going to be there.

5. "Abe Gets Even With Father." Biograph. Abe's father refused him a nickel, so he blackened his eye with a burnt cork and told his father that Murphy, the janitor, had given it to him. Cohen goes out to do Murphy, but is done instead, so Abe instead of getting a nickel gets a dollar to make it appear to his mother that father nearly annihilated the janitor.

The Pastime.

"The Failure." Biograph. The hero of this story gives way under the pressure of bad fortune instead of fighting against it. His sweetheart, disappointed in him, turns him aside. Down the hill he goes until he is finally a singer in a low dance hall. Two failures seldom make a success, especially where the two are man and woman but they most convincingly did in this picture.

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy was Found.

Miss Minerva Reminger, Upper Bern, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration, and was utterly wretched. I lived on bread and beef tea because my stomach would not retain anything else. I took many remedies, but obtained no relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, when I began to gain at once. Am now cured." "Pure, rich blood makes good, strong nerves, and this is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and enriches the blood, cures so many nervous diseases.
