

ANOTHER CLASS D BALL LEAGUE PLAN

PENDLETON INCLUDED IN PROPOSED ORGANIZATION

Boise Fans Would Leave Union League to Mix With Baker, La Grande, Walla Walla, Weiser and This City.

Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 25.—What is in baseball circles thought the best Class D plan, comes from Boise, Idaho, where a plan is in process of formation to organize a league with Boise and Walla Walla at the extreme ends and Weiser, Baker, La Grande and Pendleton in between. Boise is a live town and has given this matter much thought, ending with the decision to endeavor to form such a league.

President Lucas of the Union league to which Boise belonged and President Cody of the Boise club have had a misunderstanding with the result that Lucas has taken the franchise away from Cody and given it to a stranger. This action of Lucas has so incensed the business men of the Idaho capital that they have finally refused to lend it their support and are determined to organize a league including the towns already mentioned.

At a meeting of the Boise Commercial club a few days ago, a committee composed of the best business men in the city was appointed to take up the matter of perfecting a Class D league this way. Mr. Cody was instructed to visit the towns to interest the people in the matter. He is expected to start soon on a trip through each of the towns.

Boise is a rattling good baseball town and each of the other towns are good team supporters with proper organization, and the real baseball fans of this city believe that this is Walla Walla's best opportunity for the next few years and that such a league would be a most popular as well as a successful organization, not only by furnishing good baseball, but also because it would be given almost as good publicity as the Northwestern league.

Baseball men who understand are of the opinion that such a league with a salary limit of $1000 per month would give Walla Walla the best baseball it has yet seen, and would be so near Northwest league class that it would answer to purpose for several years. They point out that it is not the actual letter class that counts in baseball, but the manner of organization and conduction of the separate clubs. With the Commercial clubs of each town back of a good team in such a league, they believe that all demands of local people would be satisfied.

Letters have been received here regularly from La Grande, boosting the league and stating that La Grande and Baker are both ready and eager to organize. Baker papers are alive with baseball and Pendleton is falling in line.

ENGLAND AND U. S. PLAN CELEBRATION

Peace Exposition to be Held at Ghent on Centenary of Famous Treaty.

Washington.—An international exposition, with great buildings, allegorical statues, military reviews and historic pageants, more magnificent than the world has ever witnessed, is planned in celebration of the Treaty of Ghent, signed on December 14, 1813, which marked the beginning of a century of peace between Great Britain and the United States.

For more than six months a committee of eminent Americans, with Andrew Carnegie as chairman, and including former President Roosevelt, former Vice President Stevenson, Levi P. Morton and Charles W. Fairbanks, former Ambassador Joseph H. Choate, Alton B. Parker, J. Horace McFarland and Oscar Straus and Senators Root and Burton and many others among its members, has been secretly at work upon the gigantic celebration.

It was the purpose of the committee not to make formal announcement of its plans until the co-operation of Great Britain was absolutely assured.

On December 14, William B. Howland, as representative of the American committee, laid the plans before high officials of the British government in London and was greeted with great enthusiasm. A committee similar to that in America was then organized with Premier Asquith, Sir George Reid, Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Alfred Lyttleton, Austen Chamberlain, Sir Edward Hall Jones, Lord High Commissioner of New Zealand; Lord Strathcona, Lord High Commissioner of Canada, as members and Earl Gray as chairman.

Only a few days ago a bill providing for an appropriation of $7,500,000 to defray half the expenses of the gaudy celebration, and for a peace centenary celebration commission of seven members, to put the proposed plan into execution, was introduced into congress by Senator Theodore E. Burton.

A similar bill, within a few days, will be introduced in parliament by Earl Grey or Lord Shaw, making in all $15,000,000 for the celebration.

It is proposed to purchase, or otherwise obtain, a great tract of land in, or near, the City of Ghent, Switzerland, where the treaty was signed, and under the supervision of joint commission of the two governments, erect buildings for exhibits typifying peace and industry.

Every colonial possession of Great Britain and every insular possession of the United States illustrating the astounding growth and power of both nations since the conclusion of peace, is to be represented in the exhibition.

HEIRESS IS SUED BY WIFE OF MALE FRIEND

Late Turfman's Granddaughter Made Defendant in "Alienation of Affection" Action.

Louisville, Ky.—Her twenty-first birthday anniversary was made memorable for Miss Nettie Bryant Ott, heiress and granddaughter of the late Sam Bryant, noted as a racehorse owner, by a suit filed against her here by Mrs. Josephine Surman-Hubbard, who asks for $50,000 for alienation of her husband's affections. The man in the case is Joseph Mackling Hubbard, a horseman. Mrs. Hubbard alleges that her husband and Miss Ott have been together frequently and that Miss Ott has destroyed the peace and happiness of the Hubbard household. But the defendant declares that it is only their mutual love for horses that forms the basis of their friendship and they have been seen together only at horse shows.
