BAD CHECK ARTIST CATCHES HOTEL CLERK

Walla Walla, Wash.—James R. Cummings, night clerk in the Central lodging house, endorsed a check for Walter O. Inman, a pleasant stranger, who stopped at the lodging house, and now the officers are hunting for Inman. The guest ran short of money and Cummings went with him to a bank. A $150 check on a Boise bank was produced and Cummings stood sponsor for Inman. The bank advanced $50, accepting the rest as a deposit. Inman disappeared and the Boise bank reports the check worthless.

The Right of Way.

Mr. Sanford Dodge will appear at the Oregon theater Friday, February 2, in a splendid new scenic production of "The Right of Way." This wonderful play was dramatized from Sir Gilbert Parker's powerful novel by Eugene Presbrey, one of the foremost of American playwrights. "The Right of Way" was an instantaneous success from its initial production in New York city to the present time and it appears to become more popular with the advance of time owing to the fact that more people are becoming acquainted with the story through the reading of the book. It bids fair, eventually, to rival "Ben Hur" and other works of a like nature.

If you have not read the story, now is your time to do so. If you have, you will do well to read it again before seeing the play, but whether you have read it or not you will be intensely interested in the drama itself, as it will be presented by Mr. Sanford Dodge and his excellent company.

FATHER TAKEN AS THIEF STRIVING TO AID FAMILY

Story of Jean Valjean Has Parallel in Chicago When Man Is Arrested for Picking Up Coal on Railroad Tracks.

Chicago, Ill.—Victor Hugo's story of Jean Valjean, the man who suffered penalties for stealing a loaf of bread for his starving family, had a parallel in Chicago when William Boose, 41 years old, was arrested for stealing coal on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks to keep his family from freezing to death.

Since he lost his job as a teamster two months ago Boose has experienced all the agonies of a poverty-stricken father with a wife and six children dependent upon him for their daily bread.

In the last few days he has walked many miles for a few jobs shoveling snow. He would have gone to the ice fields but there would have been no way of providing for his wife and children in his absence. He hunted the employment bureaus. He went from house to house and from shop to shop, but no one would hire him. He was only one of many thousand men who were doing the same thing.

The family had used all its food and coal. The father had no money and thought he might pick up a few pieces of coal which dropped from the tenders of passing locomotives. He was doing this when arrested.

"You must not lock me up. I've got to do something. Will somebody take a message to my wife at 2667 Fulton street," he pleaded to the policeman at the West Chicago avenue station. The desk sergeant promised that she would be notified.

Boose was then led to a cell and as he descended the dark stairs the desk sergeant wrote the word "larceny" in the book opposite his name.

NEW YORK SEES MENACE TO TRADE SUPREMACY

Figures for 1911 Indicate That Rest of Country Is Gradually Cutting Down the City's Share of Foreign Commerce.

New York.—That practically half of the foreign commerce of the United States is handled through the port of New York is the astonishing condition of affairs revealed by the compilation of figures just made public by the local chamber of commerce for the last fiscal year. Out of a total foreign commerce for the twelve months in question amounting to $3,783,350,000, New York accounted for $1,774,877 or more than 46 per cent. This is an increase of $17,871,000 over the preceding year, a comparatively small amount when put against the increase of $205,000,000 shown in 1910 over 1909. Imports and exports were very evenly divided according to the report, the former amounting to $917,121,000 and the latter to $807,000,000. Exports showed a decrease of more than $35,500,000 while imports showed a notable increase of more than $52,000,000.

Of the country's total imports for the year 1911, New York's share amounted to nearly 56 per cent, a decrease of 2 per cent from 1910. Of the exports New York's share for 1911 was 38 per cent or a decrease of about two per cent from 1910. Of the great staples of trade imported this city's poorest showing was made in cotton, only 10 per cent of the total coming through this port. On the other hand more than 98 per cent of all rubber imported came into this country here. In connection with these figures it is interesting to note that the duties collected here during the year amounted to about $200,000,000 or to give the exact figure of Mr. Loebe's estimate, $196,871,850. This is a decrease of over $16,000,000 as compared with 1910. Altogether the figures indicate that the rest of the country is slowly but steadily capturing New York's foreign trade.

SINGING TO PUT OUT FIRES; TUNING FORKS BEAT HOSE

Soloist Shows How Vibrations of Human Voices Can Quench Flames and Even Bind Man to Tree.

Cambridge, Mass.—Prima donnas as fire lassies and members of the "merry, merry" with many a "hoop la" will in the future be featured at fires if the theory put forth by Charles Kellogg, "the man who sings like a bird," becomes an institution. Kellogg claims that vibration is the coming fire extinguisher and demonstrated to an audience of firemen the virtue of his claims.

Mr. Kellogg made a four foot flame dance, do his bidding and go out, dependent only on the note he sounded. He explained it by stating that if you got the pitch above it that would have the desired effect. He demonstrated also that the vibration can go through thick walls, while the source of it may be hundreds of feet away, but the flame goes out at the pitch required. He was confident that what he could do so easily on a small scale could be adopted on a larger scale, and that ultimately great fires would be extinguished by the fourth came and went, but no

THE GREATEST SUCCESSFUL CURE OF ANY CHRONIC DISEASE WITHOUT THE KNIFE.

See our patients testimony. Dec. 1st, 1911. I am glad to tell the public who the Chinese Doctor did for me. I was nearly dead suffering from abscess in the stomach and three American doctors told me there was no hope for me except an operation which I felt would kill me. So we called Dr. Leo Ching Wo and tried his medicine and in two weeks I was out of danger. Took his wonderful medicine four weeks more and am nearly well. I can cheerfully recommend his remedy to any one who is in need of a doctor, for he certainly saved my life. Mrs. Ida Herring, 215 West Alder St., Walla Walla, Washington. We receive testimonials from our patients daily who have been cured. If you want to be cured, come and see us or if unable to come, write and enclose a two cent stamp for symptom blank. Write without delay. Address:—LEO CHING WO, CHINESE MEDICINE CO., 14 E. Main St., Walla Walla, Washington.

the proper application of various tuning forks instead of hose nozzles. The firemen naturally will be singing instructors and choristers and so the day of the valiant fire fighter is no more.

Furthermore, Mr. Kellogg showed how a man could be tied to a tree without any bonds being used except a few notes. Mr. Kellogg claims that vibration is the principle that has never been properly studied. He even goes so far as to state that vibration will ultimately take the place of electricity as a motive force.

NO LEAP YEAR WIFE FOR "JIMMIE" PAGE, BACHELOR

Loses His Nerve and Fails to Make Good Boast He Would Accept First Girl Who Proposed.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Jimmie" Page has quit. He decided not to accept the leap-year proposal of Miss Virginia Franklin and so notified her at her home, No. 504 West Thirtieth street.

"Jimmie's" friends in the Jonathan and California Clubs are somewhat disgusted with him and are seriously shocked, for "Jimmie" had bragged during the week before the leap year was inaugurated that he would accept the first girl who had the nerve to propose to him. "Jimmie" is young, handsome, wealthy—altogether a good catch—and no one suspected that the year would pass without his marriage. "Jimmie's" lonesome bachelorhood has been the subject of some comment in his set, for he has frequently said—his own words—"single blessedness is hell."

Miss Franklin, who is in the same set, resolved New Year's day to save "Pimkie" from any further grief at his solitary state. The second day of January she called on him at his office and formally proposed to him.

"Gimme time, gimme time," gasped "Jimmie." Then, recovering himself somewhat, he added: "This is so sudden!"

At last he told Miss Franklin that he would have to take a few days to consider her proposal. He set a date—Jan. 4—and said he would call her up.

word from "Jimmie." Today, however, he weakened. He was found deep in melancholy, at the California Club and was asked about his resolution.

"I can't; I can't," he whispered. "I told her I couldn't do it. Really now, don't you see—I don't know how to get married anyway. I don't know whether I want to or not. I'm not ready. Honestly, I lasen't!"

Miss Franklin denied herself to all callers, and members of her family refused to discuss the romance.

EXCURSIONISTS HOME AFTER PLEASANT TRIP

La Grande, Or.—La Grande business men, 25 in number, have returned from their junket to southern Oregon. Profitable in a business way, the trip was a adventure that will be made an important feature of La Grande's commercial history. The business ways and habits of the western section of the state were noted by the excursionists and will be transmitted into the business methods of eastern Oregon—such, at least, of the western ideas as appealed to the visitors.

First and foremost, the men got acquainted with the state, a condition of mind which few of the 25 men could boast of before. They profited greatly in business and social ways, notwithstanding that the journey was a strenuous one.

Portland, Salem, Corvallis, Eugene, Roseburg, Medford, Astland and every other town that received the junketers, is being duly praised by the junketers, is being duly praised by the returned tourists. They were amazed at the amount of attention shown and are devising means to return the courtesies paid them.

Attention Requested. Damon Lodge No. 4, K. of P., will give a reception in honor of P. G. C. W. L. Bradshaw this evening. Also work in Rank of Knights' Refreshments. All Knights' please attend.
