

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

REACTION HELPS WOODROW WILSON

SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN PREDICTS NOMINATION

John E. Lathrop, Washington Correspondent of Newark News and Formerly With East Oregonian, Tells of Washington View of Watterson Affair.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—It is now felt in progressive circles about the capital that the Watterson-Harvey affair has reacted in favor of Governor Wilson and will aid his candidacy for the democratic nomination for president.

In an interview given recently by Senator George E. Chamberlain he said:

"The Watterson affair has resulted in benefit to Wilson. I believe that from this time on he will be seen to gain more rapidly than he has and that he is the probable nominee."

Writing from Washington to the Newark Evening News, John E. Lathrop, Washington correspondent for that paper and formerly editor of the East Oregonian, said:

It is now accepted as true that Governor Wilson was asked by Colonel Watterson to take financial assistance from Thomas Fortune Ryan, that he refused and that Colonel Watterson was annoyed because his efforts to commit Governor Wilson to the political chaperonage of Ryan had gone awry.

The explanation of the much-bruited affair has caused that reaction which had been expected from the beginning. This reaction is sweeping. It appears to have wiped out the slight injury that an insufficient statement of the facts at first had produced—for it was not denied that, at first, the opponents of Governor Wilson produced a temporary situation that was not advantageous to the New Jersey candidate.

Today, instead of indulging in adverse criticism of Wilson, for the part he played, he is commended; and in addition the disposition to condemn Watterson and Harvey is noticeable. In fact, indignation is expressed on every side at what appears to have been an attempt to lead Governor Wilson into political affiliations which would have destroyed all his hopes of enjoying further confidence of the people of the country.

Impugning Wilson's Loyalty.

The important attribution to the affair resulted from the human consideration, rather than the exact estimates that were made of the political importance either of Watterson or Harvey. It had been sought to create the impression that Wilson was not loyal to his friends; and the deep-stomach motive, doubtless, was to show in the minds of political workers all over the country the suspicion that Wilson's election as president would not be to their interest.

For a few days, this effect was produced. But, upon the general publication of the facts relating to the attempt to lead him into the ultra-conservative political camp, an entirely different character of comment was noticed here in the many places where politics is talked even before the state of the weather.

The Washington Herald prints an excerpt from a Southern paper, which says that, "judging from the Watterson-Harvey matter, if Wilson were to be president, he would not be a good-natured man surrounded by men who know exactly what they want"—paraphrasing the now famous epigram of the late Senator Dooliver, of Iowa, when he was describing President Taft.

It is realized now that that excerpt exactly expresses the result that has come from an undoubted "frame-up" the object of which was to get Wilson in a position so that he would have to join the reactionaries.

It adds, to, although it does not originate, the conviction that the reactionary influence in American political life have determined that, if it be within the limits of human power they will defeat Wilson for the nomination of president.

Mighty Forces Enlisted.

Political Washington now knows that this plan has been laid; that in its execution mighty forces are enlisted, and that men high in social and financial circles are committed to it. The facts connected with the Harvey-Watterson affair, and others brought out by the agitation caused by it, clearly point out to experienced observers the character of the conflict just now being waged for the control of the national convention of both the great political parties.

This conflict is Titanic in its proportions. It has enlisted on the one side those persons and interests who do not want to witness an "open door" administration, but wish to have the country's politics fall again to the level of the days when campaign committees vied with each other in getting contributions from financial magnates.

No honest chronicler of Washington events can escape the duty of recording that the effect that has been produced by the Watterson matter has been distinctly beneficial to Governor Wilson. It has served to unmask some of the motives that prompt plans that have been laid by the reactionary political forces. The messages pour into Washington from the ends of the continent that the affair is now understood, and that, instead of injuring Wilson, it has immensely helped him.

FRANCE TO LEAD WORLD IN ITS ARMY OF THE AIR

War Minister Millerand Will Ask $4,200,000 for Great Scheme of Military Aviation.

Paris.—Simultaneously with a movement by Minister of War Millerand and Minister of Marine Delcasse for the development of aviation for the land and sea forces of France a senatorial group, consisting of 185 members, under the presidency of Baron Destourmelles de Constant, is backing up the efforts of the two great ministers. M. Millerand holds long and frequent consultations with his chiefs of staff, and is asking an appropriation of $4,200,000 for military aviation. The minister said:

"I consult the whole world and give serious thoughts to what it is doing. The system I followed when I was Minister of Public Works, and I find it an advantage and quick way of arriving at my conclusions.

"All the services of a great administration, like that of the army, should be linked together. The Director of Aeronautics should not be the only person consulted on military aviation; the artillery and infantry should join their ideas on how to utilize the fourth arm of the service—which is aviation. Even the most enlightened specialists might make a mistake which another could see. Hence General Dubail and his assistants on the general staff and General Bokues, the inspector of military aeronautics, and the heads of the War Department assemble here for consultation. I have decided to do everything possible to make the fourth arm the most efficient. Parliament is full of good will toward aviation, and I shall ask an appropriation this year of $4,200,000. Aviation is now an integral and even essential part of the national defense."

PLEADS FOR CAPTAIN HAINS

Bill in Congress to Restore Rank to Slaver of William E. Annis.

Washington.—Senator Rayner of Maryland introduced a bill authorizing the reappointment of Peter C. Hains, Jr., to the army and restoring the old rank of captain of artillery. Hains resigned from the army when he was a prisoner in Sing Sing for the murder of William E. Annis of New York.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regular. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder. At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. E. A.

Griffin, Sandy, Utah, and Mrs. Clara McIntosh, Masonville, Colo., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work. Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle (four bottles for $3.50) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply sending Dr. W. D. W. B. Co., 405 Third St., Monticello, N. D., your name and address on a postal card and will do.

VALENTINE'S ORDER REVOKED BY TAFT

PRESIDENT RESENTS SLAP AT CATHOLIC TEACHERS

Nuns Will be Allowed to Wear Garb and Insignia of Their Order While Teaching School on Indian Reservations.

Washington, Feb. 6.—President Taft has suspended Commissioner of Indian Affairs Valentine's recent order which prohibited the wearing of distinctive religious insignia and religious garb at school exercises in the Indian schools.

In a letter to Secretary Fisher the President ordered Mr. Valentine's action held up until a hearing could be given to all interested parties, "and a conclusion reached in respect to the matter after full consideration."

The president said the question was "one of great importance and delicacy," as to which the commissioner had not consulted either with Secretary Fisher or himself.

"I fully believe in the principle of the separation of church and state, on which our government is based, but the questions presented by this order are of great importance and delicacy.

"They arise out of the fact that the government has, for a considerable period, taken over for the use of the Indians certain schools heretofore belonging to and conducted by distinctive religious societies or churches. As a part of the arrangements then made, the school employees, who were in certain cases members of religious orders, wearing the distinctive garb of these orders, were continued as teachers by the government, and by ruling of the Civil Service Commission or by executive action, they have been included in the classified service under the protection of the civil service.

"The commissioner's order also necessarily amounts to a discharge from the Federal service of those who have thus entered it. This should not be done without a careful consideration of all phases of the matter or without giving the persons directly affected an opportunity to be heard."

Catholic interests made vigorous complaint against Commissioner Valentine's order, which said that those who could not conscientiously comply would be given reasonable time to make arrangements elsewhere than in the Indian schools.

MRS. F. VANDERBILT SUCCEEDS A WIDOW

Cares for Woman Whose Child Was Born As Her Husband Was Killed.

Newport, R. I.—Mrs. French Vanderbilt has a new protegee, or rather two proteges, for she has taken under her personal care Mrs. Kingman, widow of Harold Kingman, who was a brakeman on a freight car, and her infant child.

Less than a month ago Kingman kissed his wife goodbye one morning and an hour later was ground to death between his car and a wall near Fall River.

Mrs. Kingman gave birth to a son the same hour her husband died. The couple had been married a trifle over a year and the young mother, barely eighteen years old, was left penniless.

Mrs. Vanderbilt heard two train hands talking of the case recently while coming from New York. Inquiring of them the address of the widow, she drove directly there from the train and the little home has received many visits from her since. The baby boy and his mother are the recipients of the best of care.

Mrs. Loretta Blakely of Minneapolis Stricken With Strange Malady While on Her Way to Parent's Bedside.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Grief at the receipt of news of the death of her mother in Pittsburg, Pa., caused Mrs. Loretta Blakely of this city to become both blind and dumb.

She is in a local hospital, where physicians declare she eventually may recover both sight and speech.

Mrs. Blakely had received word that her mother was seriously ill, and was at the station on her way to Pittsburg when she received word that her mother was dead. She collapsed and when revived could neither speak nor see.

CADETS BREAK BOUNDS.

Midshipmen Take "French Leave" and Are Captured.

Annapolis, Md.—Supposedly discouraged by their showing in the semi-annual examinations just ended, and independent of all restraint, a number of midshipmen at the naval academy indulged in a wild "Frenching" party over the walls and into Annapolis.

There was a general "formation" after which cadet officers and Lieutenants Buchanan and Lowman, aided by the force of watchmen who police the yard, were sent out to picket the big government enclosure.

Seven youths were apprehended as they tried to creek back to their dormitories and were marched to the disciplinary department under arrest.

DON'T WED CLUBMEN IS JUDGE'S ADVICE

Reno Court Declares Women Driven to Divorce by Club Members.

Reno, Nev.—Clubmen of New York were criticised by District Judge Moran at the conclusion of a divorce trial in which a New York woman, wife of a clubman, had related a story of her husband's abuse and neglect as the result of the influence of the club life in the metropolis. He declared: "It is the greatest mistake in the world for you women to marry any New York clubman; there are no good. Such marriages seem to lead invariably to a Nevada divorce court."

"Buck" English, Stage Robber, is Free After Seventeen Years in San Quentin.

San Francisco.—"Buck" English, convicted of highway robbery and given a life sentence, was paroled yesterday from San Quentin after serving seventeen years, during which time he acted as prison lamp lighter.

English is 62 years of age and his duties in the prison have become to him so much a part of his life that yesterday, when passing through the gate to liberty, he turned back regretfully and said: "I'm afraid that I'll have to come back and give that other fellow another lesson in looking after the lamps."

English first got into trouble in Oregon more than twenty years ago and served a term in the penitentiary there. After his release he and a

At the time of his arrest he was shot twice by members of the posse and still carries one of the bullets in his side.

LILLIAN GRAHAM SUE FOR PHOTOS; HUNGRY

Ethel Conrad, Other Show Girl Acquitted of Shooting W. E. D. Stokes Accompanies Defendant Into Court—Have Only 40 Cents.

New York.—The show girls who shot W. E. D. Stokes were in court again. The Atto Sarony company got a judgment against Lillian Graham for $85.16 for photographs taken several years ago, and Miss Graham, falling to pay, was examined in supplementary proceedings in the city court. Ethel Conrad appeared with her and occasionally prompted her answers.

Neither Miss Graham nor Miss Conrad had breakfast before coming to court which occasioned frequent outbursts, such as "Oh, gee! We're so hungry!" At the end of the proceedings, which lasted two hours, Miss Graham drew three 5 cent coins from her glove and Miss Conrad produced a 25 cent piece.

"That represents all our earthly possessions," wailed Miss Graham. The young women were stylishly dressed and covered with expensive furs. They said they had been working recently at various theaters in this city, Brooklyn and Pittsburg, but really did not know what their salaries were.

Leaving court, Miss Graham said she had never ordered the pictures for which she was sued. She declared Sarony invited her to pose and later sent her a bill.

She caught Miss Conrad by the arm.

"Come, Ethel," she said, "we've 40 cents. Let's get some breakfast. Gee! I'm hungry!"
