O. A. C. GLEE CLUB WINS PRAISE FROM PORTLANDERS

If Portland enthusiasm is any criterion of the excellence of the concert given by the Oregon Agricultural College Glee and Mandolin Club at the Corvallis opera house last Saturday, then the 40 members of the club now on tour should have little doubt of a welcome reception at the Heilig theater tonight, says the Portland Oregonian.

Many of the items on the program are by no means easy even for older singers, and it is therefore all the more gratifying to find that not only at Corvallis, but also at Albany, the first town visited on tour, all the songs were given with splendid volume and modulation of tone, while the harmony of the Mandolin club brought forth rounds of applause; in fact every member was encored at least once.

Stars there are in plenty, but possibly the greatest hit so far has been made by Henry Russell, "Lauder's Only Rival." With real talent, a fine make-up and almost entire absence of "amateurism," in the general meaning of the word, he has given several songs, yells and jokes which should prove a fitting ending to an enjoyable evening's entertainment. The O. A. C. Glee Club is to appear in Pendleton at the Oregon theater on February 22.
