FAME ENOUGH, CASH ENOUGH, FOR KUBELIK

$1,000,000 Earned, Violinist Says He Will Work Less Hard in the Future.

New York.—Jan Kubelik, who arrived in town from the west, sat in his apartment at the Hotel Rector with his pretty wife and summed up what his genius and his violin had brought him.

"It is something over a million dollars that I have gained," he declared. "I have gotten this and my wife and my five beautiful daughters. Now, as far as the strenuous American life is concerned, I am done with it. "Never again will I attempt a hundred concerts a season, as I am doing this year and as I have done for ten years past. I owe something to myself, something to my family. The amassing of a fortune, the getting of fame, is not all.

"An artist leads a dual existence. He has his art and his home. One must give up to the other. The artist has to give up something to his family. His family must give up much to his art."

"Mr. Kubelik, if you had to choose between your home life and your art, which would it be?" asked the reporter.

The young artist with the flowing locks and the Raphael face thought. The little fair-haired wife came close beside him. Before him was the picture and the memory of his five young daughters.

"Once an artist, always an artist," he finally replied.

The little wife smiled her approval. Art was evidently supreme in this household.

Kubelik was tired. He had an injured finger that had cost him three concerts at $1,000 each.

"My season is over in April and my wife and I will go home to our children at once," said the violinist.

"This is the last of my years of terrible work. I will never desert my art, but I will consider my health and my work and my home."

COUNT ASKS $5000 TO COME HERE FOR HEIRESS

Lost $1,200,000 in Three Years in Racing—Would Recoup Fortune in United States.

Vienna.—Count Buch has petitioned the court to allow him $5000 from his sequestrated estates in order that he might go to America and capture an heiress.

The court gave a hearing to the count, who pleaded as follows: "Three years ago I inherited 6,000,000 francs. I started a racing stable and lost money all the time. My half interest in the last landed property I controlled I sold for $20,000; my brother, owner of the other half, sold his part for 1,000,000 francs.

"Since being declared bankrupt my relations pay me $400 a year, just enough for cigarettes and club dues. "My only chance, therefore, is to marry an American heiress."

The court took the matter under advisement.

SEPARATION RUMOR DENIED BY GERAGHTY

"Nothing Like That in Ours," Retorts "Chauffeur Jack" When Told Report of Domestic Troubles Is Current in New York.

Newport, R. I.—When a reporter called at their home on Everett street he was met at the door by a trim maid and found Mr. and Mrs. John E. Geraghty preparing to go to a theater. "Mr. Geraghty," said the reporter, "it is reported in New York that you and Mrs. Geraghty have separated."

"Nothing like that in ours," answered Geraghty, his eyes flashing. "How do you suppose such an absurd report ever started?"

"You can say for me that our relations are of the very best and nothing of that kind has been thought of. Mrs. Geraghty and I are getting ready to go to the theater. We are as devoted to each other as we ever were. Geraghty appeared to be very indignant that such a rumor was abroad.

"There isn't the slightest foundation for any such thing," he said; "never has been and never will be." Just as the reporter arose to go Mrs. Geraghty called:

"Jack, it's getting late. Aren't you coming?"

"I'll be there in a moment, kid," said Jack. "Does that sound like any separation stuff?" was his parting remark.

Geraghty and his automobile business are prospering and apparently everything is running smoothly and all is well with the famous young people.

CROSSES PLAINS TO TEXAS.

Ezra Meeker, of Prairie Schooner Fame, Arrives in San Antonio.

San Antonio, Texas—Ezra Meeker, riding in a replica of the old-time prairie schooner, drawn by a team of oxen, drove into the courtyard of the Alamo a few days ago and prepared to camp there, having previously obtained the necessary permission from Governor Colquhoun.

Despite his 82 years, Mr. Meeker is hale, hearty and active and appears to feel fatigue from his cross country travel much less than would many a much younger man.

Mr. Meeker, who crossed the plains to Oregon, in 1852, started from his home in Puyallup, Wash., six years ago to cover on a return trip the same trail he followed more than half a century ago.

Due to his efforts about twenty-nine monuments have been erected along the route and a bill is now pending in congress to give the project governmental sanction.

A Permanent Cure for Chronic Constipation

Although those may dispute it who have not tried it, yet thousands of others, who speak from personal experience, assert that there is a permanent cure for chronic constipation. Some testify they were cured for as little as fifty cents, years ago, and that the trouble never came back on them, while others admit they took several bottles before a steady cure was brought about.

The remedy referred to is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been on the market for over a quarter of a century and has been popularized on its merits, by one person telling another. The fact that its strongest supporters are women and elderly people—the ones most persistently constipated—makes it certain that the claims regarding it as a permanent cure for constipation have not been exaggerated.

It is not violent like cathartic pills, salts or waters, but operates gently, without gripping and without shock to the system. It contains tonic properties that strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with and nature is again solely relied on. Among the legions who testify to these facts are Mr. Jax A. Lushman, Logan, Utah, and Josephine Bailey, Sheridan, Wyo., and they always have a bottle of it in the house, for it is a reliable laxative for all the family from infancy to old age.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.
