VOICEROUS PARROT BLOCKS TRAFFIC BY YLOUD SHRIEKS
 New York.—A large green parrot, supposed to have escaped from the Oceana of the Bermuda line, stopped traffic at Montgomery and Washington streets, Jersey City, and stayed on the job until it had called out the police reserves and the fire apparatus.
 Crowds on their way to work were startled to hear loud shrieks coming from an upper floor of the Lincoln Trust company building.
 "It's murder!" said a fat man.
 Martha Wolley the chief scrub woman, immediately telephoned to the police and brought Captain Larkens down the street in his automobile, followed by the reserves.
 No. 1 hook and ladder company finally came to the rescue, while the crowd swelled momentarily and fantastic rumors began to spread.
 When a fireman got half way up the ladder the parrot flew away.
 T. R. considered it a high duty for him to tell the people of Ohio how to make a constitution.

BALK AT KISSING BRIDE.
 Courthouse Clerks Blush and Flee
 Cleveland, Ohio.—When the Rev. C. L. Peck invited Samuel Swain, a machinist living at 1539 East Forty-Fifth street, to kiss his bride, Swain complied without demurring. When the Rev. Mr. Peck immediately thereafter extended a general invitation to the rank and file of bashful probate court clerks, who had witnessed the ceremony, to do likewise, the probate courtroom became suddenly depopulated. Later they filed in, shook hands with Swain and his bride and offered congratulations.
 Swain took out a license to marry Miss Elizabeth Campbell, 37, 1539 East Forty-Fifth street. They told the marriage license department that they would like to have a Methodist minister perform the ceremony, but were at a loss whom to pick. Just then the Rev. Mr. Peck walked in. Being a Methodist minister, he filled the bill.
 It was the first ceremony ever performed in the probate courtroom.

W. C. T. U. HEAD TALKS ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

(Special Correspondence.)
 Echo, Ore., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, state president of the W. C. T. U., spent the day here yesterday. In the afternoon she held a meeting for women at which she discussed ways and means for the propagation of the temperance work.
 In the evening she delivered a very able lecture on equal suffrage but owing to the fact that the subject had not been previously announced, Mrs. Unruh did not have a large audience.
 Wm. Frazier, a Portland liveryman and horse dealer, who was here last week buying draft horses to ship to the Klondyke, left Monday for Pendleton from which point he will buy the horses. He secured several head of valuable animals here.
 Two cars of cattle and one car of sheep were shipped from the O-W. R. & N. yards at this place last night. The sheep were shipped by F. W. Andrews and the cattle which were shipped by Elmer Spilke were the best that has gone from here the present year. They were of a uniform size and averaged in weight 1350 pounds each.
 Mrs. A. B. Thomson left this morning for Portland to join her husband who went down last Saturday.
 Mr. and Mrs. Thomson will visit with friends the remainder of the week.
 Miss Bertha Allen has been visiting the past week with the Misses Moore and Mrs. L. C. Rogers. She expects to leave soon for the east.

MILDRED BRIDGES IS FREE; NO PROOF OF DELINQUENCY
 Former Follower of Evelyn Arthur See Discharged in Juvenile Court—Now Attending College at Galesburg.
 Chicago, Ill.—Mildred Bridges, former follower of Evelyn Arthur See, the founder of Absolute Life, was discharged with only a few words by Judge Pomeroy in the juvenile court. According to Henry Lynch, chief probation officer of the court, the girl has recently become of age and there is little evidence to show that she is a delinquent.
 The hearing was over within three minutes after the girl and her guardian entered the court.
 "You are attending school now?" asked Judge Pomeroy of the girl.
 "Yes, I am attending Knox college at Galesburg," replied the girl, who has recently passed her eighteenth birthday.
 "I don't see that there is any evidence that this girl is a delinquent and incorrigible, as stated in the complaint," declared the court, "and I will discharge her."
 It is said the girl will return to college at once.
 The alleged leper near Tacoma is probably a far better man than most of those who are howling about him.
