MORE CANDIDATES FILE PETITIONS

Salem, Or., Feb. 22.—Eight additional men have filed for various offices. Will R. King of Portland, former associate justice of the supreme court, filed for delegate to the democratic national convention. His platform is: "If elected as such delegate, I will at such convention support for president and vice president respectively, the person, or persons, who may be selected by the people of this state at the said primary election, so long as there may appear a reasonable chance of their nomination. In case of failure of such person or persons to be nominated, I will support for nomination such candidates as I consider most available and desirable to the people of this state, keeping in mind always that we want progressive and not retrogressive men in the presidential chair. I desire to have placed after my name on the primary ballot the words: 'For the people's choice.'"

John D. Mickle of Hillsdale, near Forest Grove, filed today for the republican nomination for Oregon dairy and food commissioner.

Other filings were made by O. C. Applegate of Klamath Falls, delegate to the republican convention; Frank Newton of Toledo, for the republican nomination for representative of the Twelfth district, comprising Lincoln and Polk counties, and Frederick Steiwer of Pendleton for the republican nomination for district attorney of the Sixth district, comprising Wasco and Morrow counties. His slogan is: "Pledged to strict and impartial enforcement of the laws of Oregon."

Charles W. Sherman, Sr., of Dairy, Klamath county, has written Secretary of State O'cott announcing his intention to become a candidate for delegate to the democratic national convention from the second congressional district, evidently holding the opinion that the delegates are chosen by districts. He will be informed that the delegates are to be elected by the votes in the entire state.

CANDY KISS ADMITTED BY GIRL AND SWEETHEART

Points of Law Involved in Love on Highway 'North Frowns of Stern Aunt Cause Pause in the Wheels of Brooklyn Justice.

New York.—The brow of Magistrate Reynolds, in Gates avenue court, Brooklyn, was deeply furrowed as he pondered over a case that involved a candy kiss.

Mrs. Sarah Ellis of 1073 Hancock street had Richard Purcell, a widower and motorman, 48 years old, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. In explanation of the arrest she had kissed her 17-year-old daughter Gladys in a public street.

Gladys is attending the Teachers' Training school and a year ago met the motorman, who has since paid her ardent attentions.

"I told Gladys he was too old," said Mrs. Ellis, "but she continued to meet him. In the morning when she went to school there was the motorman waiting for her. Every place I turned I saw that motorman."

Gladys' aunt, Mrs. Mary Graham, went to meet Gladys as she returned from school. As she strolled along Decatur street she saw Gladys and the motorman. Then she saw the motorman's strong right arm encircle the waist of Gladys and then—gracious goodness—they kissed.

"Yes, I kissed him," Gladys testified, "and furthermore, I intend to marry him."

"The kissing motorman was put on the stand. "I didn't kiss her," said Purcell. "You see, judge, we were eating can-

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ly and she had a piece in her mouth. I do not know whether my lips touched hers or not. I was not seeking a kiss; I wanted a piece of the candy." The magistrate decided to adjourn the case. Candy kissing involves a point of law he wishes to study over before rendering an opinion.

UNCLE SAM SENTENCES YOUNG PEOPLE TO WED

Penalty of Refusal Is Return to Europe.

New York.—Under sentence to get married immediately or forthwith go back to Europe, two young persons who had fared here from Antwerp in the second cabin of the Red Star liner Zeeland were relegated to the care of Aravel Aid society, whose secretary promised to see that one or the other of the injunctions was obeyed.

The young folk are Virginie Dubois, eighteen, of Berne, Switzerland. Her sweetheart admits the mature age of twenty. He is Achille Strasberger also of Berne nativity, but more recently of Canton, O. Six weeks ago he left Canton, where he had been living since his arrival in this country four years ago, and returned to Switzerland to see his sweetheart.

Achille said it would be wiser to postpone marriage until arrival here, as there were fewer formalities and less red tape than in Switzerland. As it happened there were two other young women from Berne who were planning to come to America, it was arranged that all should take the same vessel. They did, but when the Zeeland brought them in, young Strasberger and his fiancée, who had planned to get married in Strasberger's Canton home, found that they would have to be married before leaving the ship or go back by the Zeeland. The Travel Aid society went to the rescue.

DOUBLE GETS HIM IN JAIL

Respected Rancher Is Taken as Thief On Photograph of Real Offender.

Fresno, Calif.—"Yes, that looks like my picture all right, but I'm not the man wanted." William Davis a respected pioneer rancher of Sanger said as he gazed at the photograph of his double, "Bill" Davis, wanted by the Santa Ana authorities on a charge of grand larceny.

The rancher was arrested on Wednesday after the picture of his double had been received by the authorities and submitted to the many friends of the rancher for identification.

As a consequence, William Davis spent the night in jail without knowing what he was in for. He succeeded in establishing his identity and now threatens to sue for false imprisonment.

Constitutional guarantees that can be suspended on any pretext don't amount to much.

Danderine

Grows hair and we can prove it

KILLS WIFE AND SELF AS CHILD LOOKS ON

John Tandyk Fatally Wounds His Spouse and Fires Bullet Into Own Head—Daughter's Warning Fails to Save Mother.

Chicago, Ill.—With the frightened eyes of his 15-year-old daughter Gertrude upon him, John Tandyk, 42 years old, shot and killed his wife Martha in the kitchen of their home at 5617 South Ashland avenue. He then walked into another room and shot himself.

Mrs. Tandyk died in an ambulance while being hurried to St. Bernard's hospital. Tandyk was dead when neighbors and police rushed into the house in response to the screams of Gertrude and her two brothers—John 18 years old, and Joseph, 4 years old.

The murdered woman had recently made an effort to have the police take Tandyk's revolver away from him as he had often threatened to kill her. Her effort was in vain as he had a permit to carry the weapon through the fact that he was employed as a special policeman by the Pennsylvania railroad.

Tandyk abused his wife when he was drinking and they quarreled frequently on that account. He was under the influence of drink when he returned home. Mrs. Tandyk, her daughter Gertrude and two sons, John, 18 years old, and Joseph, 4 years old, had just finished breakfast and the mother was at the sink washing the dishes.

Tandyk sat in the dining room a few moments and appeared in the kitchen door with the revolver in his hand.

"I saw the revolver in father's hand and the thought struck me that he was going to kill mamma," Gertrude Tandyk told the Eaglewood police. "I shouted to mamma to look out but she had no chance to escape. She ran toward the door of the bedroom off the kitchen when she saw father with the gun, but he began firing at her and then she fell on the floor and I saw the blood."

When her child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from croup. Give Chamberlain's Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

FIRE DRILL SAVES CHILDREN.

Hundreds of Pupils March Out of Burning School in Rochester, N. Y. Rochester, N. Y.—The effectiveness of the fire drill saved the lives of scores of children when fire broke out in public school No. 2 in Tremont street, and in a few minutes enveloped the entire building in flames. The school, which cost $40,000, will be a total loss.

When the fire signal was sounded the 829 pupils and twenty teachers, marched out without panic, with huge volumes of smoke billowing over their heads and filling the corridors.

A few minutes later the building was a mass of flames.

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested just now. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immense sale by its remarkable cure of colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

FEATHERED HEROES POSE FOR PICTURES

Brazilian Parrots Whose Cries Saved Life of Woman Object at First, But Later Smooth Their Plumage.

Chicago, Ill.—Loretta and George, the two Brazilian parrots who saved Mrs. Mary Mason from death by gas asphyxiation refused to be interviewed when seen at their residence, 167 West Chicago avenue.

Miss Albert Howard and her sister Helen, who assisted the birds in the thrilling rescue of Mrs. Mason spoke for them.

The young girls told a reporter that the parrots wished to deny the statements that they were reported in the papers to have made. "The stories that they shouted 'Fire!' 'Police!' and used bad language when they smelled the gas and saw Mrs. Mason was overcome by the fumes are false," Miss Albert declared.

The fact of the matter is, the parrots cannot talk. But otherwise they are almost human. When they were asked to pose for their pictures they protested vigorously and conversed with each other, in the bird vernacular, as to the propriety of the thing. When their chatter had ceased and the photographer had his camera focused they smoothed down their bright head feathers with infinite care. Loretta posed in profile and George looked the camera square in the eye.

The birds and the Howard girls gained fame by saving the life of Mrs. Mason. Alberta, who is 18, and her 13-year-old sister heard a great commotion in the Mason flat when they passed the door on their way to their own apartment. Loretta and George, the parrots, were making a fearful noise.

The girls opened the door and found the flat filled with gas. Mrs. Mason was lying unconscious on the floor of her bedroom and gas was escaping in a great volume from the kitchen range. They opened the windows and telephoned for a doctor.

The Commonwealth Edison company's pumoter was sent for and Mrs. Mason was revived after a half hour's work.

FLIRTATIOUS WHALE WINKS AT BRIDE; GROOM ANGRY

New York.—The President Grant of the Hamburg-American line brought in a company of minor diplomats. Among them were Perry Belvin, recently secretary of the American embassy at Berlin and now transferred to Honduras; Charles B. Curtis, formerly secretary at Christiania, now transferred to San Domingo; William Johannessen, secretary of the Norwegian legation at Washington; L. H. Lunt, German consul at San Juan, Porto Rico and Pedro Bidart, Spanish consul general to Mexico.

The diplomats were very eager to talk about anything except their official duties. They were especially voluble regarding the adventure of Mrs. George P. Ward, the youthful bride of a Philadelphia paper merchant, and the flirtatious whale.

With all solemnity they made assertion that the whale came up along side of the ship and while Mrs. Ward was clapping her hands at the rail in excitement at seeing him, the bold thing slowly and shamelessly winked his eye at her. Mr. Ward, outraged, threw a bottle at him and when last seen the whale was fifteen miles away going west.

JUDGE AFTER LOAN SHARKS.

Attorney for Such People Included in Citation Issued by Landis.

Chicago.—Attorneys and the proprietors of five loan establishments have been cited to appear before United States District Judge Landis for an investigation begun by the court into their dealings with a bankrupt, who prayed for an order restraining the loan agents from filing assignments with the employers of the bankrupt.

"We must all admit that porch climbers and burglars are perfect gentlemen compared with these preying persons who are in the salary loan business," said Judge Landis in beginning the inquiry. "It is a question in my mind whether any lawyer will be permitted to practice in my court who continually from day to day, is in any way affiliated with these nefarious loan men."
