FORGER FAILS TO ENTER JAIL. Judge Refuses to Accept Plea of Guilt Made by Man of 88. New York.—Charles W. Bartlett, 88 years old, who has been a forger and swindler for half a century, failed to meet with immediate success in an effort to break into prison. In general sessions he expressed a desire to plead guilty to a $2135 forgery. "He says he committed the forgery in order to break into jail," said the old man's attorney. "He wants a place in which to die. I don't think he had any bad intent when he forged the check." Justice Crain ordered a plea of not guilty entered on the indictment.
WASHINGTON IS GASPING OVER NEW "DEVIL DANCE". Washington.—Even more daring than the "turkey trot" or the "bunny hug," the "devil dance" is now disturbing the "49th" in Washington. It made its appearance at a hop given by A. O. Horstmann, third secretary of the German embassy. In this amazing step the man places his feet between the feet of his partner at the turn of the waltz, their feet clinging together as they pivot rapidly round and round. Aroused by this new appearance of the cloven hoof, the East Washington association has appealed to the district board of commissioners, to stop all dances on Sunday night.
SHOWS BACK: GETS $2,500. Young Woman Wins the Verdict by Her Exhibit to Jury. Trenton, N. J.—Miss Carrie B. Hyer sued the Monmouth County Traction company for $10,000 damages, alleging she was thrown from a moving trolley car when about to alight. Physicians for the plaintiff declared marks on her back were due to injuries sustained in the accident. Doctors for the defense said the marks were blemishes which had their origin in parental influence. To settle the dispute, by direction of her counsel the young woman exhibited her bare back to the jurors, who carefully inspected the marks, then awarded her $2,500.

Change of Program at the Grand. McSorley & Eleanore, better known as the Welsh nightingales, presenting their up-to-date Irish comedy sketch, "Misfit Gentleman," a playlet full of good singing and comical incidents. Ed Wilson, the laughing loon, who will keep the audience in a furor of laughter from start to finish. Motion pictures. My Brother Agostino. The Terms of the Will. Gee Whizz! Wife's Sudden Return.
LAWYERS DECLINE CASE. Refuse to Defend Monk Who Confesses to Murder of Conain. St. Petersburg.—A despatch from Warsaw, received here says the Polish and Russian lawyers have declined to undertake the defense of Damazy Macloch, the monk from the Pauline convent at Czenstochowa, who killed his cousin, Waclaw Macloch, in a cell and sewed the body in a sofa. He confessed to the murder. The motive given by the lawyers is that they do not desire to mix in the internal affairs of the Catholic church.
LA GRANDE POSTOFFICE LOOTED BY BURGLAR. Only $50 Taken and Other Money in Fire Is Overlooked. La Grande, Or.—The La Grande postoffice, was robbed a few nights ago of over $50, but the affair was kept quiet in the hope of a possible repetition of the theft. The burglar gained entrance through the rear door and evidently did a hurried job, as he overlooked about $26 in the till and made no attempt to get at the safe, nor had postoffice orders and stamps any attraction for him. Postmaster Ritchie was glad that the rogue was timidly inclined, and while the entrance would show some skill in the work, the fact that actual cash was overlooked, indicates that he was either a novice or frightened away. No traces were left and no clues are at this time obtainable.
The long looked for Colonial Draperies have just been unpacked and are on display in the Needlecraft Department on second floor of The Peoples Warehouse.
Varmint Hunters' Banquet. Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 29.—The annual "varmint" hunt of the Washington Game Protective association ends tonight with a big banquet at Masonic hall, where several hundred hunters will devour bear meat and prizes will be awarded to hunters who killed the most varmints during the year.

A GROUP OF BOOKS FOR LENTEN READING

Black—Comfort. A collection of nine essays, whose commanding influence is a sincere understanding of human need. Their broad sympathy and deep religious feeling especially recommend them.
Clark—The gospel in Latin lands. Outlines the history of twenty-five Latin countries in Europe and America, with a description of the missionary work, a travelers' guide to mission statements and topics for further study.
Fallow—Mental Hygiene. Thoughts for everybody, commonsense living.
Hyde—Self-measurement. Presents concisely and concretely the qualities that underlie right living and good citizenship.
Marden—Be good to yourself; Every man's king; He can who thinks he can; Pushing to the front.
The Marden books are brisk and informal sermons written with a certain breeziness which will recommend them to many readers seeking helpful books.
Smythe—How We Got Our Bible. Traces briefly the history of our Bible from the earliest version to the present English Bible.
Jameson—Legends of the Madonna. This is written from a purely artistic standpoint, giving the stories of the Madonna as she has been pictured by various artists.
FIRE AT REDMOND, OR., DESTROYS FOUR PLANTS. Redmond, Or.—Fire burned out four business places on Sixth street: E. Maher's hardware store, loss $4,000, insurance $3000; W. H. Hoggs grocery and bakers, loss $4000, insurance $2000; Wright & Delmore, second hand store and furniture, loss $300, no insurance; the Redmond Spokesman, loss $7000, insurance $3000.

The Spokesman loss was total, nothing being saved. The paper had installed a linotype only a month ago and that and other valuable printing machines were destroyed. Damage of $300 to $500 was done to the Hotel Oregon, adjoining the burned buildings. The Hotel Redmond, across the street, suffered some loss from heat, broken windows, etc. The cause of the fire was a lamp explosion in Maher's hardware store. The only fire protection here, a chemican engine, failed to control the fire at the start. The burned buildings will be rebuilt. The Spokesman has already ordered a new printing plant from Portland and San Francisco.

Combine Harvester for Sale. For Sale—Daniel "Baby" Best Combine, practically new, only used in cutting 500 acres of grain. In perfect order. Good reasons for selling. Apply Peter Tachella, Pendleton, Ore.
