

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

DEMOS CAUSE G.O.P. VERY MUCH ANXIETY

PLAYING POLITICS FOR ALL THEY ARE WORTH

Progressive Program Being Pushed Through by Leaders in House Both Mystifies and Frightens Standpat Republicans.

Washington, March 2.—Democratic leaders in congress are steering their control of legislation in the middle of the straight and narrow path. Dangers that are thrust at them from the republicans have so far been strategically avoided. Democratic house leaders are playing the political game these days for all there is in it, and with a rapidity and skill that has caused consternation in the republican camp.

It is true that the plans of the democrats have not escaped the vigilance of the old guard republicans, but many of the newly elected republicans in both the house and senate who have not had the experience that their older colleagues enjoy, show no signs of realizing what is happening, or of understanding the effect on the country of the program the democratic house leaders are trying to put through. But the more progressive and broad-gauged republicans do understand the situation and they do not conceal their anxiety over it.

According to the gossip in the congressional cloakrooms, the democratic leaders in the house have shown a capacity for good legislation that was generally anticipated. They have dealt with various measures brought up for discussion in a way to give entire satisfaction to the country at large, and have gone about their duties in a conscientious and statesmanlike manner. They have surprised their republican colleagues by their manner of taking hold of the control of legislation.

Their decision to reduce the duties on a long list of necessities of life, and the plan to revise the tariff schedules, particularly those relating to wool and cotton, which will undoubtedly be carried out, will unquestionably have the approval of the voters of the country at large.

From the way that things are going now in the halls of congress it is the general opinion that the democrats are going to do exactly what they said they would do at election time, and those things that the public demands. Consequently in the campaign of 1912 the independent voters will not forget the activities of the democrats along these lines when the democratic candidate is put up for election to succeed Mr. Taft in the white house.

Naturally the question has risen and has been much discussed: What are the republicans doing to win the popularity of the people and to counteract the prestige that the democrats are obtaining by their policies? Nothing. This is the general opinion in Washington!

As far as the situation looks today the republicans in the house and senate show no indications that they are doing anything adequate to meet the conditions. On the other hand, they have been accused of following an obstructionist policy, especially in the house, but owing to a democratic majority their efforts are unavailing. In the senate, where the regular republicans hold the balance of power, there is no disposition on the part of the republican senators to yield anything in tariff reduction that is not compulsory. This is shown conclusively by the determination of the "Regulars" in the senate to insist on keeping control of the finance committee, and to bring in a high tariff measure, protecting the ideas advanced by Senator Aldrich and other high protectionists. On campaign publicity, on direct election of senators and other questions apart from the tariff, the regular republican leaders are pursuing and will continue to pursue a course of obstruction and delay. It has been stated by some of the republicans that the party is playing right into the hands of the democratic leaders by pursuing these tactics.

To make matters worse for the republican leaders, former Speaker Cannon is causing a rumpus. "Uncle Joe" has been criticizing the work of the house and seeking to justify his own course while speaker. Some of his colleagues do not like this.

The house republican progressives are also worried over the outlook. They admit that they are in danger of being lost sight of and their only remedy is to adopt a progressive course. In view of the manner in which the democrats have started their campaign of redemption and rehabilitation, indications are now that they will sweep the country in 1912. This is the gloomy view held by a large following in the republican ranks. Even the prediction in republican circles that President Taft's re-election is doubtful has gathered weight to an almost unbelievable degree. It is not difficult to see that an obstruction program on the part of the republican leaders in congress will have but one effect—to help the democrats.

Consequently democrats in the house are jubilant over the situation and regard the presidential campaign as easy sailing for them.

AT THE OREGON THEATRE

They are shocked by a situation. Although it is extremely funny to the audience, it is very humiliating to them, and they decide to punish the groom by a plan that in his betting his bride and severing the ties that bound him to the girl of the Bohemian life.

The present company that has been engaged to produce "The Girl from Rectors" at the Oregon theatre tonight, is one of the best of New York City. Miss Katherine Raynore is the leading spirit in the part of Louie Sedaine. She is refreshingly original and her cleverness makes a decided hit. This Girl from Rectors is a curiously composite creature to start with. With Miss Raynore's interpretation is more than skillful, not only in the emotional but she is a very rapid lady of the "lights" and also as the wife can be haughty as well. Miss Alice Seymour displays a delicious bit of acting from the part of Marcia Singleton. The rest of the company is composed of the following names:

Thomas H. Wallace, Graydon Fox, Harry B. Castle, Katherine Raynore, Ed. S. Thompson, Carey Hastings, Alice Seymour, Anita Allen, Ralph Thomas, Henry Pennypacker, Claude Robinson. The company carries special scenery and accessories for a first class production.

MAIL CARRIER MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR IS SHOT

Eugene, Or.—Joshua Cain, mail carrier between Lowell and Hazel Dell on the Upper Willamette river, is at the general hospital in Eugene with a gun shot wound in his back, inflicted at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Edward Smith, keeper of the store at Lowell.

A number of suspicious looking characters believed to be foreign railroad laborers, had been hanging around the premises the day before, and when Cain entered the store to get his mail to start for Hazel Dell, Smith heard him. As Cain left the building, Smith opened the window of his room above the store where he sleeps and without calling to Cain fired at him with his shotgun. Cain sank to the ground with a groan and called to Smith not to shoot again. It was then Smith saw his mistake.

Cain was brought to Eugene on a work train and operated on at the hospital. Surgeons think he will recover unless infection sets in. The charge of shot entered his back at the left shoulder and raked down, shattering several ribs. Smith has been

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is a better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thinning or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by special agent, Pendleton Drug Co.

Cain is aged over 50 years and has a family. Smith was formerly employed in the First National bank of Eugene, moving to Lowell a short time ago.

John W. Sickelsmith, Greensboro, Pa., has three children, and like most children they frequently take cold. "We have tried several kinds of cough medicine," he says, "but have never found any yet that did them as much good as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." For sale by all dealers.
