Superintendent Puts Ban on Abbreviated Waist and Skirt.

Butte, Mont.—Short skirts and low necked waists are out of place in the school room when worn by members of the teaching force and were referred to as "wearing apparel abbreviated at both ends, which must be worn no more in the state school," by Superintendent Downer at a general monthly meeting of teachers. The superintendent did not attempt to specify just what a teacher should or should not wear. As to the exact meaning of a low necked waist, the teachers assert that the superintendent did not mean a waist without a collar. They believe that he meant, perhaps, a sailor waist without the shield or a shirt waist "turned in" at the neck sufficiently to warrant the fear among the children that "teacher might catch cold."

PUBLIC HONORS TO BE SHOWN REMAINS OF DEAD

President Taft Probably Will Attend Services in White Lot Over Bodies Taken from Battleship.

Washington, D. C.—Public funeral honors in charge of the navy department, will be accorded the last of the Maine dead in this city March 22 according to a tentative program made public today. The program will be dependent upon the freeing of the hulk of the wrecked battleship. The services over the remains of the thirty-four bodies recovered will be held on the White lot, after which the bones will be borne on caissons to the Spanish war section of the Arlington national cemetery. It is expected President Taft will be a participant in the exercises.

DRIVEN TO DRINK BY HOUSEWORK, HUBBY SAYS

Chicago, Ill.—Burt Harkin, 1636 West Twenty-second street, arraigned before Municipal Judge Scully on a charge of disorderly conduct, testified he had been driven to drink by housework.

Harkin, who is a printer, has been out of work for several months. His wife, Anna Harkin, has been able to find odd sorts of work to do, sometimes working in restaurants and sometimes in private homes. Harkin in the meantime had to take care of their two rooms and prepare the meals for himself and wife.

"The work began to get on my nerves, it was that uninteresting," Harkin told the judge. "I got to be mighty glad to get away and get a drink and forget about it."

"How about last night?" asked Judge Scully.

"I guess I wanted to forget it so bad I took one drink too many," Harkin was discharged.

CONVERT SETTLES OLD BILL.

Gives Up $2 on a Debt of $198 That Has Run Thirty Years.

Chester, Pa.—Reuben Moseley, a retired grocer, was surprised to receive a visit from a woman who thirty years ago purchased articles from his store to the amount of $1.98 on credit. The amount was never paid and the transaction had been forgotten by Moseley. The woman, who lately joined the church, handed Moseley $2, explaining the circumstances. She informed him that since she was converted to Christianity she had become conscience stricken and was imbued with a feeling of deep remorse over the fact that she owed the long-standing debt.

PEDDLER LEAVES $500,000.

Man Who Began Life With Cart Dies With Big Estate.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Beginning life in St. Joseph twenty-five years ago with a dilapidated wagon and an old bay-horse, with the aid of which he peddled meat about the streets, James W. Hartigan, who died late last night at the age of 78, leaves an estate estimated to be worth $500,000. He deserted the cart for a stall in the city market and by investing his savings in real estate became wealthy.

OFFICIAL HUNTER BAGS 2 WILDCATS

Although handicapped by weather conditions which make successful tracking almost impossible, S. W. Purdy, special state hunter, returned this morning from his second excursion into the mountains with the carcasses of two big wild cats. Both were killed in the same section of the county where the big cougar was bagged recently.

Purdy was gone on his last trip five days and encountered all kinds of obstacles. The snow, three feet deep, was crusted over thick enough to bear the weight of an animal but not that of a man, thus enabling the wild beasts and the dogs to travel rapidly but greatly retarding the progress of men. Added to this, a melting of the surface snow washed away the scent of the fleeing animals, making it very difficult for his dogs.

The famous hunter only took two of his hounds with him and on the first day out one of these had its paw badly crushed in the death struggle of the first wild cat bagged. This forced him to proceed with only one dog. He reports a great many wild cat trails but all difficult to follow on account of the melting snow. He declares he also ran across the trail of the mate to the cougar recently killed but it was so old that the hound could not follow it.

Purdy reports a great many grouse in the mountains upon which the wild cats are preying at this time. He will leave probably tomorrow upon another expedition into the woods.

DOWN WITH CIGARETTES!

Bill for Legislature Provides They Shall Not Exist in State.

Los Angeles.—An anticigarette bill to be introduced in the next session of the California legislature has been drafted by E. J. Lickley, director of compulsory education and supervisor of special schools in Los Angeles. The bill, which if it becomes a law, would prevent selling, possessing, smoking or giving away cigarettes among adults as well as minors, was designed by Mr. Lickley as a part of his campaign to facilitate the reformation of boys in the Los Angeles truant schools.

"Boys smoke because men smoke," he said. "Therefore, prevent men from smoking cigarettes and you will have taken the first step toward stopping the boys."

Mrs. R. L. Craig, the only woman member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, said she would go to Sacramento in the interest of the bill if Mr. Lickley presented it.

And too little self confidence is as disastrous as too much.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The daily statistical record of the books issued from our public library shows a splendid increase in the circulation, during the past week 415 books were circulated and on Saturday alone last week 153 books went into the various homes of this city.

Perhaps a larger number of the books of fiction are represented in these figures than we might wish there should be, yet when we consider that the population of Pendleton includes very few of what is commonly termed "the laboring classes," that there are libraries in one half of the homes, and that most of the people are reading for recreation only it is not surprising that our fiction runs ahead of our class book circulation, yet there is a growing demand for the non-fiction books and "Fact and Fable in Psychology," "Mental Hygiene," "Every Man a King" and "Pushing to the Front" are quite as popular as the latest novels "The Harvester," "The Winning of Barbara Worth," or "The Iron Woman."

Now that the "planting season" is here the following list of books may prove of interest to some one:

"Garden making: Suggestions for the utilizing of home grounds."
"Landscape gardening" as applied to home decoration.
"Sweet Peas," a complete treatise on the cultivation of the sweet pea.
"Success with Small Fruits."

We also have a good many books on "dry farming," irrigation and drainage, wheat and alfalfa raising.

CIVIL WAR "ANGEL" TO BOTH BLUE AND GRAY DIES

New York.—With the death of Mary D. Jones, 103 years old, at her home, 5 Hart street, a famous figure of civil war times has passed from the stage. O. I. soldiers who wore the blue in the bloody trenches of Port-Hudson may remember the quest of Mary Jones for the body of her brother, who was killed in the hopeless attack on the great confederate fortifications.

Mary Jones did not find her brother's body, but she was a ministering angel to the wounded soldiers at the front in after days. Her figure became familiar in southern hospitals and she earned the lasting gratitude of many men who wore the blue and who wore the gray.

Later she became matron at the Soldiers' home in New Orleans and in 1866 Senator Conkling had an act passed by congress which was signed by the president, awarding her a pension.

Old People's Social.

Don't forget the Old Folks Social at the M. E. church tomorrow evening—Wednesday, March 13. Many old people will take part in an old fashioned program. Refreshments will be served. Admission 15c. No reduction for children.

It's easy to find fault, when you are looking for trouble.

JOSEPH T. HINKLE

The cut shown above is an unusually good likeness of J. T. Hinkle, republican candidate for representative before the primaries in April.

Mr. Hinkle is almost a native son of Umatilla county soil, having come into this county with his parents when quite young. At different periods he has resided in the wheat growing districts, in the fruit producing sections and in the irrigated alfalfa belt. Probably no other man seeking the nomination on either ticket has had longer residence in this county or more varied opportunities to comprehend our needs. Temperamentally he is a progressive but his mature years and large real estate holdings of both city and farming property insures a well-balanced conservatism in the application of untried theories.

During his many years' residence among us he has launched a large number of business enterprises, some of them involving much capital and calling for the exercise of both integrity and thought in their administration. His many associates in all of these undertakings, both great and small, are agreed that no man ever joined with him in such relations and came out with anything but a profit on his investment.

The sentiment that Mr. Hinkle is safe, prudent and honest is strong in the republican party in the county and his nomination seems certain.

Mr. Hinkle is a lawyer as well as a farmer. His legal training has been efficient and his land holdings are large. His friends contend that these facts will qualify him to know our public requirements and to present and defend them before our law making body in an intelligent and effective manner.

He takes great interest in the good roads movement and feels that, so far as the interests of the people of this county are concerned, those advocating county construction and control have the best of the argument. (Paid Advertisement.)

See Fort George and Live

THE CENTER OF THE GREAT LAND OF CANADA'S RICHEST PROVINCE.

Population Last Year, 200. Now 2000. End of This Year, 10,000.

Fort George and its surrounding territory offer to the right man better chances than can be found anywhere else on the continent. The country is young and exceedingly wealthy in products of forest, field and mine.

Fort George is rated by men of affairs throughout America and Europe as one of the railroad centers of Canada. With a level town-site, admirably located, best of water and splendid climate, it has, as the central point of the Inland Empire of British Columbia, advantages enjoyed by but few other cities in the east or west. The Grand Trunk Pacific has ordered completion of its main line to this point by the fall of this year, 1912. By the first of June freight should be coming over its rails via Edmonton to Ute Jaune Cache, thence by river steamer to Fort George.

The Edmonton Board of Trade is working hard for this and states that the freight rate then will be three cents per pound. Ten other railroads are chartered to this point and at least four of these are looked upon as certain to come in the near future. The Canadian Northern Railway let contracts this month for construction of a line from Vancouver, B. C., to Fort George; also a number of other points. If you want land that will make you money do not delay but see at once the system in which the North Coast Land Co. Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C., with a paid up capital of $1,500,000, will contract with you for the purchase of acreage around the growing city of Fort George, British Columbia.

Further information will be given by calling or addressing Harry Bickers, general agent for eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington Local office Pendleton, Oregon. Pacific Coast Dept., Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Portland, Oregon, W. A. Seale, Mgr.

The East Oregonian is eastern Oregon's representative paper. It leads and the people appreciate it and show it by their liberal patronage. It is the advertising medium of this section.
