WHEN the time comes to get out the golf clubs and "feel of them," or the tennis racquet or the baseball mitt; then you know that it's time to look around for clothes.

There are several ways to "look around" for clothes in this town; but the right way is to come here, either before or after you've seen all the others, and try on some of our Hart Schaffner & Marx suits and Spring overcoats. If you come here first, you'll see so many things you like you won't care for anything else; if you come here last--the same thing. First and last these are the best clothes made; and all we need to do to prove it to your satisfaction is to put you into them.

Just notice the lines of the suit shown in our illustration; get the soft swelling curve of that lapel; the little flare to the skirts; notice the way those trousers hang. That's the way such clothes really look on the real wearer; it shows the real clothes.

We have plenty more such styles; not all alike; a big variation in models and weaves. And your size. Suits $20 and up. Other Makes $10 to $20

BOY IS CRUSHED TO DEATH BY A TRUCK
Portland.—Sam Westerman son of Mr. and Mrs. David Westerman, 1004 East Eighteenth street north, while on his way to his home from the Vernon school, was crushed to death under the wheels of a trailer of an auto truck, belonging to the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, at East Twenty-first and Wygant streets. The driver of the auto truck was Gus Schwabel, an old employe of the company.

DECREE TO ARTIST'S WIFE.
"Hugo" Sues for Separation, But Sponse Wins in Cross Complaint.
Reno, Nev.—The wife of Fred Halo Stearns cartoonist and artist of New York, and Washington, better known as "Hugo," secured a divorce here. Stearns brought suit first, but the wife following him here from the east, filed a cross-complaint making counter charges which resulted in her obtaining the decree.

Lives of some men oft remind us to ask: "what's the use?"

MOTHER DROPS BABY 4 STORIES; MERELY JARRED
Auburn, Maine.—Snatched from its crib by a panic stricken mother, a baby was dropped out of the window of a burning building into the arms of a spectator four stories below, without injury and without awakening it from its sleep, during a fire. A man who saw the mother lean from the window, preparing to throw the child, caught it so gently that it was scarcely jarred.

USE FOUND FOR OLD SHIPS.
Stormed by Piratical Crews in Savage Attacks for Motion Pictures.
San Pedro, Cal.—Old ships that have gone down to the sea on their last voyage need not rest in the "boneyard" longer. They can be money-makers without the necessity of seeking a charter or the trouble of hunting a crew out of a dozen sailors' boarding houses; and they need not put to sea at all, or, if they do, only for a day's voyage on the Pacific main in the company of a tug.
The ancient bark Alden Besse has saved herself from the fate of being converted into a coal hulk or condemned to disuse forever. Today she is the most sought after ship in southern waters. The motion picture concerns all want her.

Already the still stately old windjammer has born the brunt of half a dozen "practical" attacks by "sea rovers" of the most savage men. Her decks have been the scene of sanguinary battles for lovely women and a half dozen "commanders" have bravely walked the plank and been quickly rescued by San Pedro boatmen with an eye to business.
Her owners say she never will be converted into a coal barge as long as her popularity with the film people lasts.

TRAMP GETS FIRST CHECK OF FORTUNE
Porterville.—John McDougall, who has been a hobo for the past twenty years and whose only means of livelihood has been an occasional remittance from England, while sojourning in Porterville received a letter from a firm of London solicitors advising him that he was one of a number of heirs to a large fortune. McDougall's share of the estate, according to the information, is $10,000.
As evidence of the authenticity of the letter a check for $100 was enclosed with the notification.
McDougall visited a clothing store where he exhibited his documents. After the purchase of some cheap clothing, he left for the "jungles," a hobo camp on the river bottom, with the assertion that as soon as he reaches Los Angeles he expected to "buy a wagonload of booze, an armful of Turkish cigarettes, $50 worth of room rent, and then for a jubilee."
Shortly after McDougall's arrival in the camp the officers saw the first of a series of trips of tramps from the river bed to a neighboring winery all sorts of pails and buckets being pressed into service.
