HIGH ATHLETES MAKE VERY GOOD SHOWING

THREE BOXING BOUTS AND ONLY ONE DECISION

Wrestling Match With Veteran Pitted Against Two Amateurs at Same Time. Proves Event of Evening—Broncho Busters All Unseated.

Fully one hundred and fifty people gathered in the Commercial gymnasium Saturday evening to witness the most successful athletic carnival ever pulled off by local high school students. One continuous roar of rooting and laughter testified to the appreciation of the novel treat offered through the efforts of Coach Asbahr and his assistants. Boxing bouts, wrestling matches and a long series of unique contests of strength and skill afforded the spectators all of the amusement they could stand in one evening.

Chester Fee and Claud Hampton opened the carnival with what proved to be one of the features of the evening, a biscuit shooting contest in which the two boys, seated astride a pole, belabored each other with a stuffed club. The title to the championship was left undecided owing to the bursting of one of the "biscuits."

In the boxing bouts, Joe Dorsey won a two-canto contest over Rex Gray, although in the opening inning his opponent succeeded in sending him through the ropes. Myers and Rayburn fought to a draw. The latter was outwitted but overcame the handicap by a cleverness which prevented a decision. Tallman and Brook, the directors' sons, mixed in a terrific three-round mill but neither was able to outpoint the other so that the "pickleweight" championship still hangs in the balance.

In the wrestling game, the bout in which Paul Finnell pitted himself against Mentzer and Cherrier, two freshmen, and agreed to throw them twice in an hour, was the most spectacular of the evening. Like a grizzly bear beset by a couple of snapping terriers, he tossed his opponents about the mat at will, but was unable to pin the shoulders of either to the mat. Finnell also attempted to out pull three freshmen and, though he did not succeed, he caused much meritment by sending one of his opponents somersaulting across the floor.

The Ferguson brothers put up a scientific grappling contest but were unable to determine the family championship.

The mule pulling contests were hard fought, Fee and Hampton with Strain and McDonald as riders pulling to a standstill. Both teams were assigned to the city fire department. The elephant race was an interesting feature of the evening, calling forth great response from the rooters. For this event two men are necessary to form one of the cumbersome animals, and the Sturdivant-Crockatt combination succeeded in crossing the tape a shade in front of the Fee-Hampton team, although the latter claim their opponents beat the gun.

The broncho busting contest proved a screamer. Rook was first saddled and, after some vicious bucking, succeeded in hurling "Shadow" Crockatt to the sod. Young Snyder on Art Ferguson, put up a clever exhibition of busting, while Krebs won applause by his success in eluding his captors. The artificial broncho, which consisted of a saddle fastened on a rail road tie suspended from the rafters and manipulated by a man from the joists above and one on the floor below, proved to be invincible. A purse of five dollars was offered to the man who stayed with the "outlaw" but one by one the riders succumbed to the pitching and tossing, even "Rattlesnake Pete" and "Texas" two well known Round-Up cowboys, finding their experience on the backs of Long Tom and Lightfoot inadequate to enable them to conquer this plunging steed.

A bull fight between Kerbs and Rugg furnished several minutes of amusement; after which the great pie eating contest began, Asbahr proving to be the speediest gourmand in the field. Rattlesnake Pete and "Texas" again figured in this fray and they finished with most of the pie clinging to their features. Fee and Rook also displayed appetites for pie of championship calibre.

A wild man race in which Krebs and his riders made the circuit first, concluded the entertainment.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Dr. Mann Opens Office in Portland.
Announcements are being received by his friends in this city of the opening of dental parlors in Portland by Dr. E. A. Mann, for many years one of the leading dentists of Pendleton. His offices are located in suite 919-920, Selling building.

Called by Sickness of Daughter.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olcott left this afternoon for Portland in response to a message from Dr. W. G. Cole stating that his daughter, Miss Hazel Olcott, who is stenographer for the Sieberling-Lucas Music Co., is seriously ill with heart trouble.

Improves His Grain Office.
Henry Collins, local manager of the Balfour-Guthrie Grain company, has made extensive improvements to his office in the Livermore building of Court street. His private office has been moved to the rear of the room and his front office has been equipped with new desks and a counter, while the floor has been covered with new linoleum.

Good Roads Meeting Is Called.
President H. J. Taylor of the Umatilla County Good Roads association today issues a call for a meeting of that organization in the Commercial club rooms next Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with the Commercial club committee no good roads. Important matters for discussion are to be brought up and every man interested in the improvement of highways is requested to be in attendance.

Fred Vincent Resigns Position.
Fred W. Vincent, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Vincent of this city, today resigned his position as manager of the Portland branch of the United Press association in order to accept a better position. Young Vincent is a capable newspaper man and is rising rapidly in the profession. He will be succeeded in Portland by Raymond Tarney.

Police Court Record.
Two drunks forfeited bail of five dollars each this morning. Their names appeared on the docket as William Vanover and William Barnhart. Walter Colter, the blind news-seller, was found guilty of using obscene language Saturday afternoon but sentence was suspended by Judge Fitz Gerald.

Has Had Enough of Alberta.
After trying for six years to make a success of farming in Alberta, Frank Rack, who came to Umatilla county forty years ago, has returned to Pendleton to remain on his five acre ranch at Riverside. He declares he has had enough of the northern country and makes very discouraging predictions regarding the crop prospects there, giving his opinion that the farmers will be fortunate to get their seed wheat back.

Jail Is Empty and Clean.
For the first time in some weeks the city jail is empty, all of the old offenders having served out their sentences. Contrary to the current impression the jail is not a place of with and vermin, but is kept so clean and sanitary that no housewife in the city could feel repugnance upon entering it. Chief of Police Kearney personally supervises the cleaning of the cement floors each day, while at frequent intervals he has the room fumigated. Were it not for the stigma attached to a jail sentence, a person should not feel much hesitancy in spending a night in Hotel Kearney.

Chickens Must Stay at Home.
Chief of Police Kearney is troubled by numerous complaints of chickens running at large and he intends taking vigorous measures to keep the truant fowls in their own back yards. The "chickens and the neighbor's garden" has long furnished stuff for jokesmiths but still the man with the garden is lacking in the necessary sense of humor to make him appreciate these jokes and he it is that is importuning the police chief to arrest the feathered robbers. Chief Kearney points out that a city ordinance requires chickens to be kept at home and he declares he will see that the ordinance is obeyed.

New Noodle House Opens Tuesday.
New and thoroughly modern noodle and chop suey parlors will be opened to the public Tuesday evening by the Un Company, in the State Hotel building, corner Webb and Cottonwood, which was recently leased for five years by the orientals. At the same time, the rooms, thoroughly renovated and improved will be opened again. In addition, the company plans in the near future to establish a laundry in the basement of their building and a Chinese store in the second room of the lower floor. The Chinese company is composed of Jim Gee,

Joe, Louie and Lung Un, all Celestials who have made Pendleton their home for many years and who have become known as energetic and honest workers. The noodle and chop suey parlors will be known under the name of the Con Dung Low Chop Suey and Noodle Parlors.

Fireman's Dance at Echo.
The seventh and last dance of the series given by the Echo fire department was given Saturday night. A large number of dancers were present. Music was furnished by members of the United Orchestra of this city.

Harry Hart Is Coming.
Harry Hart, the dog catcher, will be here on April 1, according to an announcement made this morning by Chief of Police Kearney. All dogs knowing themselves to be delinquent will be governed by the announcement.

McBane Is Bound Over.
Ralph McBane, the quarter breed Indian who is accused of horse stealing, was today given a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Nofberry and bound over to the federal grand jury under $1500 bonds. Deputy U. S. Attorney Johnson, formerly of this city, conducted the prosecution against him.

Roosevelt Club at Echo.
Echo is the latest town to develop a booster organization for the renomination of Teddy. Visitors from that city ring the news that 75 voters have been enlisted in the cause of making Roosevelt the republican standard bearer again and that these men will meet Wednesday night to perfect their organization and plan their campaign.

Round-Up Band in New York Paper.
In the American Musician and Art Journal published in New York and under date of March 9th, appears the picture of the Round-Up mounted band of this city, leading the grand march at the 1911 Round-Up. With the picture is a description of the membership, origination, etc., of the band and Round-Up. Altogether it is a great advertisement for Pendleton's fine musical organization and the Round-Up. The band men are now holding regular rehearsals in their new band room in the Armory and expect to have, if possible, a larger and stronger instrumentation than last year. It is intended to give a series of summer concerts at Round-Up park as soon as weather
