AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
An exceptional good program for Tuesday's change. Four full reels of the best pictures.

1. "The Picture Writer." Vitagraph. Chibbas, a young Indian picture writer of great skill, is in love with Honitas. When the chief Alkali Ike is a coward, Alkali Ike he banishes him from the tribal domains. Honitas is suddenly stricken and Chibbas risks his life to restore Honitas. He contracts the disease and dies, mourned as the bravest of the brave.

2. "Brutus." Kosmik. Believing Caesar is becoming too powerful in the state, Brutus and others conspire to take his life. Mark Anthony, a friend of Caesar, swears to avenge Caesar's death and Brutus is forced to flee from Rome. At the point of being overtaken he hurles himself upon the sword of a friend.

3. "Alkali Ike's Love Affair." Esanay. Alkali Ike is in love with a ranchman's daughter, but the father does not favor the match for he thinks Alkali Ike is a coward. Alkali Ike plans to show the father that he is no coward. Just how he does it if would be unfair to tell you.

4. "Life in the United States Army." Edison. With the cooperation of the war department the Edison company have been able to obtain a series of interesting pictures, showing the life of an army recruit from his enlistment until he reaches the standard of perfection demanded by the army authorities.

The Pastime.
The home of good pictures. Tuesday's change of program includes a Biograph feature and a Vitagraph feature.

"A Riot on the Escutcheon." Biograph. An excellent picture of Browning's very interesting poem, in which he presents in his inimitable manner the result of vanity. This well known story is very famous and the Biograph producer has made a scholarly production in it.

"The First Violin." Vitagraph. Deep and emotional in dramatic value; soulful in response and sympathetic heart interest. The first violin is played by Van Dyke Brooke. Coming from the theatre one evening he finds a little waif (Helen Costella) whom he takes home and cares for. The little player was never sweeter than in this picture. She is shown playing actress, later on she becomes a great actress and saves her benefactor from a life of poverty.

"Mother and Daughter's", Edison.

AT THE OREGON THEATRE

A comedy with a moral. Mother is the slave and the two pretty daughters think only of enjoyment. Their mother is taken ill and on account of their cooking they almost lose their best young men. They become different girls after this.

"Strike at the Little Johnny Mine." Esanay. A melodrama with all the features that combine to thrill an audience and win applause—here, heroine the innocent persecuted, wrongs righted, properly spiced with thrilling scenes and situations.

Musical program.
No. 1. That Railroad, Rag.
No. 2. The Pastime, Rag.
No. 3. Oh You Sally, Rag.
No. 4. That Carolina, Rag.
No. 5. Everybody Two-Step, Rag.

Cosy.
Monday and Tuesday, 40 full grown African lions in the hand-colored masterpiece.

"The Christian Martyrs." Gaumont. This story takes its theme from the cruel days when Nero threw Christians to the lions in the arena. We see the Christians gathering wood, and fleeing terrified before the lions. One, more courageous than his fellows determines to tame the beasts. We see him feed them and finally he was able to pet and embrace them and make them his friends. The Christians were taken by the soldiers to Rome and we see them praying in the dungeon near the arena, with the lions roaring behind the bars of their cages; finally we see one Christian thrust into the arena and a lion turned loose upon him; the lion made straight for the man but, instead of eating him, caressed him, for it was one of the lions the man had tamed. The empress and the spectators, thinking it was a miracle, let the Christians go. This is a great human drama, highly educational, extremely interesting and with a happy ending in spite of the dread theme of human sacrifice on which it is built.

"A Traitor on the Staff." Champion. War drama of '61.
"Uncle's Visit." Imp. A hobo was mistaken for uncle. Lots of laughs.
"Desperate Desmond Falls." Nestor. Trick comedy which is very amusing.

AT THE OREGON THEATRE

Without doubt, "Miss Nobody from Starland," the big musical comedy which will be seen at the Oregon theatre Sunday night, March 24, is the most ambitious and pretentious production ever staged by Mort H. Singer, who has considered no expense when engaging an adequate cast to support the clever prima donna, Olive Vail, and in the elaborate equipment of scenery and costumes. The costuming, it is said, is a revelation, setting a new pace for the lavish dressing of musical comedy. Included in over a score of musical numbers are almost an equal amount of song hits, and among the spectacular novelties is the famous dress rehearsal scene.

Author, star, comedian, principals, chorus girls and boys, stage hands, and last, but never least, the stage manager, all shown as in real life at a dress rehearsal of a musical comedy. The star fighting for the limelight, the comedian for laughs, the author for the sanctity of his manuscript, the chorus forgetting their evolutions, the property man falling to provide the rainstorm. This great scene is pronounced the greatest novelty of the decade.

In the title role of Miss Nobody will be seen Olive Vail, the popular musical comedy star who has been seen in other notable Singer productions. In addition to a cast of well known principals, Producer Singer has provided this attraction with the identical chorus of pretty girls so favorably commented upon when "Miss Nobody from Starland" was having its record run at the Princess Theater in Chicago.

HUNTINGTON CHURCH IS BULLET RIDDLED

Huntington, Or., March 19.—A wanton and malicious attack was made on the Methodist Episcopal church at this place, a perfect fusillade of 44 caliber bullets smashing the windows, splintering the folding doors that separate the main auditorium from the smaller rooms and passing through double walls, ruining the plastering of the building.

The church, which seats about 175 worshippers, is one of the best built churches in this district. It is beautifully finished in native woods and hard finish plastering. It has just been renovated and retinted.

The attack was made soon after the closing of the saloons. Some of the shots passed clear through the building.

This is the second attack that has been made upon this property in the last few weeks, and at about the same time of night. It is presumed to be a protest against the action of the church people in favoring measures for a cleaner city and against the wide open policy hitherto in vogue.

Sheriff Rand of Baker was immediately reached and the city marshal notified. The trustees have posted a reward notice of $50 for information that will lead to the arrest of the guilty parties.

WILL HE SHALL HAVE STATUE TO HIMSELF

Connecticut Man Leaves $30,000 for Pile and $30,000 for His Perpetual Care.

Waterbury, Conn.—Col. Watson J. Miller thought so well of himself during life that before he died he proposed that the people of Shelton, where he made his residence and owned a manufactory, should continue to think of him.

By manufacturing and saving money Col. Miller got together something like $300,000 in cash and real estate, and $50,000 of this sum must go as a perpetual reminder to the people of Shelton that Col. Miller was once one of them.

The Colonel got his title, not in the face of bullets and shells, but as a member of the staff of two governors. He was very proud of the title.

In leaving $50,000 to perpetuate his memory Col. Miller, whose will has just been filed here, showed that Col. Miller held Col. Miller in high esteem.

It has been suggested that the statue be placed in front of the town hall. Another has suggested the idea that the statue would add to the attractiveness of the cemetery, especially as it is to cost $20,000.

The balance of the estate is to go to relatives. They don't seem to be really fond of the statue that is to be built or of losing the $30,000 that is to be used to keep the monument in repair.

"Nobody ever did any more for Shelton than Miller," observed the Colonel before his death, "and Shelton ought to have something to remind it of Miller after he has gone. I counterfelt Miller is about the best thing I can think of, provided it looks like him. That's why I am going to leave Shelton my statue. It will do Shelton good to look at it."

"And since Miller always looked after himself while alive, I'm going to see that he is looked after when dead. That's why I'm going to put down some more money to keep his memory green."

Shelton doesn't know quite where to place a statue to the Commissary-General on a governor's staff, but will do it's best.
