Excursionists Were Left at Dalles.

Seven of the party of invading excursionists who reached here yesterday became quite interested in the scenery at the Dalles while they were stopped at that city, so the story told by one of the visitors goes, and when the special pulled out for Pendleton were left behind. Fortunately they were able to catch No. 18 a few minutes later and overtook their party at Umatilla.

Five in Police Court.

Five petty offenders were lined up before Police Judge Fitz Gerald this morning, having been caught in the police dragnet last night. Tim Burke, Charles Hansen and Harvey Crow all pleaded guilty to being drunk and accepted three day sentences. John Welch accused of vagrancy, and James Waiters, charged with being drunk, preferred to stand trial and will be allowed to defend themselves this afternoon.

Death Calls Weston Man's Wife.

Following an illness of several weeks, the wife of Earl Kirkpatrick, formerly a citizen of Weston, passed away yesterday at their home in Astoria, Washington. A brief message received last evening by Miss Anita Kirkpatrick of this city, a sister-in-law of the deceased, brought the news. Mrs. Kirkpatrick has visited Weston and other points in Umatilla county.

Paving Operations Begin.

Today the Warren Construction company began actual operations which will result in the paving of Cottonwood, Alta and Webb streets. A force of men was set to work at the north end of Cottonwood street this morning with pick and shovel in the work of reducing the street to a grade before the spreading of the pavement. The plant has been established at south Thompson street and the company plans to have its contract completed within six weeks.

Welles Seeks Information.

The following item appeared in the Oregon Journal of last evening and explains who are eligible as candidates for the office of county school superintendent:

Salem, Ore., March 20.—In response to an inquiry from Frank K. Welles or Pendleton, Attorney General Crawford today interpreted the state law to the effect that a person who does not have a state teacher's certificate or a first class county teacher's certificate is not eligible to hold the office of county school superintendent.

Old Hat Day at High School.

Today is "old hat" day at the high school which is a variation of the annual "stouch" day custom heretofore observed. In accordance with a degree issued by the upperclassmen all boys of the school appeared today with their classic highbrows surmounted by headgear, barbarous, antediluvian, battered, tattered, outworn and grotesque. Some of the more timid defied their conspicuous skypieces as they passed through the business district and one even went so far as to draw a battered and be-decked derby at the end of a chain.

No Longer With Company.

Harry Bickers of this city announced this morning that he will no longer represent the North Coast Land Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C. In this county owing to the fact that immediate attention to his personal affairs requires his entire time. However he declares he will willingly give any information regarding this country to those desiring same. George W. Peck from the Portland office will take temporary charge of the companies business in this county.

Wants Information of Dead Man.

Chief of Police John Kearney this morning received a letter from E. L. Middley of Riverside, Calif., asking for full particulars of the death of Sam Walker, the man found mangled and dead near Thorn Hollow last week. The writer states that he worked for the deceased three weeks but knows nothing of his relatives.

It's well to pay as you go and also to save enough to pay your way back.

13 YEARS NETS ONE MODEL OF MISSION

"This represents the investment of thirteen years of my life," said Rev. J. M. Cornelson, missionary at Tutuila, yesterday, as he exhibited a model which he has made of the mission plant to take with him to Spokane for the exposition which is to be held on April 17, 18 and 19 by the Woman's North Pacific Board of Missions. The model consisted of a group of miniature buildings, replicas of the mission church, the minister's manse, the home of various Indian workers, the barn and sheds, the water tank and windmill and all other outbuildings, so that anyone who has ever paid the mission a visit will recognize the model in an instant.

Rev. Cornelson took up the work on the reservation thirteen years ago and by indefatigable labor he has built up a mission which has become one of the greatest factors in the redemption of the redman. When he goes to Spokane it will be to exhibit at the exposition that which he and others of his kind are accomplishing in the missionary work among the Indians.

MEXICAN REBELS PREPARE TO REPULSE FEDERAL ATTACK

El Paso, March 21.—More than five hundred rebels are mobilizing today under General Salazar, at Jiminez to resist the threatened attacks of twelve hundred federal troops who are approaching from the south. They are in sight of Jiminez and there may be a big fight before night.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 21.—Chopped into an unrecognizable mass, the body of Miss Alma Miller, aged 32, was found in the kitchen of her home with a hatchet near. It is believed she was murdered by a maniac.

IDAHANS COME AND CONQUER

Secretary J. E. Keefe, in behalf of the Commercial association, bade the visitors welcome to Pendleton, inviting them back again for the Round-up and promising a good delegation to the Lewiston stock show next winter.

Response for the visitors were made by R. C. Beach, president, and Wallace R. Struble, secretary of the Idaho-Washington Development League. Clyde Beach, former mayor of Lewiston, and Dr. Perkins, present mayor, are both former Pendletonians. H. E. Sweet of Grangeville and others. All warmly complimented Pendleton on the hospitable spirit displayed and promised to send many hundreds of people here next fall to the Round-up.

They brought a serious message, too, however. They called attention to the fact that the northwest instead of raising more hogs, sheep, cattle and horses each year is raising less, pointing out that $18,000,000 worth of livestock had been shipped into the northwest during the past year. Their mission, they stated, was to arouse a new interest in the livestock industry, to point out the possibilities open before the rancher and to promote in every way possible the fulfilling of the great need of the northwest.

Will Make Excursion Annually. The visitors while here also announced that their junket trip this year was not a spasmodic effort to arouse new enthusiasm in an industry. They declared their excursion would be made a great annual event and that next year so great would be the party that several trains will be necessary to carry them.

They left for Walla Walla at 6:25 with their cheers from the train answered in kind by local citizens.

Receive and Give Papers.

While here the visitors were presented with free copies of the East Oregonian containing all of the freshest news from their home communities. However, they gave as well as took, for no sooner had their own stopped than members of their own party commenced to circulate copies of the latest issue of the "Development Herald" which is published every few hours aboard the special by means of a multigraph and a Mimeograph. The following is a copy of the Pendleton issue of the paper:

Greetings to Pendleton. Your people have made a nationwide reputation by the inauguration of the annual Round-Up and the people from all sections will come to your city by the thousands this fall. We were here last year in goodly number but look out for us this September.

Lewiston is the home of the Northwest Livestock association and on December 9th will open one of the greatest exhibitions ever held in the northwest. Every packing establishment in the northwest has promised to send buyers to the auction sale conducted in connection.

The livestock and commercial interests of the central Idaho and adjacent sections extend to you a most cordial invitation to attend our livestock show and enter your fat cattle, sheep and hogs and purebred animals of all kinds for the big premiums offered.
