ENGINEER'S REPORT ADDS TO INTEREST IN POWER SITE

would cost approximately $82,500 or $150 per horse power, for the development of 450 horse power, the amount which he figures necessary for the present requirements of the city.

Transmission and Distribution.

$55,000 is the approximate amount which he figures would be necessary for a transmission line from the power plant to Pendleton and for a distribution system in the city. He divided the cost as follows:

Transmission line, 30 miles at $150	$22,500
Sub station and step down transformers	2,500
Distributing system in city	30,000
Total	$55,000

Total cost of power plant, transmission line and distributing system ..... $142,000

Annual Cost To City.

The annual expenses to the city for the operation and maintenance of the 450 horse power plant he estimates at $22,230, divided as follows:

Interest on bonds at 6 per cent	$ 5,250
Operating expenses	6,700
Maintenance and repairs, 2 per cent	2,840
Sinking or renewal fund, 3 per cent	4,260
Total	$22,230

A charge of $56 per h. p. per annum would meet all of the fixed charges, he estimates.

"It should be born in mind," he writes, "in considering this project that while the first cost of the plant and lines is high for the small development, the property, that is, the site and water right connected with it, will have an ever increasing value for the greater development, the cost of which I have shown you is very low. The occupancy of this site will control the water right for power between the diversion point and the power house site. I have shown you that the irrigation rights can never exceed that necessary for the land in the valley below these points. I have placed the limit of such rights at 35 second feet but I believe it will be less than half when finally settled."

Location Best in Valley.

In speaking generally of the power site location, Mr. Whistler has the following to say:

"The Walla Walla river because of its rapid fall fluctuates very little in depth of water. In this respect it is, therefore, a desirable power stream for any plant. It apparently is not subject to those extraordinary high floods which make it so expensive to maintain good deliverance.

"About 2 1-2 miles below forks of the river on the south side, there is a fairly flat bench back of the rim rock which will provide reasonably cheap storage for daily fluctuation in power use or load factor. This more than any one thing fixes the location of the best power development plant in this part of the valley."

Estimates Are Conservative.

Notwithstanding Mayor Matlock's assertion that, judging from experience of most estimates on the cost of different projects, the actual cost of a municipal plant would prove greater than the estimates submitted, Engineer Whistler's report, as pointed out by Councilman Dyer, seemed to be very conservative, in almost all cases the figures being based upon extreme estimates. For instance, whereas the state engineer by his maps of the Walla Walla river valley shows the fall of the river between the proposed point of diversion and the proposed power site to be 380 feet, Mr. Whistler figures from a basis of 335 feet. He estimates that there is a 100 second feet minimum flow but makes his calculations on the basis of 95. From an investigation, he expresses the belief that there are not more than 500 acres of land which could draw water from the river for irrigation purposes but he assumes for his estimate that there are 1500.

FLAMES DARED TO SAVE LIVES OF HIS TWO DOGS

Mine Manager Rescues Brutes in Nick of Time, Then Wanders in Snow.

Nelson, B. C.—With his body terribly burned while rescuing his two dogs from a burning cabin, J. H. McDonald, manager of the British Empire Mining company, limited, near Fruitvale, wandered for hours through the snow before he found a prospector's cabin, where his injuries were dressed.

McDonald was awakened at midnight by flames, which enveloped his cabin.

He made his way outside in safety but remembering that his two dogs were shut in another room, he rushed back into the burning building and succeeded in throwing both dogs through a window just before the roof crashed in.

McDonald, who was clad only in the charred fragments of his underclothing suffered severely from exposure.

POMPEIAN FOOD AND WATER.

The One Found Petrified, Other in Copper Boiler on Range.

Naples.—In the excavation of the ruins of Pompeii a street leading to the Forum, closed at both ends by stone pillars to exclude carriages, now proves to have been one of the chief thoroughfares. It is lined with shops, the walls of which show inscriptions and marble tablets, which are well preserved. A great quantity of archaeological treasures has been found, and the investigators have gathered up a quantity of petrified fruit and meat.

In one shop a large terra cotta kitchen range was discovered on top of which rested an oval copper boiler in perfect condition, containing water which the scientists say, has been there since the time of the eruption, nearly two thousand years ago.

DRINKS FIRE IF CHARGED.

Liquor Bills Need Not Be Paid in Tennessee Judge Rules.

Memphis, Tenn.—Under the ruling of Judge A. B. Pittman of the circuit court, provided you can find a trusting bartender to give him credit, the court answered.

Judge Pittman, in the case of the Indianapolis Brewing company against James Fumia, ruled that the brewery could not collect rent from the defendant because both were engaged in the liquor traffic, made illegal by the state-wide prohibition law. No man need pay a brewery or saloon for goods purchased, provided such goods are under the ban of the law. Judge Pittman said.

"Your ruling means that any one can get drunk for nothing whenever he wants to, doesn't it?" Judge Pittman was asked.

"It does, provided he can find a trusting bartender to give him credit," the court answered.

FORMERLY A CROESUS, ARRESTED FOR BEGGING

New York.—Colonel Wayne Belvin, once a millionaire, and for several years president of the Port Angeles & Eastern Railway is under arrest here, charged with vagrancy. His arrest followed an appeal for alms to a plainclothes detective who was walking on Broadway. Belvin was a conspicuous figure in New York for many years. He inherited $600,000 from his father, and with it came from Richmond, Va., to New York about 1887. He was for a time very successful in stock operations, but by 1899 his luck had swung so far in the other direction that he was arrested for a debt of $143. In the course of the next few years he was arrested in Boston and Philadelphia for threatening suits against various wealthy men.

CONVICT BECOMES EXPERT.

In Plea for Pardon Man Says He Can Earn Honest Living.

Denver, Colo.—"You might as well let me go. It will do neither you nor me any good to keep me in the penitentiary any longer," said Stephen MacMillan, convicted burglar, in a plea for pardon filed with the state board.

MacMillan, who was sent to the penitentiary from San Miguel county in 1908, is one of the extremely few men who refused to become trustees. He devoted his time to study and has become a proficient electrical engineer.

Roosevelt Delayed. 23.—Col. Roosevelt's train was late here today. He was rushed across the city to catch a train for Portland, Me., where he speaks tonight.
