Into the copper box buried in the branch asylum cornerstone this afternoon went one document that deserves to rank as the best historical souvenir deposited. It was the original United States patent to the land on which the branch asylum stands. The land, comprising 173 acres, was filed upon in early days by J. H. Sharon, pioneer resident and father of Councilman J. L. Sharon. The patent to the land was not issued, however until January 15, 1876, and the patent bears the signature of President U. S. Grant. It was recorded in Umatilla county on February 26, 1876, and at that time the patentee, Mr. Sharon, was himself the county clerk and recorded the instrument.

The patent to the land has long been in the possession of Mrs. Sharon, widow of the departed pioneer, and at the suggestion of her son she gave the paper to the committee today for deposit in the cornerstone box.

Houston, Texas.—Houston is to have a municipal band and a municipal moving picture show. Both features will be in the pay of the city and their services will be free to the public at large.

May first the two innovations go into effect. The municipal band will consist of 30 pieces, both band and orchestra. The band will play nightly in the summer in the parks, while in the winter the band and orchestra will play free concerts in the new $400,000 municipal auditorium. In the winter two vocalists will be added to the music equipment of the city. The band also will be available for trade excursions and for boosting delegations to other cities when Houston goes in quest of conventions.

The moving picture show will be in the auditorium. Films will be shown Sunday afternoons and nights both summer and winter. The doors will be open free to everyone and it is believed the seating capacity will be generally filled. Lectures and other forms of entertainment will be provided by the city free of cost.

These features inaugurated by Mayor Rice are believed revolutionary in municipal government. But four other cities—Denver, Los Angeles, Pittsburg and Milwaukee—have municipal bands, but the winter concerts and the moving picture show, singing and lecture entertainments are hitherto unthought of phases of municipal government.

When the suffragettes get what they are after and an election goes wrong, a man will have one thing more to blame on his wife.

MUNICIPAL BAND; MOVING PICTURES FOR HOUSTON

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES FORMAL BEGINNING OF WORK

the selection of its architect and in its superintendent of construction. It has been fortunate in having a staff of experienced institutional men such as Dr. Stiener and Dr. Griffith and other able physicians at the central hospital at Salem with which to advise in the matter of preparation of the plans. These men have through their years of experience and repeated visits to the many institutions of other states gathered information which has been invaluable to the board and the state architect.

In planning this institution much thought has been given to the future and the plans provide for an institution above twice the size of the one now in course of construction. Owing to the fact that most of our state institutions were founded when the state was young and without any particular thought being given to the growth of the state and the needs of the future, the buildings afford neither convenience or attractiveness. These older institutions are a series of units representing the peculiar ideas of different superintendents and architects. The result is that many of them are not only unsightly but unsafe, insanitary, inconvenient and for these reasons far more costly of operation than they should be.

With this institution, however, it is different. Thought and attention have been given to the growth of the state and the needs of the future with the result that a magnificent structure has been planned, one part of which is being constructed at this time. Each unit, however, is complete in itself and as constructed will go to make up a harmonious whole.

It is my wish to see this farm stocked with nothing but pure bred. The dairy herd should be the finest. In other words it should be conducted as though it was an agricultural or experiment farm so that while producing crops for the use and benefit of the institution its fields and orchards and well bred stock and model dairy and hog barns and poultry yards will prove a source of both pleasure and profit to visitors from over the state.

These grounds will soon take on a different appearance. The rough and broken surface along the front of the site will be transformed into beautiful lawns and dotted with attractive shrubbery. The old fences and buildings will be removed and replaced with new where needed. Brush lands will be cleared and washed lands reclaimed and put under cultivation. To make a long story short, no time, energy or labor will be withheld or natural advantages overlooked in making this a model institution and together with the grounds when improved it will be the beauty spot of eastern Oregon.

In our anxiety for the beautiful, however, we should not overlook the poor unfortunates who will occupy the several wards in this institution. We should remember that they are helpless, irresponsible creatures and objects of pity and sympathy. They are wholly within the power and under the control of the superintendent. If the superintendent is lacking in honesty or ability or inadequately provided with funds for maintenance, the inmates of the institution must and will suffer. It is up to you to render the board every assistance in seeing that that institution when equipped is properly officered and conducted.

It is my wish that the staff of physicians and employes as far as is consistent with the needs of the institution be eastern Oregon people—that it may be made as near as possible a distinctly eastern Oregon institution.

There is one serious shortcoming, however which will be brought home to you as time goes on and that is the need of more farm land for the use of the institution. There is needed at least another section of first class land and the sooner we go after it the better. This should be provided for at the session of the legislature. If this is not done and the garden stuffs purchased in open market it will work a hardship upon the institution for the reason that its per capita maintenance cost will always be higher than the other institution and it is not likely that it will be allowed a greater sum by the legislature.

A Semi-Local Institution. Touching upon the local aspect of the branch asylum the governor declared that it will be a local institution in that it will be creditable to the community if it is well conducted and on the other hand will embarrass the community should there be scandal in connection with its management.

The Eastern Oregon hospital will be but one unit in the whole structure comprising our state government. Upon the management of these different units depends the standard of our state government. The management of these institutions reflects largely the standard of our citizenship because a stream can rise no higher than its source. In order that these different institutions may be properly managed and conducted and do their part towards making up a perfect system of state government it is necessary that we should not only interest ourselves in the affairs of these institutions, but we should at all times show a desire to raise our standard of citizenship in order that our citizens will daily become better equipped to respond not only to the greater needs of these institutions, but also to the greater needs of each and every department of our state government.

The comparison of this magnificent institution admirably equipped with all modern conveniences for the aid and comfort of the unfortunates who will occupy its different wards with that of a number of our other state institutions with their irregular, poorly located, insanitary, inconveniently constructed buildings, furnishes an object lesson in the building of character and the shaping of our lives.

Man is largely the architect of his own destiny and if we could only see our way clear to plan for the future as the architect has planned this great institution and in so doing make each period of our lives perfect in its unity, and in the end making a perfect whole well balanced and like this great institution, a credit to the community and serving a good purpose.

Colonel J. H. Raley, representing Mayor W. E. Matlock, followed the governor to the speakers' stand and expressed something of the feeling of the city which he represents upon the occasion of today. Secretary Olcott spoke of the institution to be from a business standpoint, telling what it meant in dollars and cents, of its completeness of equipment and of the capacity it will have.

Treasurer Kay's Address.

In the address by State Treasurer T. B. Kay that official dwelt upon the history of the Eastern Oregon hospital and particularly upon the work of the board in working out and adopting plans for the institution.

The Eastern Oregon Hospital is not being built merely for the present but with a view to the future needs of the institution, he said. The plans for the administration building, the heating plant, kitchen, etc., are such that the institution may be greatly enlarged without waste or change of the general arrangement and without spoiling the symmetry of the group. It will be possible to add two wings on each side of the structure that is now being erected and thereby increase the capacity of the institution to 1200 patients. At first about 500 patients will be sent here.

Much credit for the fact that the Eastern Oregon hospital is being built along modern lines was given by Mr. Kay to R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the asylum at Salem. By reason of his experience in that work Mr. Steiner was frequently consulted by the board and his ideas as to what should be done were often adopted.

In the course of his talk the state treasurer pointed out that it would have been physically impossible to erect the branch asylum on the hill ground proposed for a building site when the grounds were first purchased by the old administration. He also explained that it required much time to work out the plans for the branch asylum and incidentally explained the policy of the board in maintaining a state architect. That office has worked the saving of a large amount of money for the state already.

Other addresses were made by R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the state asylum, and by President J. F. Robinson of the Pendleton Commercial association, while at intervals during the program the band rendered its selections.

Reception and Dance Tonight.

Tonight, the gala day for Pendleton will be concluded with a public reception tendered to the visiting officials by the ladies of the city headed by the wife of the mayor. The affair will be held in the Eagle-Woodman hall and everyone is invited to attend and participate in the festivities. An orchestra will be present and those wishing may enjoy themselves with dancing.

NEW ENEMY OF TROUT IS FOUND

A new enemy of the trout has been discovered in southern Oregon, according to a letter just received by C. K. Cranston, chairman of the state fish and game commission, from L. Alva Lewis, district warden of Ashland. This enemy is a parasite described by Deputy Lewis as "a long slender worm, perhaps from four to six inches long and about the diameter of a large sewing needle," and pinkish white in color.

According to the letter, the worm attacks the trout by getting under the skin and is usually found coiled. Its presence is easily detected by the lump on the fish. Deputy Lewis writes that the only streams in which he has discovered fish affected by this parasite are two tributaries of the Silveia river which empties into Harney Lake and states that only in warm weather have such fish been found. He is of the belief that the parasite originated in the shallow water of the lake or in the marsh lands adjoining and thinks some measure should be taken to exterminate it.

Iowa Flooded.

Keokuk, Ia., March 26.—The surrounding country is flooded as a result of the forming of a seven mile gorge within a few hours. The government wing dam at Gregory, Mo., is in danger of going out at any moment. Ice banks are thirty feet high in the Des Moines river. As far north as Gregory, the railroad tracks are covered by three feet of water and there is no traffic here.

30,000 TEXTILE WORKERS THROWN OUT OF WORK

Lowell, Mass., March 26.—More than 30,000 textile millworkers were thrown out of employment here when the owners of every mill, except the Lawrence company's plant, announced a closedown. The action follows a strike of operatives at Hamilton, Mass., in the Bott and Prescott mills.

COLONISTS ARRIVING BY THE THOUSANDS

FORT GEORGE COUNTRY IN CENTRAL BRITISH COLUMBIA THE GOAL OF HOMESEEKERS.

Owing to Ever Increasing Demand for This Fertile Farm Land, Prices Are Expected to Soon Soar.

Buying lands in the fertile valleys of Central British Columbia, near Fort George, is not speculation. The Grand Trunk Pacific, Canada's great transcontinental railway, has just built into this territory and opened to settlement what is termed by all who have thoroughly familiarized themselves with the mild climate, rich soil and beautiful scenery, as "The Paradise of the Pacific."

British Columbia is an undeveloped region affording great opportunities to those who get in on the "ground floor."

As evidence of his great confidence in the British Columbia country, the Duke of Sutherland bought 10,000 acres of these lands in London during the year 1910. Later, he came out with a party of titled gentlemen and purchased 15,000 additional acres. This entire acreage is being cut up into 40 acre farms and will be colonized by the Duke of Sutherland, working in conjunction with the North Coast Land Co.

The farms will be cleared, fenced, barn erected and first crop put in.

The North Coast Land Co. will locate about 5,000 Scotchmen this spring on these lands which are about 20 miles S. E. of Fort George, on the Frazer river at a place called White's Landing. This company has also established a large German settlement about 5 miles S. E. of Fort George, many sections of land having been sold to the latter.

Where the North Coast Land Co. can sell six or more sections to any one colony wishing to locate in the Fort George country, they will assure the building of needed roads through the Provincial government; will deed enough land for school house, church and cemetery; will pay for one half of construction of school house and church and help the settlers in every way possible.

Two years ago there were only 200 people in Fort George; at present there are over 2,000 and at the end of this year we can reasonably expect a population of over 10,000.

Work is plentiful here. Land of all kinds has doubled in price in the last two years. What will it do in two more years when the railroads are all completed, when the land is well forward in development and homeseekers who will be arriving by the thousands from this on commence to reap their returns.

If you want to learn the truth about this great country, ask us.

NORTH COAST LAND CO., LTD., W. A. Seal, Pacific Coast Mgr., St. George Hotel, Pendleton.
