37 Letters in Surname.
Elkhart, Ind.—Elkhart boasts of a man with the longest surname in the state. It contains thirty-seven letters. The possessor is proprietor of a Greek candy kitchen and when time permits, or official title and signature are necessary, gets by with this: Pappathodorokkoun m outaourgeotopoulou, a cross between a sneeze and a sneer. When said P-and-so-on is in a hurry he signs his name Spero Michels.

The shortest name in Elkhart is that of John Bi, who wins over Oscar Ek, who held the record two years ago. It is declared that Elkhart county holds the unquestionable title to the shortest name in the state—Ed Ek.

He says his Christian name is Ed and not Edward, or any other combination with an "Ed" prefix.

STILL UNDER SEER'S SPELL.

Kansas Refuses to Prosecute Clairvoyant Who Robbed Him, He Says.

Salina, Kan.—Alleging himself under the "mysterious spell" of the man, Virgil Alderson refused to testify against Professor Almo, a clairvoyant accused of obtaining $600 from Alderson, and the case against the seer was dismissed.

Alderson declared that because of the "magnetic influence," he could not tell the truth on the witness stand when confronted by Almo. Alderson also asserted Almo didn't get the money with evil intent.

Almo, it was charged, had persuaded Tiderson to wear a "luck" sack about his neck containing six $100 bills, and then substituted slips of paper for the money. He was arrested as he was boarding a train.

Last Day for Filing Petitions.

Today is the last day for the filing of petitions by candidates for nomination at the April primaries. Up until 2 o'clock only one petition in addition to those already filed was presented, that one being filed by John M. Bentley, who desires to be reelected as constable in the Pendleton district.

Paving Progressing Fine.

The paving of Cottonwood is progressing splendidly, the warm weather contributing greatly to the rapid work. This afternoon the bitulithic binding has been applied to the crushed rock between Webb and Railroad streets and much of the remainder has been spread with rock. The plowing of Alta street is about completed and the work of graveling it will soon begin.

Voters Will Have Long Ballot.

County Clerk Frank Saling is today preparing the copy for the official ballot in the precincts of Umatilla county for the April primaries. It shows that the Pendleton voter will have about 71 names to consider before making his marks, the larger number being occasioned by the presidential and congressional election. The democrats will have less names to consider as they have not a full ticket in the field.

Miss Adna Raley Will Wed.

Coming as a surprise to many of her friends is the marriage of Miss Adna Raley, eldest daughter of Colonel and Mrs. J. H. Raley, to Arthur Colburn Harlow of Woodburn, which occurs this evening at the Raley home on College street. The wedding will be a quiet one, only a few friends being invited, and the ceremony will be performed by Rev. W. L. Van Nuys of Mt. Hood, formerly pastor of the local Presbyterian church.

Pendleton Students in Athletics.

A number of ex-Pendleton high school students will take part in an indoor athletic meet at the University of Oregon tonight, according to reports reaching here. Brooke Dickson will box Waldo Miller, who spent last summer in the city as an employe of the O.-W. R. & N. lock signal service, and Hawley Bean will go after points in the obstacle race and the high dive.

Husband Cruel; Sues for Divorce.

Minerva Lee today commenced suit against her husband, Richard F. Lee, for a divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Her complaint cites that they were married in Oakland in 1902 and have one child, Virgil Lee, aged 9 years, who until March 30 was attending the local schools, but who was on that date taken into Washington by the defendant. Plaintiff alleges that while they lived in Helix her husband frequently came home intoxicated and cursed and beat her and that since living in Pendleton assaulted her on one occasion and would have done her great bodily harm had not there been interference. She asks for the custody of the child. Will M. Peterson is her attorney.

Keeping a husband in hot water is a poor way to preserve him.

MABEL WARNER NOW SATISFIED FATHER LIVES

he left here he never went to Portland at all, but went straight through to the Dakotas and spent several years in those states and in Minnesota. From there he went to Chippewa Falls, where he lived until six years ago when he removed to his present home in Cadott. Mother had secured a divorce from him but when she married his brother, it hurt him and he wanted to get clear away from them. He writes that he married again and has two married daughters by his present wife. He also states that he has written me frequently, addressing the letters to Weston but I never received any of them and they were returned to him. My failure to receive them is strange for the Weston postmaster knew very well that I was living in Pendleton. He has been on the side of Dr. Watts all along and I believe he deliberately prevented the letters from reaching me. I have just learned that the Watts have known that my father is living for some time and they must have found out from the letters.

Will Throw Out Records.

In reply to the question as to what bearing her father's advent would have on the fight over the estate of her uncle, she declared it would mean that all of the records in the seven year legal battle would be thrown out of court. "My father's name appears to a number of documents," she said, which contest my rights to the property and he declares he has never signed such a document. With my help and the help of God I will yet fight the wrong which has been done me."

Mrs. Warner's Funds Low.

Mrs. Warner is about "broke" now and finds it difficult to prosecute the fight she has been waging for seven years. The expense of the three trials for forgery and the heavy cost of the civil actions which she has taken have absorbed all of the money which she had and all of the several thousand dollars which her present husband had when he married her. Her brother, Fred Young, who is named as a beneficiary in the "seventh" will, is financing the attempt to probate the recent find.

STEALS $100; SPENDS ALL ON "ONLY GIRL" HE HAS

New York—Herbert Pester, 16, of 26 Clinton place, Brooklyn, pleaded guilty before Judge Swann in general sessions to the theft of $100 from his employer.

"What did you do with it?" inquired Judge Swann.

"Spent it," replied the boy.

Judge Swann read a list of articles bought by the boy.

"Here's an item of theater tickets and candy," remarked the judge.

"Who is the girl?"

"My mother," replied the boy, "she is the only girl I have."

Judge Swann remanded the boy to have his story investigated.
