WILLIAM HALE IS DEAD AT MILTON

Milton, Ore., April 13.—The death of Mr. William Hale comes as a great and sad surprise to the people of Milton and vicinity. For a number of years he has been one of the most active business men in this section, being engaged in the furniture and undertaking business.

The deceased was born near Martinsburg, Missouri, where he spent the early years of his life, coming to Milton in the year 1905. He was twenty-eight years of age at the time of his death.

Up till last Monday morning Mr. Hale was in his usual good health, and his illness was so sudden that many of his friends knew nothing of his condition until Friday. Even though his condition has been critical for the past two days, those at his bedside never gave up hope until the hour of his death, which was 5 o'clock. The cause of death was peritonitis.

The time of the funeral service has not yet been decided upon and will not be till the arrival of the parents from Martinsburg, Missouri.

They were notified of Mr. Hale's condition several days ago and it is supposed that they will arrive here in the morning, and no arrangements will be made until their arrival.

The deceased is survived by a wife, father, mother, four brothers and two sisters, all of whom reside near their old home in Missouri, excepting his wife, Mrs. Kate Hale.

SHOT AND KILLED ON EVE OF WEDDING

Georgian Embracing His Promised Bride is Assassinated by Man Who Thought He Was Caressing His Wife.

Macon, Ga.—The death of Charles X. Taylor, the son of one of the wealthiest and most distinguished families of Georgia, as the result of being shot by Franklyn Tindall, a bookkeeper, culminated in the latter's commitment to the county jail on a charge of murder, although the coroner's inquest held that the homicide was justifiable. The father of the dead man swore out the warrant which will hold Tindall in jail until the trial.

Almost on the eve of his wedding to Lulu Isabella Carter, a poor but pretty girl, with the marriage license in his pocket and practically with in her embrace, Taylor was shot down and killed by Tindall.

The Carter family had planned to go to Smithville, Ga., to live. They were to stay at the home of Tindall, who married one of the Carter girls. Taylor met his promised wife down town and walked out to the Tindall home. They were sitting on the steps arms around each other affectionately, when Tindall approached. It was dark and he but dimly recognized the forms of a man and woman. He says he thought it was his wife. At any rate he pulled his pistol. Taylor arose and advanced. Tindall fired and Taylor dropped with a bullet through his brain.

Taylor was well and prominently connected throughout the state. In 1904 he married a hospital nurse who attended him during an illness, but last year she divorced him. Late-ly he has been very attentive to Miss Carter, although his family opposed the match. Her family also objected, believing that he was trifling with her.

SOCIETY GIRL PROVES A SUCCESSFUL LOBBYIST

Member of Baltimore Smart Set Gets Working Women's Bill Through the Legislature.

Annapolis.—Members of the legislature admitted that the passage of the ten-hour day bill for working women was largely due to the untiring efforts of Miss Margaret Carey, daughter of Mrs. Frances King Carey. Miss Carey is one of the best known members of Baltimore's younger social set, having made her debut in the season of 1910-1911.

She is a beautiful brunette and has the ingenious manner of a young girl in her "teens," and her knowledge of the technical points of the ten-hour bill would do credit to a lawyer. It is this knowledge, they say, coupled with her attractive manner of pleading which won the members to her cause. Miss Carey is an authority on the subject. She had studied thoroughly the decision of the United States supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the Oregon law, limiting the working day, and she argued effectively and held the members to their promises.

The better the doctor the less he has to say of his ability.

Beats Railroads: Weds.
Bridgeport, Ohio.—Immediately on receipt of money in settlement for a suit for damages against a railroad company here, Daniel Leroy Withers of Martins Ferry, stepped into the office of the probate judge with Lillie Elizabeth Miller and was married.

Withers was coming from his home in Martins Ferry last fall to this city to call upon Miss Miller. A conductor refused to take a transfer and Withers sued for $2000 damages.

In coming to this city to this city the case had started when the company settled the case.

WON'T WED "RED-EYED OLD TERRAPIN"

"I'm Not 18, Only 14," Says Girl and Man of 61 Gets no Marriage License.

Washington.—"Don't! I will not marry that red-eyed old terrapin, and I'm not eighteen years old—I'm only fourteen!"

This explanation of a country girl startled the officials at City Hall. The man was Louis Garrison, sixty-one; the girl, Myrtle Baldwin.

Accompanied by Mrs. Lulu Deane and Goodwin Mellow, Garrison and the Baldwin girl—all from Stafford county, Va.—appeared at the City Hall. Garrison made application for a marriage license. When he gave the girl's age as eighteen and she began to cry, Clerk Kroll became suspicious. He summoned an officer and the four were taken to the district attorney's office, where they were examined. It transpired that the aged suitor was the only one who had any knowledge of the impending marriage ceremony.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

Five years ago this month eloped from the Hempstead, L. I., home of her wealthy grandmother, Mrs. Mary Whaley, with the Rev. Jere Knode Cooke, then pastor of St. George's Episcopal church of Hempstead, where August Belmont is senior warden, is back home for a visit with her two babies and the unfrocked rector.

In defiance of all conventionalities the young woman is supremely happy, has been welcomed to the arms of her grandmother and is three times an heiress. This week she will receive $8,000 from an uncle's estate, next year she will get $25,000 from her father's estate, and her grandmother has assured her that she will share equally with her sister Edna in the $150,000 estate of Mrs. Whaley.

Moreover the Rev. Knode Cooke has built up a prosperous decorating business in San Francisco, where he took the name of Gerald Balcom and won a host of friends.

The only missing link from the young woman's chain of happiness lies in the fact that the man she eloped with is still unable to legally father her children, never having been divorced from the wife he abandoned for the pretty 16-year-old girl. But "Floretta Balcom" is not worrying over this, confident that it will not be long before the divorce is obtained.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by special agent, Pendleton Drug Co.

of the Umatilla river. The storm of which he spoke occurred late in February, but as the snow is only now disappearing sufficiently to permit of travel through the mountains the full effect is just becoming apparent.

Continuing Purdy said: "It is hard to believe that such damage could be inflicted to trees by snow alone, but the mountaineers tell me the storm was unaccompanied by wind and that the great trees were broken down by the weight of the snow alone. It froze to the branches as it fell, not unlike the 'silver thaw' of western Oregon, but the extent of damage was far greater. There are areas of considerable extent where less than half the timber is left standing. Great trees, three feet in diameter and more, were snapped off just above the base or several feet in the air, while others less deeply rooted were torn up as by a cyclone. Others are bent over into a hopeless tangle, never to rise again. Possibly worst of all is the mass of broken boughs which have literally buried the ground, making mountain trails impassable and providing a veritable tinder box for future forest conflagrations."

According to Purdy there is not a passable trail left in the forest and the rangers will have a hard task at the opening of the season. He said he was compelled to carry an ax with him and then to pick his way around the bare ridges as much as possible. Many trails are pronounced impassable even to footmen.

There never has been so much snow in the mountains at this season of the year, according to the old settlers. They look upon this condition with favor, as it means there will be plenty of water in the mountains for their stock and that the range, while possibly a few weeks late, will be in splendid condition for the late summer. The grass has been growing under the snow and as fast as the snow line is moved back by the present warm weather the ranchers are following it up with their herds of cattle. The sheepmen will not be admitted to the national forests for several weeks yet.

DIPLomat AS DOG CATCHER.

Ambassador Jusserand Takes Fancy to Pup and Pursues It Till Exhausted.

Washington.—Following the inter-city fencing contest for a silver cup offered by the French Ambassador, M. Jusserand, society was treated to the extraordinary spectacle of that dignified diplomat chasing a homeless yellow dog down the street.

As M. Jusserand was about to enter his carriage he saw the dog and, taking a fancy to him, started in pursuit. At the end of a block the ambassador was out of breath and had lost his hat. A footman was more successful and M. Jusserand returned to the embassy with the dog under his arm.

CHEER UP! MAYBE YOU WILL.

Drinkers Who Abuse Families Should Drown in Beer Vat, Says Judge.

Philadelphia.—Magistrate Grellis wants a new statute under which he may punish men who drink and abuse their families. He wants this action to be made a capital offense, the offender to be sentenced to drowning in an immense beer vat, in which he would have to swim until overcome with fatigue when he would sink and with his dying breath create a bubble of beer. At all events this is what the magistrate announced this morning when he heard the case of Joseph Harrington, who drove his wife and seven children into the street.

SCIENTIST CURES HIMSELF WITH NEW RABIES REMEDY

Pathologist Startles Medical Men by Discovery of Home Treatment.

Philadelphia.—Professor D. L. Harris, city bacteriologist of St. Louis, startled the American Association of Pathologists in session here by announcing that he had discovered a home cure for rabies and that furthermore he had tried the cure on himself and was convinced of its value.

The cure of Professor Harris consists of an improvement of the Pasteur treatment. Under that treatment it is necessary practically to kill a rabbit each day in order to get the brain for inoculation purposes.

Under the system devised by Professor Harris, through a process of freezing his brain in such a state that the virus retains its strength for 148 days and may be carried around in a hermetically sealed jar and used as an injection.

Professor Harris asserts that when he was bitten by a mad dog he experimented with himself with this frozen cure and he found it to be successful. Since then, he declared, he had experimented upon at least twenty persons in St. Louis who had been bitten by mad dogs and in every case the frozen virus had the same effect as the Pasteur treatment.
