Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Sells-Floto Circus Coming.
Heralds were received here yesterday announcing the coming of the big Sells-Floto circus to Pendleton on Thursday, June 6, and children and many grown-ups will keep that date in their memory and eagerly await it.

From Washington to the Round-Up.
The Round-Up association has received a telegram from a resident of Washington, D. C., asking for Round-Up literature and advice as to cost. A consultation of the directors was necessary to determine whether the man wished to know the cost of the literature, of the Round-Up or the expense of a trip from the capital here and attendance at the big show.

ENGINEERS MAY STRIKE TONIGHT

New York, April 19.—(Bulletin.)—Unless the managers of the railways in the territory east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river reconsider flat refusal to advance the wages of locomotive engineers, the worst railroad strike in the history of the United States will begin. Grand Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, served their ultimatum on the roads today. The men are prepared to act by 8 o'clock tonight. Unless the railroads meet the demands by that time they will have only two hours notice of a strike.

WOULD EXTEND MEDIATION.

Judge Knapp Advocates Board to Arbitrate All Industrial Wars.
Washington.—The creation of a federal board of mediation and conciliation, ultimately to arbitrate industrial wars in all branches of business, was advocated before the house interstate and foreign commerce committee by Judge Martin A. Knapp, who presides over the United States commerce court. Judge Knapp and Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, who also advocated such a commission, are the arbiters under the Erdman act. The committee is considering the extension of the mediation and arbitration features of the existing law to include the coal mining industry.

700 LAWSUITS IN LIFETIME.

Indian Had Not Been Without Court Litigation for Half Century.
Lawrenceburg, Ind.—Job C. Miller, age 81, is dead of double pneumonia and heart disease. Miller was the largest landowner in southeastern Indiana. He was more in litigation than any other person in this part of the state, having been engaged in more than seven hundred lawsuits during the last sixty years.

The majority of these cases were damage suits against railroad companies.

Miller dismissed the last two suits he had in the Dearborn circuit court during the January term, and said it was the first time for over a half-century that he did not have a suit filed or pending in the court.

He is survived by three sons, Job, Ike and the Rev. Thomas A. Miller, and a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Halverstadt, of Kokomo, Ind.

DESCRIBES TERRORS OF AERIAL WARFARE

First Attack on Enemy by Aviator and Bomb Thrower is Hair-Raiser.

London.—Lieutenant Giuseppe Rossi, who recently made a daring reconnaissance over the Turkish-Arab camp outside of Tobruk in an aeroplane, which was riddled by bullets, the companion he carried being wounded by the shots from this miscellaneous force, describes in a letter how it feels to be shot at while flying. He writes:

"Captain Montu and I ascended on the morning of January 21 and took the direction of the enemy's camp, some eighteen miles distant. We were out on a reconnoitering expedition and also to test a bomb we were carrying.

"After we had covered half the distance we sighted the first group of Arabs, who at once opened fire on us. At this point I felt that I should not be sorry to abandon our trip, but was ashamed at my want of courage and steered resolutely for the camp after signaling to my comrade to have his bomb ready to drop on the enemy.

"A hundred yards from the center of the camp I gave a second signal and received an answering signal from Captain Montu that the bomb had fallen. In order to watch the effect I steered to the left and saw a thick cloud of dust rise from the ground, and men, horses and camels dashing in all directions. It was a wonderful sight. The bomb had fulfilled our expectations, but our joy over this realization was greatly dampened by the incessant volleys which were fired at us.

BRITONS GAINERS BY OWNING TELEGRAPH

Under the Government System Messages Are Sent for Twelve Cents.

London.—In view of the suggestion that the United States government should buy and operate the telegraph system a few facts about the government operation of the telegraph in Great Britain will not be uninteresting.

The British government has owned and worked all the telegraph lines in Great Britain and Ireland since 1870. The government paid approximately $50,000,000 for them.

The telegraph system is run by the postoffice department, which now also owns and operates the telephone system.

Every postoffice in the kingdom is also a telegraph office and a telephone office.

To send a telegram you buy stamps and stick them on the blank, just as you would stick stamps on a letter to send it.

It costs twelve cents to send a twelve-word telegram anywhere in the kingdom. Each additional word costs a cent.

You can have a telegram delivered immediately anywhere. If the person to whom the telegram is addressed lives within a mile of the postoffice it is delivered free. If he lives further away you can have it delivered at once by special messenger by paying six cents a mile for the distance which the messenger has to go.

Puts End to Bad Habit.
Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feeling and "the blues" beat for stomach, liver and kidneys, 25c. Koepfens.

It's a Dog-Gone Shame

that a puppy should be too affectionate in the street in muddy weather, but both ladies and gentlemen have good redress when we get their garments to clean. They are made to look like new again. And no matter how delicate the fabric may be, we never injure it in the cleaning operation.

The $15 Watch for Business and Professional Men

Doctors, lawyers, preachers, merchants, bankers, editors, politicians, candidates for offices and travelling men—take notice.

A dollar alarm is good enough for measuring your sleeping hours but if you want other folks to respect the value of your time you must give them some evidence that it is valuable. Don't measure your real life, your working hours, with a miniature alarm clock fitted in a tin case, with a paper dial. Own a real watch. You'll find a many sided satisfaction in it. I don't know where you can buy more watch value for $15.00 than I offer.

Your future watch is an Elgin, guaranteed by the makers and me.
