Springfield, Mass.—The Rev. William O. Peterson has been taken to the almshouse in his ninety-sixth year. Mr. Peterson has preached the gospel for more than seventy years and his ambition to round out a ministry of seventy-five years by preaching until his hundredth birthday seems unlikely to be realized. Mr. Peterson was born in Stephenson, N. Y., and for forty years occupied pulpits in Northern New York. Despite his age he had until recently derived from supply preaching sufficient funds to prevent his becoming a state charge. Mr. Peterson is a Methodist and the annual conference of New England Methodist churches, now in session in Springfield, is the first he has missed in many years. This afternoon's conference proceedings were devoted to foreign missions. No missionaries were reported to be in the poorhouse.

TITANIC SKIPPER REFUSED RESCUE

CAPTAIN SMITH SAID, "I'LL FOLLOW THE SHIP"

New York, April 22.—At the American Seamen's Friend society institute where 150 members of the rescued crew of the Titanic are being fed, clothed and housed, G. A. Hogg, able seaman, told of the fate of Captain Smith. Hogg said that as the Titanic sank, a big wave washed over the side and he landed on a raft carrying 35 persons.

"The next moment I saw Captain Smith in the water alongside the raft. 'There's the skipper,' I yelled, 'give him a hand,' and then I did. But he shook himself free and shouted to us, 'Good bye, boys, I am going to follow the ship,' that was the last we saw of the skipper."

Woman Dies in Life Boat.

Hogg said they were transferred later to a lifeboat in which there was a woman, stark naked. She was numb with the cold and some of the men took off their clothing and wrapped her up in them, but she died soon after.

The wife and daughter of Emil Taussing of this city were taken to the home of Mrs. Taussing's father, Wm. Mandalls. Both were suffering from exposure and grief. They said Mr. Taussing and Henry B. Harris, the theatrical manager, who with his wife, rushed with them to the deck when the collision was felt, were threatened with revolvers when they attempted to get into a lifeboat, although there was plenty of room for them. Mrs. Taussing said that the boat into which she, her daughter Ruth and Mrs. Harris was placed, pulled away from the Titanic with several seat spaces empty and that she considered her husband and the theatrical manager were sacrificed needlessly.

Waved Last Farewell. The last Mrs. Taussing saw of her husband and Harris was a few moments before the liner plunged out of sight. The men, she said, stood side by side, embracing each other and waving their hands in farewell to their families.

Mrs. Taussing said she heard several shots and that there were three distinct explosions, one following closely upon the other, before the Titanic disappeared. What the firing meant she did not learn.

Assist Nature. There are times when you should assist nature. It is now undertaking to cleanse your system—if you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla the undertaking will be successful. This great medicine purifies and builds up as nothing else does.

Puts End to Bad Habit. Things never look bright to one with "the blues." U. S. CHLORIFORMS BRONX KANGAROOS

Six Dwarf Animals Caught by New Yorker to Be Put to Death Today.

San Francisco, Cal.—Among the passengers who arrived on the Orient on the liner Tonyo Maru, was K. N. Painter of New York, who has been travelling in the out of way corners in the Far East and incidentally collecting rare birds, which he will present to the Bronx Zoo.

The birds of his collection, however, was not birds, but a half dozen dwarf members of the kangaroo family. They are the only specimens of their kind in this part of the world and Painter looked forward with collector's pride to making the New York naturalists sit up and take notice when he turned them over.

Alas for his hopes. The Federal Agricultural Department classified the kangaroo as deer and refused to permit them to be landed under a law which forbids the importation of members of the deer family from the Far East. The six tiny and beautiful animals have been sentenced to death and today will be given a chloroform "pass" to the happy hunting ground.

Painter has about 150 rare birds which he bought in different parts of the Far East, but he is heartbroken at the fate in store for his miniature kangaroos.
