COLFAX IS PAVING.

Work of Paving With Bitulithic Covers Greater Portion of Street Area of City.

The work of grading the south end of Main street preparatory to paving has started at Colfax with a large force of men and teams and the paving company's steam plow, says the Spokane Spokesman. The work of establishing the grades and constructing the curbing on both sides of the street is almost completed, and it is expected that within two months Main street will be paved from the Catholic church north to the court house. The sharp grade at the south end of Main street will be finished with a rough surface, which will eliminate the slippery condition of the street during rainy and snowy weather. While this rough finish was not stipulated in the contract existing between the city and the Warren Construction company, the company will add this feature to the paving of all steep grades free of extra charge.

After the south end of Main street is finished the paving crew will be divided and the work of paving the residence district in the south end and the north end of Main street from the court house to the O-W. R. & N. ce-pot will be started. After this is accomplished the company will start work on paving the Perkins addition district and the Cooper street district which in all, comprises almost the entire street area of the city south of the O-W. R. & N. tracks.

Notice to Stockholders.

Notice is hereby given to the stockholders of the Pendleton Wool Scouring and Packing Co., that a meeting will be held in the office of the company in Pendleton, Oregon, on Tuesday, May 7th, 1912, at 2 p. m.

DEFEAT WHITMAN

Rain Stops Game in Seventh Inning With Score Standing Four to Three.

Garrett's Buckaroos hung another amateur scalp at their belts yesterday afternoon when Whitman college's snappy team was given the short end of a 4-3 score. The game was called in the seventh by Empire Nelson on account of old Jupe Pluy's dissatisfaction with the exhibition.

The contest was not exactly the best that has been pulled off in Pendleton in recent years but the fluctuation of the advantage was sufficient to keep up interest when the character of the play lapsed at odd instants into a No. 2 variety. Hits were rather scarce, but that fact was not sufficient to keep the bases clean for when errors did not turn the trick the pitchers charitably issued passes to the batters. In this latter act the Whitman twirler was unusually beneficent and it was to his philanthropy rather than to a cannonade on the part of the leaguers that the game went the way it did. He permitted eight batters to make a safe landing on first by the four ball route, one by the h p way and three via the safe single.

Mountain opened up for the Buckaroos and was touched up a bit before he settled down. Osborne twirled the last two innings and the collegian suggests forfeited their title to the name before his bewildering speed and slants.

The Walla Walla lads were first at bat and their opening action made the fans gulp hard for awhile. Hughes, first up, put one down to short which Augustus failed to get to first by a scant foot in time to catch the runner. Gale then laid down a neat sacrifice whereupon the hardhitting Niles laid his bludgeon on the pill for three clean bags. Peringer followed with a corking single over second and the second run was registered. Here Mountain tightened up and after catching Peringer off second, fanned Rolstead and retired the side.

In their half the Buckaroos managed to come back with one. With the first two down, Lodell slammed out a double and came home a minute later when Nadeau's high fly was dropped through a collision of Hughes and Meese.

Number two came in the second by reason of a base on balls, a wild pitch and an error while the third caught gave them the lead. Two men had gone dead when Nadeau was issued a pass and purloined second, from which station Davolt brought him in with a hot single. Mensor followed with a single through short, but with two on, Pembroke failed to get the ball past short.

The collegians evened up the score in the fourth when Peringer made the circuit through the assistance of two errors and a wild pitch but in their half of the inning it looked for a minute as if Garrett's men were going to make a bunch. Three men were put on bases by Captain Cleman's wildness but a crossing of signals resulted in Augustus being caught between third and home for the final out. In the fifth, however, they again took the lead when Davolt was enabled to travel all four paths by a pass, a passed ball, an error and a sacrifice fly by Mensor.

At this juncture, the skies began to leak and, after another inning and a half, Umpire Nelson waved the players off the field.
