ABOUT STREET PAVING.

Numerous remonstrances have been filed against street paving and on the face of things it would appear there is little likelihood of further street work this summer.

The remonstrances filed were not circulated as a protest against paving in any form but rather against one particular class of paving suggested by the council—bitulithic pavement of the same sort as has been laid in the business district.

From reports this paper has received from many sources a large element of property owners on all the streets affected are willing to stand for a hard surface pavement provided they can secure the same at prices that seem reasonable.

There are also good reasons for believing that the fight for a lower price has brought results. Both the

"TRAVEL IS EDUCATION."

Warren company and its competitor the Dolorway concern, show a disposition to meet property owners part way. It is only right they should. Street paving should not be exorbitant in Pendleton. Labor is plentiful these days and Pendleton has the raw material for street work close at hand.

It will be fortunate if the property owners and the paving companies can get together on amicable terms. Pendleton needs a vast amount of street work and needs it badly.

COMING ALONG.

Stanfield entertained last evening and did it well if one may judge from the words of praise bestowed by local people who attended the affair down there last night.

A few years hence Stanfield will be able to do even better than yesterday. The west end is still largely in the raw land period. Vast strides have been made during the past two or three years, yet there is still much to do. Down among the irrigators it is still mostly work and little play. Much money goes out and little comes in.

THE FLAG WILL STAY.

The country and the flag are beset with twin evils. Unrestrained capitalism would make the republic a meaningless thing and with invisible hand write the dollar mark over the stars upon Old Glory.

and the flag will flutter in the breezes through the sunshine and the storm.

With Major Lee Moorhouse as secretary of the district fair the show this year is assured of success. With the Moorhouse exhibit on display and with the fish and game exhibit planned by Chairman Cranston the fair will be worth while even if other things should be lacking.

The cat that leaped from the top of the Hendricks building to the pavement below is a high diver. The stunt was worthy of a large audience.

When Homer Davenport reaches the spirit world he may find several gentlemen waiting for him. Mark Hanna among the number.

Mr. Ismay has sailed for home and it is safe to say he will tell his friends that the Yankees are a very rude set.

The funny thing about the Massachusetts primary is that the Old Bay state has always posed as being classic.

Don't get too friendly towards any particular class of paving. When people get "nutty" they often get picked.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

A letter from the Woman's Campaign Committee of Portland, to the secretary for eastern Oregon says: "We are almost over our heads with work down here, but we all stopped to cheer for eastern Oregon when we got the news from the convention at Pendleton."

The news referred to was that the State Sunday School convention passed a resolution endorsing the suffrage amendment. The resolution not only carried but elicited most hearty applause.

Organization work will be started in Union county soon, beginning at La Grande and Union.

The primaries will be held in California May 14. Registration is now over and the county clerk's books show that there is no falling off in registration of women.

Nearly ninety thousand qualified to vote in Los Angeles. Will all Oregonians please take novice. Missouri has fallen into line and will vote on equal suffrage at the next election. Shall it be "Oregon next," or either one or all of six others that will lead?
