MAJ. BUTT BURNED PAPER AS SHIP SUNK

Binghamton, N. Y., May 4.—That Major Archibald Butt, shortly before the last lifeboat put off from the Titanic, retired to his cabin and burned many papers, which she said she believed were "diplomatic documents," was the statement made here by Mrs. H. A. Cassaber, Jr., a Titanic survivor, who insists she is going to Washington to tell her story before the senate committee. Mrs. Cassaber has been in a serious condition ever since she landed from the Carpathia.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.

An extra good program for Sunday's change. Four full reels of the best pictures.

1. "The Torn Note." Pathe. A young man accused of murder he did not commit visits his sister to obtain money. His sister's husband witnesses his leaving by the window and suspects his wife. He drives his wife and child from home, but everything is finally explained and the husband makes amends for his unjust suspicions and firmly resolves in his heart never again to be carried away by a blind passion.

2. "Driftwood." Selig. A tale of mistaken identity in the slums of a large city. The bread line and the rich man's mansion.

3. "Becky Gets a Husband." Lubin. This terrible tangle showing the difficulty in mixing a Jewish family with an Irish family. Becky Cohen and Pat Casey next door neighbors, start a flirtation and eventually fall in love.

4. "The Alligator Farm." Lubin. Thousands of little alligators scramble over one another in the ponds, while the big fellows show fight to the keepers who laugh at their wicked attempts to bite.

5. "California Ostrich and Pigeon Farms." Lubin. A wonderfully interesting picture of an extensive institution in lower California. The great birds appear to enjoy civilization. The beauty pigeons rise in clouds and return to their homes and keepers.

6. "Broncho Billy and the Girl." Essanal. A splendid Western drama with G. M. Anderson. Broncho Billy, a lawless western renegade, feels out of the lawless saloon and comes face to face with the town preacher. The preacher tries to show him the error of his ways but he laughs and goes his way. Nan Fowler, a pretty ranch girl, finally leads Broncho Billy to the right path.

The Pastime.

The home of good pictures. Special features for Sunday's change of program.

"A Leap Year Elopement." Kalem. The laugh provoking story of the 1812 prerogative. It shows a courtship in which the very young man, who has been cooed by his parents is timid, but isn't a stayer. He is human and likable. It is the girl who arranges the elopement. It is the man's father who follows. The couple set an ice boat, the father an auto on runners and the race across the frozen lake is speedy, and the finish is good.

"At Scroggins' Corner." Vitaphone. A rural drama of sentiment and tender emotions featuring John Gunny in a serious vein. The storekeeper's foster daughter, whom he had brought up, was enticed away to the city by the drummer. She thought she could go on the stage and make money to help her old foster father, who had endorsed a protested note. This is a feature.

"A Pie Worth While." Lubin. Jack Chalmers discharges two of his cowpunchers for ill-treatment of the horses. Jack goes to the bank to draw some money and the discharged men plan to hold him up. However, Jack's sweetheart appears upon the scene and manages to save the ranch payroll in a unique manner.

"Darkfeather's Strategy." Selig. An appealing drama depicting the primitive diplomacy of an Indian maiden.

Cosy.

Saturday only. Special—Owing to the fact that we were unable to accommodate the crowds who wanted to hear Prof. Parker's lecture on the "Wonders of Alaska," we have induced him to remain over Saturday. This splendid lecture is in addition to our regular four reels of pictures, and the admission remains

Smith on the bridge 10 minutes before sailing, views the first, second and third cabins, promenade decks, life boats, and life rafts, loading baggage into the hold, crowds on the boat including many notables, and immense crowds on the docks waving good-bye to their friends on board as the immense ship sailed away on her first and only voyage. FEATURE PROGRAM

AT THE GRAND

Master Frank, the most accomplished violinist of the coast for his age, rendered a solo last night accompanied by Miss Allie, his little sister on the piano that astonished the audience. Although but 9 years of age he is complete master of the violin and his technique and skill are marvelous.

Miss Allie is another little wonder on the piano. The duet that these two children rendered was most pleasing. Not alone a pianist, little Miss Allie also is a sweet little singer and dancer.

Prof. McMinn, cornet and violin player finished the act with the children, playing an overture as a trio.

The Beardsley sisters as Dainty Duettists as they are styled, made a decided hit with their new and catchy songs. They had to answer to many curtain calls and completely took the house by storm with their duet "The Story the Picture Books Told."

Tonight and Sunday completes their engagement. Don't fail to see them, their stay in this town is very short.

Entire change of program Monday.

Mrs. Laura Nash left Wednesday for La Grande on a visit with friends.

Mrs. J. R. Dickson left today for Eugene to visit with her son, Westbrook, who is a freshman at the University of Oregon. She will remain there for the annual Junior Week and next week and will not as one of the patronesses at the Junior Prom. She was accompanied on the trip by her son Frank.

Prof. F. Shaw and Miss Stella O. King, a prominent Hermiston couple, were married Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Decker in west Pendleton. Rev. Herbert Cash of the Baptist church officiating. Only a few friends and the bride's parents witnessed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Miss Lettie Minnie. The young couple will reside on a farm on Butler creek.

Stanfield, May 4.—The ball celebrating the opening of the Watts Hall on Thursday night was the most delightful affair socially ever given in Stanfield. It was well attended locally as well as by people from neighboring towns, a special train having been chartered to bring the large crowd of Pendleton's most select young people. Their interest and patronage was most thoroughly appreciated. The floor was good, the music furnished by a Pendleton orchestra of eight pieces was excellent, and everybody had a splendid time. Supper was served at the Stanfield Hotel in a large number. The whole affair reflected much credit on the Stanfield Commercial club and its committee who worked untiringly to make it the success it was. Mrs. E. L. Hurd and Mrs. J. R. Cronin presided over the punch bowl. Patronesses were Mrs. R. N. Stanfield, Mrs. G. C. Coe, Mrs. Ivan Dunning, Mrs. M. C. Baragar, Mrs. F. B. Stuart, Mrs. Alex Reid and Mrs. Frank Sloan.
