PRISON, DISFRANCHISEMENT FOR SAN DIEGO VIGILANTES

Governor Johnson Urged by His Investigator, to Take Drastic Measure in Labor Troubles.

I. W. W. ALSO GRILLED

District Attorney in California City Bitterly Denounced for Letting Outrages Pass by Unnoticed—Citizens Classed as Uncivilized.

Sacramento, May 18.—Stinging denunciation of the campaign of the Industrial Workers of the World, at San Diego and even a more stinging denunciation of the "vigilantes" of that city, whom he convicts of un-American and uncivilized abuse of the San Diego disturbers, with a recommendation that the state authorities take a drastic hand in the war there, are features of a report of the San Diego situation, sent to Governor Johnson by Harris Weston, who the governor appointed as a commissioner to investigate the San Diego labor war.

Weston scores District Attorney Uley of San Diego county for indifference to the reign of lawlessness and practically recommends that all San Diego "vigilantes" should be fined $5,000 each and sent to prison for terms of not more than ten years and should be subject to forfeiture of all privileges of American citizens.

Indict 33 I. W. W.

San Diego, Cal., May 18.—Woodford Hubbard and 32 others were indicted by the grand jury on charges of assault with deadly weapon. The action came as a result of the attempt upon the lives of Policemen H. C. Stevens and G. R. Heddon, on the night of May 7. Stevens was shot and Heddon was hit on the head with an ax. Neither officer was fatally hurt.

In the shooting, Joseph McKolasek, alleged anarchist, was wounded, dying the next day. The assault took place in front of a rendezvous of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Hubbard and several others of those indicted were in jail when the indictments were returned. Ten others since, have been arrested, and a search of Los Angeles for the remaining fifteen is in progress.

LIVED NEARLY 102 YEARS.

New Jersey Centenarian Was a Remarkable Woman.

Haddonfield, N. J.—Mrs. Mary Albertson Thackara, said to be the oldest resident of the state, died at her home, 24 Potter street. The cause given was a cold and old age.

Had Mrs. Thackara lived until July 2 she would have been 102 years old. She was born in what is now Magnolia, in 1810. She had long lived here and was known by the majority of the townspeople. She was the second wife of Samuel Thackara, a veteran of the Mexican war.

Mrs. Thackara was a most remarkable woman; her memory, sight and hearing were almost perfect until the last, and until December, 1906, she did her own housework, warding, painting or anything else needed in the house. At this time a fall injured her hip, and she has confined to her room until the time of her death. She was a Hicksite Quaker, and when quarterly meeting came to Haddonfield her house was always the scene of much entertaining.

CALIFORNIA COURT AROUSED AT LAST

Cite Over Hundred San Diego Vigilantes to Answer to Contempt Charges

San Diego, May 18.—Cited to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court for threatening officers of the court, will be issued for 160 local citizens Monday.

Superior Judges Guy and Sloane, this afternoon declared the evidence presented by Attorneys Fred Moore and Marcus W. Robbins, who were, they charge, threatened if they did not leave town, was sufficient to justify this action.

Attorneys Moore and Robbins, who have represented the I. W. W.'s in practically all their cases here, appeared before Judges Guy and Sloane today and asked the warrants for contempt of court for fifteen citizens.

They alleged the citizens surrounded them at the police station and told them in no uncertain terms to leave town. The judges asked for affidavits and they were furnished. Arrests are expected to follow.

SAME DETECTIVE FOR BOTH.

Watched Husband and Wife to Get Opposing Evidence.

Trenton, N. J.—In the testimony taken today in the trial of the divorce suit of Mrs. Clara B. Taylor against her husband, William T. Taylor, it developed that at various times both husband and wife had the same detective watch each other. The case has aroused much interest in Trenton and large crowds are turning out at the hearings.

Harry B. Dougherty, head of a detective bureau in New York, called as a witness for the wife, said he discovered Taylor on the steamer Priscilla with a girl in his stateroom. The girl was rather good looking, he said, and had a pug nose. He was engaged by the wife in 1909, and in 1907 had been in the employ of the husband.

Dr. Charles H. Dilts and Frederick S. Baker were named in the cross petition filed by the husband as correspondents. Mrs. Taylor acknowledged that she knew both very well. Baker, she said, was a cousin and for seven years had lived with her husband, and herself, and Dr. Dilts was an intimate friend, she calling upon his family many times and he calling at the Taylor home.

STRIKE OF BALL PLAYERS PREVENTS DETROIT-PHILADELPHIA GAME; DEMAND REINSTATEMENT OF FAMOUS TY COBB

Merry War is Threatened in Both Major Leagues as Result of Resentment of Insult

President Ban Johnson Says He Will Not Restore Idol of Fandom and Latter's Teammates Are "Standing Pat"

Philadelphia, May 18.—(Bulletin)—The Detroit American league team refused to play with the Philadelphia team this afternoon, because President Johnson would not reconsider the suspension of Ty Cobb. It may mean a baseball war in both the major leagues.

Philadelphia, Penn., May 18.—The Detroit Tigers of the American ball league, announced today that they will stand pat and refuse to play the Philadelphia Athletics this afternoon unless Ty Cobb, who was suspended indefinitely for assaulting a spectator who had insulted him, is reinstated. The Athletics also threatened to strike if Cobb is not allowed to play.

President Ban Johnson declares he will not re-instate Cobb. He says that if the other players refuse to play they will also be punished.

Veterans who have not played for years and youngsters from the University of Pennsylvania, will take the places of the regulars if the latter strike.

President Johnson said: "There may be justification for Cobb's complaint against his suspension, but until I receive Jennings' statement I cannot say what action I will take. However, the action of the Detroit players will have no influence on my decision as the American League has from its inception been strongly against rowdism on the ball field."

When I receive Jennings' statement I shall go over the entire matter and may have something to say. I was a spectator at the game, and witnessed the affair for which Cobb was suspended."

TIM TOWNSEND, FORMER PENDLETON MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN CABIN IN GRANT COUNTY

Tim Townsend, a half brother of the late S. L. Morse of this county, and himself a resident of Pendleton until a few years ago, when he engaged in the stock business in northern Grant county, was found dead in his cabin at Heppner recently. The Gazette of that town has the following account of his passing:

After having been dead for at least two days, if not longer, the remains of Tim Townsend, an old timer of eastern Oregon, were discovered lying across the bed in his cabin just across the creek south of the depot late Friday afternoon. It is hard to say just how long he had been dead but the body was in a bad state at the time of discovery, and it is known that he must have been dead for at least two days, probably passing off shortly after retiring on Wednesday evening. He was missed after a couple of days and Dennis Spillane decided to visit the cabin and see if there were not something wrong, when the discovery was made that the old man was dead.

Coroner Chick made an investigation and decided that death resulted from natural causes and that an inquest was not necessary, so the body was turned over to the undertaker and interment was had on Saturday in the Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Townsend had been a resident of Heppner for about five years past, living some of the time with the family of Percy Hughes with whom he had been acquainted for a number of years. He came here from Grant county.

He was an Indian war veteran, a pioneer of eastern Oregon and known to many of the old timers. At one time he was quite prosperous in the cattle business. He was given to drink quite freely of late years, suffered much from chronic rheumatism and had not been feeling well for some time prior to his death. He was about 65 years of age.

C. C. Morse of McKay creek is a nephew of the deceased.

FIRES SWEEPING ALASKAN FORESTS

Yukon Valley is Roaring Furnace For Two Hundred Miles is Report

Seattle, May 18.—Cable from Dawson, Yukon Territory, says: "The Yukon valley is a roaring furnace for 200 miles between Big Salmon and Stewart City. Everywhere forest fires are raging, but they are not near any city."

Hundreds of thousands of acres of virgin forest are being swept. Possibly 1,000,000 cords of splendid wood and timber has been ruined.

At Coffey Creek, so hot was the fire that it leaped the river. Six hundred cords of wood piled there belonging to Harry Reynolds, was burned.

F. K. Laderout lost his home, barn and horses in the flames. Arrivals from up river said it was impossible to see the banks for many miles because of the dense smoke.

It is generally asserted that wood choppers started the fires purposely to burn off the undergrowth and limbs so as to get the charred trees ready for certain corporations.

Governor Black has issued a special proclamation of warning that all guilty persons will be prosecuted to the extreme limit of the law.

"MEAT TRUST" WELCOMES BOYCOTT BY HOUSEWIVES

National Provisioners Say Men in Beef Business Are More Disturbed by Conditions Than the Consumers.

New York.—That the "meat trust" would welcome a movement by housewives to boycott meat dealers while the present high prices are in force is the statement made by the National Provisioners.

"Some people seem to think that such a movement would be a terrible blow to the meat trade," says the journal, "and that meat would have to come down as a result. Blow or no blow, such a movement will be hailed with joy by the meat men."

"There is nobody on earth more disturbed than the men who sell the beef. This situation is perplexing and serious. If any persons can carry out a boycott or any kind of a movement which will readjust conditions of supply and demand so that the beef market may be put on a healthier basis, every man in the meat trade will consider them his best friends."

"But it is to be feared that neither the housewives' league nor anybody else can make corn and grass where there isn't any or induce farmers to feed cattle for cash instead of selling the fodder for beef."

Delaware, O., May 18.—Speaking from the rear platform of his train here today, Colonel Roosevelt said: "There is only one feature in the Ohio situation which makes me doubtful of the outcome. Rev. Richeson, Slayer of Avis Linnell, Collapses as Shadow of Electric Chair Draws Near.

AFRAID TO BE ALONE

Following a Night of Hysterical Outbreaks, Cowardice of Erstwhile Divine Asserts Itself and He May Be Scared to Death.

Boston, May 18.—Rev. Richeson, awaiting execution here for the murder of Avis Linnell, collapsed at noon today in another fit of hysteria in his death cell in Charlestown prison, following a night of outbreaks.

William Morse, the condemned man's counsel, arrived just after 9 o'clock and went to the death house. A few minutes later a call was sent for Dr. McLaughlin, the prison physician, to attend the murderer, who was moaning in his cell and apparently in a state of collapse.

Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, the prison chaplain, and Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, who has been selected as spiritual adviser, will take turns in remaining in the death house until the hour of death, at the condemned man's request.

All day Richeson had borne up well under the news that Governor Foss had refused to defer his petition for clemency to the executive council. His only comment on the governor's action which was allowed to become public was the remark: "As I face execution my principal thought is not for myself, but for the sorrow of my family and friends."

"Richeson was standing when I broke the news to him," said Mr. Morse, "and aside from a slight drooping of the head and a dejected look, there was absolutely nothing in his manner to indicate that he was conscious of the fate that awaits him." The warden is forbidden by law to make public the hour of execution, but it is believed that it will take place immediately after midnight Tuesday morning.

DOANE BROTHERS HELD FOR THEFT

Plex and Bascom Doane, two men charged with clipping the wool from twenty-eight sheep belonging to John Wynne, the McKay creek rancher, have been captured after eluding the officers for more than a week. Sheriff Taylor was notified that the men had been picked up at Elgin and he left this morning to bring them back.

Satisfied after his futile pursuit of them, following their alleged crime, that they were headed across the mountains, the sheriff notified the Elgin authorities and those of other nearby points to be on the watch and the message yesterday proved his surmises to be correct and his precautions well taken. They rode into Elgin on their horses and were immediately apprehended. Sheriff Taylor will arrive home with them on the early train tomorrow.

In addition to being charged with the larceny of the wool, they will face a charge of larceny of two sheep, a warrant having been sworn out by Wynne on this charge prior to the loss of his wool.
