"Always at Your Service."

THERE is a difference between fresh canned goods and old stock. Only the newest is best--having that delicate natural flavor of the fruit or vegetables. Knowing this, we buy only from factories which can their goods immediately after they are picked or grown--factories which are known to work under conditions of perfect cleanliness.

You may rely absolutely on our goods. We keep a large variety rather than an extensive stock--constant renewal being our policy. Next time you use our canned goods note the fresh, natural taste -- the character of them all.

There are 100 licenses in each book so that the stubs show that more than 1300 hunters and fishermen have paid their fees this year. The great majority were taken out by anglers. THINKS FELL KILLED BUTT AND STEAD DIED IN CABIN

Washington—Mrs. Sophie Radford de Meissner, widow of the one-time secretary of the Russian Legation in Washington, added some details to her former relation of spirit conversations she said she had with Major Archibald Butt and William T. Stead, who went down on the Titanic. She thinks Major Butt was killed in falling.

"I was standing on the deck and I fell forward into the gulf," she says Major Butt told her when he appeared and conversed with her, "and when I came to myself I was standing here on the grass."

"Can you give a description of the last moment of consciousness here and the first moment of consciousness beyond the grave as experienced by Major Butt?" asked Mrs. de Meissner was asked.

"I think he told me all when he said that he fell and on waking stood on the grass," said Mrs. de Meissner, "I believe, therefore, that he was killed by the fall."

William T. Stead, Mrs. de Meissner thinks, died in his room. "I simply went from my cabin to the beyond; I never suffered at all," is what Mr. Stead told Mrs. de Meissner.

"This leads me to believe that Mr. Stead died in his room," declared Mrs. de Meissner.

PRAIRIE DOG ESCAPES; NURSES FLEE, FEARING WILD LION

New York—A harmless prairie dog so tame that it eats lettuce leaves from the hands of nurse girls and children, caused a scare in Central park when it burrowed out of the prairie dog enclosure and started on a tour of Swan lake.

Two boys saw the prairie dog in a clump of bushes and shouted "that a wild animal has escaped from its cage. The prairie dog scampered away and the boys followed. A mounted policeman joined in the chase and men and boys followed. A mounted policeman took up the scent until nearly a hundred other persons were hotfooting after poor little Mr. Prairie Dog, who headed for the sheep pastures.

There was great excitement among nurse girls, who grabbed their charges and fled from the park. From mouth to mouth went the word that a lion, tiger and a wolf had escaped, and were roaming the park in a hunt for some nice fresh baby meat. But the policeman allayed the fears of the girls when he returned with a bag containing the escaped "wild monster" which was dropped back into its cage.

PICTURE SHOWS.

Cosy.

Wednesday and Thursday's program abounds in life, thrills and laughter.

"The Girl of the Grove." Thant-houser. A Florida picture taken amid the orange groves. The girl is boss of the grove and met a stranger and they fell in love. She later found the man was married and was able to save the wife from killing herself.

"When the Heart Calls." Reliance. An odd story which is extremely interesting. The young man, disappointed in love, became a hermit. Years later he met the daughter of his old sweetheart badly injured and cared for her. With the return of her memory, she heard a silent call from her man and went to him.

"An Italian Romance." Champion. A very exciting story in which a girl fights a duel and bests a villain. It is the story of sweatshop love, and shows the conditions that abound in these places. Throughout the entire story runs a romance of love, jealousy and final victory.

"Lonesome Miss Wiggs." Imp. A laughable attempt of a very plain old maid to get a husband via the advertisement method and the results, Mr. Cumpson, the comedian, is seen at his best in this.

"Scenic Wonders of Yellowstone Park." Imp. Short scenic of this beauty spot abounding in scenes of grandeur.

Coming, Friday and Saturday, "The Deserter," a two-reel 1911 Bison feature.
