Among the guests were Will M. Peterson, chairman of the democratic central committee. A feature of the dinner was a fine mess of trout, caught by Boona Watson.

W. A. Brown Badly Burned.
W. A. Brown, proprietor of the Hotel Pendleton, is today confined to his room with badly burned arm sustained yesterday at Gibbon when he fainted and pitched forward into a campfire over which he was cooking potatoes. He had gone to the mountain station with a number of other fishermen for the purpose of building a bunkhouse for use as headquarters on their angling excursions. He was cooking breakfast when seized with a fainting spell and before his companions could assist him, fell into the fire. He was rushed to Pendleton on a freight train and medical aid was secured.

Indian Is Bound Over.
Charley Bennett, well known Indian, was this afternoon bound over to the federal grand jury on a charge of introducing liquor on to the reservation. The case is one which has been pending for three weeks, the offenders having been found with a flask of whiskey some time ago by the Indian police. The case against Thomas Mokeave and Lela Dupuis may develop into one of perjury as the officers believe they made false testimony at the hearing Saturday.

Mrs. Dupuis Sues for Divorce.

Peterson is attorney for plaintiff.

Yet a woman shooting a gun is dangerous, even if the intended victim is safe; there are nearly always innocent bystanders.

200 LOCAL ELKS ARE PREPARING TO LEAVE

With the vanguard already in Portland and with some 150 or 200 members fast getting ready to leave by special train Wednesday night Pendleton Elks are on the move these days and they will be a busy lot for the next week.

The big parade in which the local lodge will be a mounted division occurs on Thursday and the marchers leave here by special train Wednesday evening at 9:30. The horses leave by special train tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. The lodge is sending 175 head of horses and they will constitute a train of 11 cars. The horses will be under the care of George Strand, who is to be division commander in the parade.

In the neighborhood of 150 reservations have been made for the special train Wednesday night and others are signing up each hour. Frank J. Quinlan is committeeman in charge of the train and reservations for the trip should be made with him.

Among those who have already left for Portland are Judge Thomas Fitz Gerald, Paul Sperry, Fred W. Lampkin, Carl Cooley, C. S. Wheeler, Gale Sturdivant, James Cooper, John Rosenberg, J. B. Burgess and R. Alexander. Of this number the greater portion have work to do in Portland in preparation for the parade. Others have gone down merely to take in the grand lodge functions earlier in the week. Several members were accompanied by their wives.

19 Special Trains.
Up to this hour no less than 19 special trains bearing Elks from various parts of the nation have passed through Pendleton en route for Portland. The first Elks' train passed through the city at 9:40 Saturday evening. It carried the Kansas City delegation. Since that time extra trains have been passing through at times of the day and night.

BODY OF SQUAW FOUND IN UMATILLA RIVER

McKay as guard, and brought to the local jail. When questioned he denied that he had seen the murdered woman on Saturday at all. However, Major Swartzlander expressed a strong belief this morning that they had the right man although admitting that a search of Columbia George's tepee and an examination of his clothes failed to reveal any sign of blood or other indication of his guilt.

Toy Toy Acts Suspicious.
Another thing which directed suspicion at the imprisoned Indian was the actions of Toy Toy, his confederate in the murder of Anna Edna, at Cayuse when the news reached the hundreds of red people who are gathered there in their annual celebration. There was subdued excitement and general depression among the Indians and nearly all gathered together to discuss the horrible tragedy. Toy Toy, however, according to the officers skulked into the brush skirting the camp and watched the officers furtively but was watched just as furtively by them. Toy Toy and Columbia George besides being confederates in the previous murder have been the closest of "hillicums" for many years and it is generally believed that if Columbia George killed A-te-me-at the knowledge of the fact is shared by Toy Toy.

News Told by Criers.
The news of the murder had a most marked effect upon the celebrators at Cayuse. When the first tidings were brought in, the Indians were just preparing for their afternoon horse races and a great many white people had gathered to witness the contests. The news was spread as quickly and as systematically as though newspaper extras had been issued. The first announcement was made by Red Elk who slowly rode before each tepee crying that an Indian woman had been found dead. As each new development was received, another crier would follow about the circuit issuing the intelligence in a loud voice, one bearing the tidings that the woman had been murdered, another that her name was A-te-me-at, another that the body had been found in the river and so on with each fresh report.

So depressed are the Indians over the occurrence that it is thought probable that the celebration will be broken up by the departure of the campers. Yesterday, despite the efforts of Poker Jim and other leaders, only one or two races were pulled off and these without any spirit.

Squaw Wal-lat-si's Mother.
This is the second tragedy in the family of A-te-me-at during the last two months, her only son, John Wal-lat-si, the famous Carlisle athlete, having committed suicide with Isaac Parr in this city hardly more than six weeks ago.

Columbia George Bad Man.
Columbia George has for a long time been regarded as one of the most vicious Indians on the Umatilla reservation. It was about thirteen years ago that he and Toy Toy murdered Anna Edna on the reservation by giving her whiskey in which they had put strychnine. Anna Edna was a medicine woman and when she failed to cure Toy Toy's little daughter of a fatal illness, the two men plotted together and brought about the death of the "witch." They were arrested soon after and, after one of the most sensational trials in the history of the county, were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. However, after having served several years, the case was ordered reopened upon the grounds that the state courts had no jurisdiction inasmuch as the crime was committed on the Indian reservation. Thereupon, the two murderers were released, rearrested, tried in the federal court, convicted and sentenced for life to the government prison at McNeil's Island. From there they secured their freedom through the pardoning power of President Taft, Columbia George more than two years ago and Toy Toy only last January.

While lassoing a horse the rope caught around his arm, his horse stopped suddenly and the taut rope cut his arm to the bone, severing the veins. The arm may have to be amputated.
