DIRECT COURSE TO HONOLULU WAS BEST

Seafarer, by Taking Southern Route Sailed 250 Miles Further Than Lurline.

San Francisco.—A. W. Follansbee Jr., of the San Francisco Yacht club who sailed as a guest with Captain L. A. Norris on the schooner Seafarer in the ocean yacht race from San Pedro to Honolulu, returned on the Korea. He was enthusiastic about the voyage, although he was naturally a bit disappointed that the ship on which he sailed had not been returned the winner in the race. The Seafarer, which showed a great burst of speed at the start of the race, finished behind the Lurline, the old reliable yacht that has won three out of the four races held over the same ocean course.

"I think that the speed shown by the Seafarer at the start was the cause of losing the race," remarked Follansbee. "In these races it is usual to take a southerly course in order to get the advantage of the trade winds. We left the other yachts hull down at sunset on the first day and took the southerly course. It is my opinion that Captain Lew Harris of the Lurline, who is as foxy a marine as ever grabbed a tarred rope, figured that to follow the same course as the Seafarer would be to invite certain defeat. So Harris took a chance and followed the most direct route to the islands, the one followed by steam vessels.

"On the fourth day out, when we had a moderate run, the Lurline made the best day's run of the trip and this success in getting a breeze encouraged Captain Harris to keep to the northward. The Lurline made good time all the way on the course taken and I figure that she sailed about 250 miles less than we did. But that's all in the game and Captain Harris is entitled to the credit.

"The best day's run made by the Seafarer was 248 miles. We had wind all the way, mostly dead aft or slightly over the starboard quarter. The wind was never heavy enough to be uncomfortable, and we carried the spinnaker and the balloon jib all the way.

"To those who have yachts capable of making the trip to the islands I can recommend it as an ideal trip. That is if the same weather prevails as we encountered. We had full moon nearly all the time, and the weather was balmy, even at night. When we went on deck at night heavy clothing wasn't necessary and it certainly was an experience to be remembered to be bowling along on a vessel like the Seafarer, with the moon shining brightly, the sails looming up big against the sky and the water rushing past the counter.

"The people in Honolulu couldn't do enough for the yachtsmen when they got there. I had to leave before the bulk of the festivities could be held. The late arrival of the Natosah made the start late, as the Hawaiians didn't want to inaugurate a good time until the British Columbians reached port. But when they did finally get in there was plenty of amusement for everybody. The day I left there was a big party at Prince Cupid's house, and the boys will have plenty of enjoyment while they stay in the islands."

Captain Stroud of the Hawaii sailed a good race according to Follansbee, and the members of the Hawaii Yacht club were pleased with the showing made by their representative in the race.

"Fred" Fredericks, formerly well known here as a member of the crew of the Aloha, was one of the crew of the Hawaii. He is now located at Honolulu and is employed on the construction of the government dry-dock, under the direction of Captain Smith, owner of the Mollou, the yawl that Frank Stone built for Smith at Harbor View, and which Louis Ward of Alameda sailed to the islands in the ocean race held two years ago. Smith formerly owned the Mary, the sloop now sailing with the fleet of the San Francisco Yacht club.

MRS. BELMONT FOR MONROE DOCTRINE

Suffragette Thinks Principle in Danger and Warns the American People.

Newport, R. I.—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont now appears as a champion of the Monroe Doctrine. She thinks the American public is too indifferent and expresses her views in a signed statement. Mrs. Belmont says: "The indifference of the public generally to the movement now making to challenge the Monroe Doctrine is most appalling.

"Take the Hay-Poncefote treaty substituted for the disgraceful Clayton-Bulwer treaty in a weakly yielding moment.

"I have referred to editorial discussions of this treaty and find a constant reiteration of one article, and from this is deduced the idea that we must treat not only all the vessels of the world alike, but that we, the master and maker of the regulations, must treat our own vessels of war and commerce just as we treat all others.

"However, we shall have enough self-respect left to pass the very law now under discussion, before the danger point is reached.

"Thinking men and, if you please, thinking women, know that the time is rapidly approaching when there will be a challenge of the Monroe Doctrine.

"This is what is aimed at in the communication from Great Britain. One of our great political parties denounced this treaty in its platform a few years ago.

"Its members now run away from this because of the fact that Great Britain thinks that if we make laws clearly within our rights it may injure her in some quarters."

What Makes a Woman.

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. Its a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you, with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by Koepfens.

11-POUND TROUT JUMPS INTO BOAT

Klamath Falls.—That the fish in Lake Ewauna are so anxious to be caught they will not wait for the sportsman with rod and reel to tempt them to their death but deliberately commit suicide by jumping into a boat when people are joy riding on the lake is proven by the story told by Burl Beals and Clarence White and attested to by H. C. Telford.

Beals and White were rowing around the lake in a small craft. When near the barge anchored just south of the west end of Klamath avenue the boys were startled by the sudden flop of a large trout into their boat. They immediately rowed to the Telford boat house where Mr. Telford was shown the trout and told of its presence in the boat without any effort at catching it by the two boys.

He weighed the trout and found that it tipped the scales at an even eleven pounds.

Although this is the biggest fish story of the season, it is sworn to by both the Beals' and White lads and

TINY CHINESE "PRINCE" IS PET OF THE KOREA

Royal Visitor is Only Eight Inches Long, But He Was Born in the Purple.

San Francisco.—When the Pacific Mail liner Korea came into port it brought no less a celebrity than "Prince Chun" of China. The "prince" bore the distinction of being the smallest but the most distinguished messenger aboard, for he was reared within the sacred confines of the Chinese Imperial household at Peking.

"Prince Chun" is one of the finest of his kind that has come to this country. In vulgar parlance he would be called a spaniel, and among the women of society who carry odd breeds of dogs to match their furs or occupy the rear seats of their automobiles, he would be proudly exhibited as a Chinese sleeve dog.

"Prince Chun" though full grown is hardly eight inches long. He is possessed of the silkiest of light buff fur and a countenance that the women passengers of the Korea were unanimous in calling the "cutest" they had ever seen. It resembles nothing in America but the faces to be seen on the miniature odds in Chinese curio stores. The little dog was a favorite of the ship and because of his distinguished up-bringing he was excepted from the rule that banishes all pet dogs of passengers to the hold of the steamer.

"Prince Shun" was purchased in the Orient by Mrs. J. C. Cohe, wife of a Chicago lawyer who is returning from a tour of the world, but as soon as he came aboard ship he was adopted by Miss Dilys Jones of Melbourne.

Mrs. Cohe paid 200 yen for the little dog. She declares him the finest specimen of his breed that has ever been brought to America.

SON IS HUSBAND OF FATHER'S DIVORCED WIFE

Petition for Guardianship for the Elder Crowley Reveals a Mixed Relationship.

San Francisco.—A peculiar mixup in relationships was brought out in Superior Judge E. P. Morgan's court in an action brought by James T. Crowley to have his father, James A. Crowley, declared an incompetent and the son appointed as his guardian.

The elder Crowley owns a piece of property at Pacific avenue and Polk street valued at $5,000. The son said his father was habitually intemperate and was liable while under the influence of liquor to turn his property over to designing persons.

The father objected to his son being named as his guardian. He said he only took seven drinks a day and then declared his chief objection to his son being named as his guardian was that his son had married his father's divorced wife.

All the relatives in this domestic tangle who were present in court were unanimous in asking that if a guardian be appointed, it should be an outsider.

The interested parties whose names were brought out in the action were the son; May Lenehen, 44 Valley street; Cornilla Doyle and Gertrude Crowley; Catherine J. Truman, 400 Sanchez street, and Margaret McPartland, 1404 Leavenworth street.

BOY BURGLAR ARRESTED.

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Who Escaped Is Caught Robbing Store.

Fresno.—Alexander Gross, although only 11 years old, was re-arrested after a remarkable record of crime, having escaped from the Parental School.

The boy was first arrested at Sanger several weeks ago while distributing coin freely among the youngsters of that town.

Taken to the Parental School on suspicion, $49 was found on him, and he admitted having hidden money and other articles in various places which he had stolen.

After his escape a number of petty burglaries occurred, one on a department store and the others mostly of refreshment places.

He was caught at 5 o'clock in the morning entering the candy store of a moving picture store. He will be sent to the reform school.

SLINK KILLS THE CAT: THEN HE SLINKS AWAY

San Francisco.—Attempted murder and desertion have occurred in the ranks of the Twenty-ninth company, stationed at Fort Winfield Scott.

The chief offender is "Slink," the weasel mascot recently captured by M. Johnson, J. Paul and A. Mitchell while the little animal was engaged in stalking gophers on the Fort Scott parade ground.

Slink proceeded to make himself right at home in his new quarters and almost frightened the cook of the company into quitting his position. From the very first he developed a bad temper and conceived a great hatred for Mike, the cat.

This hatred reached a climax yesterday, when Slink attacked Mike with the intention of cutting the cat's throat with his knife-like teeth. Mike put up a good fight, however, and broke away from the weasel. That is the last the men of the company have seen of him.

After the fight Slink became tired of the quietness of the barracks and yesterday showed his contempt for army life by going over the hill. Now the only mascot that the Twenty-ninth company possesses is its hive of bees.
