GIRL BEATEN BY MAN SHE MEETS IN WOODS

Exhausted By Run and Struggle, Lena Ogren Tells Firemen of Brutal Attack and Vain Search for Assault Is Made.

Chicago.—Bleeding from two cuts on her face and hands and exhausted by a mile run, Miss Lena Ogren breathlessly told several firemen of engine company No. 119 at 2541 Foster avenue of a brutal attack made upon her by a man while she walked through the woods alone near Argyle street and North Francisco avenue.

After she told the men that she had been overpowered by the man, who threatened her with death if she notified the police, a search of the woods and vicinity was made but nobody was found answering his description.

Firemen Search Wood.

The firemen notified the Summerdale police and they also made a search with the aid of two mounted police, but in vain.

When the girl ran into the engine-house she almost fell to the floor exhausted from the long run she had made. She was covered with mud and was bleeding from two cuts on her right hand and one on her face. She appeared as if she had been in a fierce struggle.

Steps From Clump of Bushes.

She told the police that it was her day off from work and that she was walking along the banks of the north shore sanitary canal, which runs through that part of the woods, when the man stepped out from a clump of bushes and threatened to take her life if she made any outcry. She said she tried to get away from him, and a struggle followed in which she said she was soon overpowered.

She said the man ran west in the woods, after he released her, threatening her with death if she told the police.

SHOCK-PROOF BURGLAR ROBS ELECTRICIANS IN SPARK-GUARDED STORE

New York.—A robber-gloved, rubber-shod, electric-defying burglar surprised a firm of Bronx borough electricians by breaking into their elaborately protected place of business and supposedly burglar-proof safe and getting away with $1,000 in cash.

Frank and Charles Schrauder, the electricians, had their store rigged with all manner of electric devices, floor and walls being heavily charged with electricity at night and the safe itself a powerful storage battery.

When the proprietors reached the store to open it they found the back door "jimmied" open, all the switches turned off, the safe smashed and its contents gone.

The police surmise that the safe breaker wore rubber boots and gloves of the same material and apparently knew what precautions to take when working about electric currents.

"What Happened to Smith," at Grand

Tonight the Vin Moore company will present for the last time, "What Happened to Smith." This is a comedy with a plot, and seems to please more than any other comedy yet presented. It is so full of genuine fun and comical mixups, that the audience is convulsed from the beginning to the end of the show. Mr. Moore is especially happy in his character of "Smith," and Mr. Strickfaden appears as the detective, and is a scream. Mr. Bates, as the friend, is also excellent, and the whole company have congenial parts. The ladies wear some pretty gowns, and that is always of interest to the feminine part of the audience. Moving pictures and excellent orchestra music between acts, make the show well worth while. Change of play tomorrow night.

Ladies' New Fall Suits and Coats

Our First Shipment Now Showing and you will be surprised at the low prices

THIS department was practically a side-issue with the Golden Rule Store last year, yet the few Suits and Coats we handled met with such a ready sale and pleased their buyers so thoroughly in both quality and price that we have decided

Our Cloak and Suit Department will be a Strong Feature this Fall

You'll find no 28 inch coats here, but each and every one is of the new 32 inch length.

Not a single suit or coat was carried over from last year, so you run no risk of getting old and undesirable merchandise at the Golden Rule Store.

We have made a particular selection of all the new models, styles, colors and color combinations such as will be worn by the particular dressers the coming season. These lines were bought direct from the factories for spot cash and will be sold right from the start at the lowest prices Pendleton has ever known.

We do not ask two or three prices for our goods when they are first placed on display and then cut the price when the season is about over, as is the case with most stores, but give you an opportunity to get a new suit or coat at the START OF THE SEASON asking prices even lower than their sale prices.

You can always save from 25 % to 33 1/3 % at the GOLDEN RULE STORE

100 Ladies' New Fall Coats $4.98 to 22.50

75 Ladies' New Fall Suits $9.90 to 22.50

This is only an advance showing to give you an idea of the great values you may expect here when our complete lines in this department arrive.
