harping strongly on the fact President-elect Wilson did not receive a majority of the popular vote and will therefore be what they term a minority president. The Chicago Inter-Ocean presumes on this to suggest that the new administration should attempt but little in the way of reform.

There is not the slightest possibility the new president will be influenced by such advice. It comes from the wrong quarter. Even were the thing true it would be no reason why it should cause any change in the attitude of the president-elect. President Lincoln did not change his views because of the fact he was a minority president. He had but 39 per cent of the popular vote when first elected. But that fact did not change him into a pro-slavery man. President Polk was also a minority president. He had but 49 per cent of the popular vote. Taylor had but 47 per cent of the vote. Buchanan went into office with but 45 per cent of the popular vote. Hayes had but 47 per cent. Garfield had but 48 per cent. Harrison had but 47 per cent while Cleveland had but 48 per cent of the popular vote in 1884 and 46 per cent in 1892. So it may be seen so-called minority presidents have been rather common.

But in reality Wilson will not be a minority president. The vote shows that he would have easily had a majority over anyone candidate had he been opposed by but one man. Had he been running against either Taft or Roosevelt alone he would have had a majority. He could have beaten Taft with ease and Roosevelt with but a slightly lessened majority. An examination of the returns will show this to be the case. A fact that many of the wise ones are overlooking is that Wilson lost a host of democratic votes to Roosevelt. With Roosevelt out of the race he would have had a walk-away against Taft. With Roosevelt alone as an opponent he would have drawn the whole anti-Roosevelt republican vote as well as his own democratic vote and could not have failed of a majority. It is a statement frequently made that Wilson won through republican division. It was through division he won but not through the fact there were two tickets in the field. The two ticket handicap is what kept him from a popular majority. In other words it hurt him instead of benefiting him. Look at the figures and you can see it for yourself.

The talk about Wilson being a minority president should not be taken at par value.

A speaker before a teachers' institute at Eugene expressed a view of school athletics that will be endorsed by a great many people. His idea is that school athletics as now practiced means but little benefit to students because the man who really needs development generally has nothing to do save to yell for the team.

The trouble with school athletics as we have it is that the system brings training for the strong who scarcely need it and bars the physically frail who need it badly. Furthermore athletic work, particularly football, is often so strenuous that harm rather than benefit results therefrom. Many promising athletes overdo themselves and suffer for it throughout their lives.

The schools need more physical culture and less athletics. More work for the mass of students and less strain on the few who are able to star. It would be better if championships could be awarded not for what a team can do but on the strength of a showing by the entire student body. Some day there will be reform in this line and school athletics will be handled with a view to student development rather than to providing spectacular exhibitions.

Whether or not Mr. Wheeler's plan offers the proper solution the East Oregonian will not attempt to say but it is certainly a fact that Pendleton needs reform in the manner of naming streets and numbering houses. At this time a stranger within the city has almost to employ a guide to find his way about. Under the street naming system followed it is hard for even local people to know where streets are to be found without consulting a map. It would be far better if we had a numerical or alphabetical system such as may be found in most places. There is also need of posting the names of streets in conspicuous places. There is need of improvement in the numbering of houses. With houses numbered as they are it is sometimes impossible for experienced deliverymen to find a number. The insurance maps do not coincide with other maps and confusion results. The need of improvement in this direction is particularly urgent because of the Round-up crowds and the fact that Pendleton often entertains large numbers of strangers who come to attend conventions.

People who send communications to the East Oregonian and do not make their identity known will fail to see their letters published. It is the rule that the name of the writer must always be given though it is not always necessary that the name be published. This is written for the benefit of a member of the socialist faith who has written a letter that would be published had the writer but made himself known.

It is evident that the bull moose "angel" overlooked Umatilla county when he distributed campaign funds. However, the supporters of Roosevelt made a good showing despite that fact.

FROM THE PEOPLE

WOULD AMEND THE INITIATIVE.

Judge Lowell Sees Need of Public Discussion.

Nov. 21, 1912.

Editor East Oregonian:

Anent the editorial upon abuse of the initiative powers at elections, which appeared in your columns yesterday, and its reference to my recent letter to the State Bar Association upon the subject, permit me to say that I have no pride in any suggestion contained in that letter. What is needed is full discussion of the important subject by the press of the state. I have presented the remedy offered upon many platforms, and have found a widespread demand for some relief from the multiplicity of laws which we are now required to vote upon. It is not the enemies of the system who are complaining, for they believe that a continuation of present abuses will ultimately destroy the whole Oregon system, so-called. It is the friends of the initiative and referendum, who are alarmed, and who demand that the legislature shall amend the law. The legislature still has some place in our economy of government, and will reflect public sentiment when it knows what that sentiment is.

I have heard two other remedies suggested. One that no bill be initiated until first submitted to the legislature; and another that paid soliciting of signatures be prohibited, and that all petitions be placed in the office of the several county clerks to only be signed in the presence of that official.

STEPHEN A. LOWELL.

EARLY WHEAT HISTORY.

Pendleton, Nov. 21, 1912.

Editor East Oregonian:

In your issue of Nov. 19, there is a statement from Mr. C. A. Barrett that the first wheat in Umatilla county was raised probably in 1871 or 1872, which needs correction. In 1871 I took a load of wheat for Mr. J. H. McCoy, of the Umatilla Meadows, to Walla Walla to be ground into flour; in 1872 I took a load of wheat to the Umatilla Indian Reservation mill to be ground into flour. This old government flour and sawmill was then a very old looking affair, and the settlers of the Umatilla Meadows had been taking their wheat up to that old government mill for five years. The father of J. H. Raley was raising and shipping wheat to Portland in 1872. Yours respectfully,

FRANK RACK.

GOLDSMITH WAS THERE.

When the late Franklin Fyles first visited London he told his traveling companion, as they rose from breakfast the first morning, that he would have to be gone most of the day. "I've got to see a doctor and a lawyer, to whom I have cards of introduction," he explained, "and there are a couple of dramatic critics here who've written me to call as soon as I have reached town. Then I'm going to hunt up Goldsmith's grave down in Temple Gardens—I'd rather see that than any other one thing in all England."

A few minutes past 10 Mr. Fyles walked into the hotel again, and, to his friend's surprised look, merely said: "Doctor and lawyer and critics all out. Only man at home was Oliver."—Lippincott's.

SPEAKING OF HIPPOPHAGISTS.

"I see," said the daughter of the household, "that there are more hippophagists in France than in any other country."

"And what's a hippophagist?" inquired the head of the house.

"A hippophagist, papa," replied the charming girl, "is a man who eats horses, or horse meat."

The head of the house frowned darkly.

"If the cost of living goes any higher," he growled, "or I have any more tire trouble, I wouldn't be at all surprised if I became an autophagist."

And he crumpled up the last garage bill and flung it in the waste basket.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Rheumatism

Is A Constitutional Disease.

It manifests itself in local aches and pains,—inflamed joints and stiff muscles,—but it cannot be cured by local applications.

It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine Hood's Sarsaparilla which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system.

Get it today in usual liquid form or "chocolate" form called Sarsa-tabs.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.
