News of the Week as Told in County Press

Weather conditions have been variable during the week. Alternate thawing and freezing has failed to remove the snow, which fell Sunday and Monday to a depth of eight inches. Sleighing is good and every one who can is taking advantage of it. All kinds of rigs are brought into requisition and many laughable incidents occur. One in particular transpired the other evening when a sleigh broke down and the occupants, a young lady and gentleman were compelled to

Children Must Have Good Light for Studying

A poor light strains the eyes, and the injurious effects may last for life. An oil lamp is best. The light from the Rayo Lamp is soft and mellow. You can read or work under it for hours without hurting your eyes.

The RAYO is constructed scientifically. It is the best lamp made—yet inexpensive and economical. Made of solid brass—nickel plated. Lighted without removing chimney or shade. Easy to clean and rewick. Made in various styles and for all purposes.

Funeral services over the remains of J. M. Cannon, who died at his home in Portland Monday at the advanced age of 76 years, were held in the Odd Fellows cemetery, here at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Compton. Members of Milton Lodge No. 96, A. F. & A. M., acted as pallbearers.—Milton Eagle.

The "bunny hug," "turkey trot" and "angle worm wiggle," forms of amusement which are said to have been practiced quite extensively in Milton during the present season, are to be placed on the shelf. This in substance is the purport of an ordinance passed by the city fathers at a regular meeting of the council held Monday night.—Milton Eagle.

More than $17,000,000 in business was handled by the First National Bank of Milton during the year 1912, according to the report of Cashier George A. Price, submitted to the stockholders of the institution at their annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon. The report of Sashier W. W. Wasser of the Farmers' Security bank, submitted to the stockholders of that concern on the same day, also showed a large volume of transactions for the 12 months.—Milton Eagle.

The wedding of Mr. Sidney A. Barnes and Miss Edith May Garrett was solemnized Thursday afternoon, January 16, at five o'clock, by Rev. C. W. Steinger. Only immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was performed at the home of the newly-married pair in the Kyle residence on north Broad street, where they have gone to housekeeping. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are prominent and popular members of Weston's younger set, and have a large circle of friends to wish them felicity.—Weston Leader.

The recent general snow storm left a foot of "downy white" at Weston, but this has since disappeared to some extent. Back in the mountains, in the vicinity of the sawmill, the snow is reported to be from four to five feet deep, with heavy drifts in the canyons. This is "some snow," but it does not compare with the twenty feet on a level and forty feet in the railway cuts reported from the Cascade mountains. Altogether, the brand of winter weather vouchsafed to Weston at present is quite endurable, and nobody is heard to grumble. Sleighing is admirable, and a good many of the farmers glide merrily to town in bob sleds. Coasting was never better, and affords nightly amusement.—Weston Leader.

There is plenty of water in the city well. Two hours per day of pumping would be sufficient to supply the town but owing to the leakage of the wooden mains 75 per cent of the water is wasted. This of course cannot be remedied until we have iron pipes. Marshal Hayden computes the cost of electricity will be cut down at least fifty per cent under proper water mains. The work of putting in the main will be done by day's work and not by the contract system. At least that is what is talked now.—Freewater Times.

Mr. Hamilton, a prominent rancher from Butter Creek, Easton Moore and Carl McCullough, two buckaroos, had quite a devilish time bringing 80 head of cattle from Pilot Rock to the ranch. The snowdrifts were so high they blocked the road and it was very difficult to follow. They got mixed up at Alkali Canyon and did not arrive home until the wee small hours of the morning, none the worse from their experience. This happened last Friday night.—Echo's Echoes.

Burton Hutchison, who owns a farm near Nye, is a lucky man. He not only succeeded in marrying one of the finest girls in the county, but Tuesday last struck a subterranean stream of water at the depth of 320 feet near the new home he is now completing for himself and bride. The well was drilled by J. E. Smith of Pendleton, an experienced well driller and according to Mr. Hutchison the flow at the present time is immense. Mr. Hutchison was awakened at an early hour the other day by a mournful noise and on exploring his premises discovered that it was something more than a raven over his chamber door. It came from the well he had so recently drilled. He says his well will suck air for a time and then spout, or blow, like a whale, as if exhaling air from its lungs. Still, he thinks he will become accustomed to the noise if his supply of water holds out.—Pilot Rock Record.
