SECOND WEEK WHEELER PLAYERS

The popular Wheeler Players who played to large and appreciative audiences at the Oregon all last week commence their second week tonight with Lottie Blair Parker's big southern comedy, "A Southern Romance." The play tells a beautiful story of life in the south, a heart story that is woven around the southern girl "Bobby Howard," and her northern admirer, and the comedy parts of Aunt Caroline and Uncle George never fail to create rounds of laughter. The story is told in four interesting acts, and like Lottie Blair Parker's "Under Southern Skies," it never fails to score.
The play is sure to be well handled by the Wheeler Players as their past performances all have been and their second week here will undoubtedly be a success. Seats may be reserved at the Pendleton Drug Co., any time during the day.
The company is presenting all new plays this week, changing every night and Manager Wheeler says he has some good, strong plays arranged for the week.

Furnishing Good Prints.
"Why don't you make Johnny wash his hands once in a while?"
"They are taking finger prints at his school," answered the wife, "and you know how the child loves to excel."
—Kansas City Journal.

Ideal Match.
Pecunious Father—So you dare to say you are an ideal match for my daughter?
Impecunious Youth—I do, indeed, sir!
Pecunious Father—Why, you have never earned a dollar in your life.
Impecunious Youth—Neither has she.
—New York Times.

His Excuse.
"You seem like a spiritless creature. I don't believe you've got enough ambition to open the door when opportunity knocks."
"Don't be too hard on me, ma'am. I ain't never had a door."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Her Dad Knew Her.
Young Briggs—I asked your daughter a very important question last night, sir and she referred me to you.
Old Blunt—Want to marry her, eh? Well, you won't! If she'd really wanted you she wouldn't have bothered about me at all.
—Boston Transcript.

Here is a remedy that will cure your cold. Why waste time and money experimenting when you can get a preparation that has won a worldwide reputation by its cures, of this disease and can always be depended upon? Masculine Pastime.
"Do you think golf a suitable game for women?"
"I should say not. Why, I saw a man playing once, and all he did was to walk around a field with a club in his hand and stop every five minutes to swear."
—Buffalo Express.

Medical Humor.
Patient—I'm troubled with boils off and on, doctor. What would you advise?
Doctor—Well, I shouldn't let those that are off trouble me.

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Have Swept the Country!

From Maine to California, in city and country alike, American boys have yelled themselves hoarse for these wonderful shoes—the greatest boy's shoe success ever known. When a boy wants a thing he usually gets it. So that thousands of boys now wear "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes.

"Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe
This is the shoe that swept the country like a tidal wave last year. The lightest, strongest boy's shoe ever made. Uppers and soles of genuine elk leather, tanned by our secret process. Soft as a glove and fits snug. Reinforced sole—can't tear loose. Wears two times as long as ordinary shoes. Colors—Olive, Tan and Black.

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Piker
A new shoe. Almost as popular, already, as the "Camp Shoe." Splendid for school and regular wear. Soft as a glove and wears like iron. Black boarded calf. Full bellows tongue. Extra heavy oak soles.

Other Styles
"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes are made in "Piker," "Parade," "Campaign," "Camp" and other styles. In bluchers, high-cut, button, etc. Select black, tan and gun-metal calf, and special oak leather.

No Boy Scouts Shoes Genuine Without Swastika "Good Luck" Charm
"Good Luck" Charm—illustrated in corner of this advertisement—is attached to all genuine "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes. Refuse shoes without charm attached. Looks like gold. Does not discolor. Splendid for prizes for boys' games, etc.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
An exceptionally good program for Tuesday's change. Four full reels of the best American pictures:
1. A Clue to Her Parentage. Edison. Being the sixth story of "What Happened to Mary." The foreigners who opposed Mary's efforts to deliver her letter to the princess, sails to New York on the same boat with her. Mary takes a hand in the dangerous game of love but is saved from the consequences of jealous wrath by a mysterious gentleman who shows her the picture of her mother.
2. A Mountain Tragedy. Kalem. Featuring Miss Ruth Roland, Mr. Neilan and Mr. P. C. Hartigan in a strong western drama.
3. Love Through a Lens. Essanay. A clever comedy of real life.
4. Once Was Enough. Lubin. A comedy depicting the life of a barn-stormer.
5. Palmetto Hat Industry. Lubin.

The Pastime.
The home of good pictures. Program for Tuesday's change.
"The Burglar's Dilemma." Biograph. The lion of the hour, the brother's success arouses the other's jealousy. Perhaps no two subjects have concerned both judiciary circles and public alike more than the third degree and circumstantial evidence. The youth of the story passes through both ordeals.
"An Old-Fashioned Elopement." Edison. This is a most delightful comedy based upon the ballad, "The Gentlewoman." England.
"Who Stole Bunny's Umbrella?" Vitagraph. He loses it, fights for it, pays his good money to recover it and then finds it where he didn't lose it.
"Broncho Billy's Promise." Essanay. A gripping story of the west. G. M. Anderson in his famous role.
"At the Dog Show." Vitagraph. A chance to see all the latest styles of dogs and dog fanciers.

Cosy.
Monday and Tuesday, Blanche Walsh, the world famous actress in Tolstoy's immortal drama, "Resurrection," in four reels. The story bristles with action, with scenes that transport the beholder from the aristocratic mansions of Moscow to the humblest of hovels among the peasants; from a sumptuously furnished cafe where all is gaiety, to the gloomy interior of a Russian prison where all is suffering; from a trial of court involving judges, jurors, witnesses and clerks to an enforced march across Siberian plains participated in by convicts and political prisoners with clanking chains. All these events are bound together with masterly skill in one of the world's most heart-rending tragedies.

MEETING ARRANGED WITH DESPERATE UTES

Peaceful Attempt to Get Indian From Tribe Barricaded in Mountain.
Cortez, Colo., Jan. 21.—Indian Agent Spears has arranged to hold a conference with the chiefs of the Ute Indians on their reservation near here at which he will urge them to deliver up to him Big Rabbit, accused of shooting Joseph Vichel, a Mexican sheep herder. On Saturday and Sunday 50 Utes barricaded themselves in the mountains 18 miles from here and defied the local authorities to arrest Big Rabbit.
Spears expects to take with him to the conference Henry Crawford, a prominent sheep owner, and make an effort to reach an understanding with the Indians regarding the use of land outside the reservation to which both Indians and the whites lay claim.
Acting Commissioner Abbott of the Indian office at Washington, wired Agent Spears at the Ute reservation today to urge the state authorities to take no hasty action.

VIOLETS.

Viola, so sweet and fair,
Bright gems of the sea,
Bless the message thou dost bring,
Dear, so dear to me.
And though faded now ye lie,
O'er thee tenderly I sigh,
Mists of longing dims mine eye
And I fain would flee
With the violets back to her,
Back to that sweet spot
Whence you came as messenger
Enchained in love's own knot.
Viola, from a sunny land
See I kiss thee, where her hand
Grasped to pluck thee from thy strand.
And added sweetness fraught.
LULU TUMLIN LYON.

BOY DRIFTED IN BOAT IN STORM

Ernest Peck Tried to Cross Columbia at the Dalles but Failed.
The Dalles, Or., Jan. 21.—During the heavy snow storm Friday night Ernest Peck, a 16 year old boy, was lost while crossing the river from Grand Dalles to this place in a row-boat, and spent the night on the river having drifted to Crate's point, some three miles below the city, where he made a landing.
About 9:30 he attempted to cross the river during a heavy fall of snow, and when a few hundred feet from the Washington shore lost his bearings, and as he could not see the lights of the city, he had nothing for a guide.
He rowed about for some time, heading his boat crosswise the current, but finally gave up and allowed his boat to drift with the stream. Fortunately he struck a sand bar, where he beached and waited for daylight. He was considerably chilled, but suffered no ill effects from his night's exposure.

GOULD PASTOR CLOSELY RESEMBLES THE GROOM

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Rev. Daniel Russell, of the Irvington Presbyterian church, who will join Miss Helen Gould and Findley J. Shepard in marriage here on Wednesday, is almost a "double" of the groom. Friends say that the bride herself might even have difficulty in saying which was which at a little distance. The work of decorating Lyndhurst, Miss Gould's mansion, began today. Pink roses from the bride's own conservatory will be largely used.

WOMEN JOIN FIRE FIGHTERS AT BURNS

Business Section Threatened When Landmark Building Destroyed by Flames.
Burns, Ore., Jan. 21.—A fire in the business portion of the city for a time menaced the north end of Main street last Wednesday morning.
The fire was discovered at 10 o'clock Tuesday night in the Lecher building standing at the end of North Main street, and perhaps the most noted landmark in the city.
The fire originated in the apartments of John Worlow, who is believed to have turned over his lamp.
A number of frame residence buildings were near the burning one, also Lamphire's garage, McKinnon's livery and feed barn and across the street Clearkenger's furniture and undertaking store.
The volunteer fire department did some unusually fine work. Realizing that the west end of the building was doomed squads were put to work to protect nearby properties, and the east end of the burning building, and to confine the fire to the burning portion. This they succeeded in doing.
Four wells were pumped dry. Many women joined in the work and assisted the threatened homes in the removal of their household effects, and in pumping of water.
Mr. Lecher's loss is a heavy one, as the building was a good revenue producer, though a patchwork of wood and stone, representing years of hard work on the part of the owner, he having constructed it largely by himself. He carried no insurance, having allowed it to lapse last July.

LOS ANGELES CHURCH CALLS DR. MATTHEWS

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—Promises of a new church and strong arguments that he is needed by the Emanuel Presbyterian congregation of Los Angeles, are causing Dr. M. A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church to seriously consider a call from the south.
Dr. Matthews, who was referred to in a recent issue of Collier's as the "manned lion of Seattle," is named as one of the 10 great pastors of the day.
When asked if he had decided to go, Dr. Matthews said: "Not yet, the whole question needs earnest thought and prayer."
