FINDS JOKER IN BILL; RETURNS IT

Salem, Or., Feb. 21.—The charge that a joker was slipped into the Hoskins senate bill making it unlawful for any person to sell liquor in or about any railroad station, before it passed the house, was made by Governor West in a special message.

The amendment in question is the one putting off the date for the law to become effective until January 1, 1914. This met plenty of opposition in the house, Bonebrake especially declaring he did not see why saloonmen should have a year of grace, but he did not make a fight on it after Howard of Douglas declared he would rather get half a loaf than no bread.

The amendment is another of the jokers charged up to the house committee on alcoholic traffic by foes of the liquor traffic in the house. Practically every drastic bill to regulate the sale of liquor in any way has been regular furor in this committee that when it was reported back to the house by the dry element who have not been backward about uttering loud cries.

Carpenters On the Committee.
 Westerland of Jackson and Carpenter of Multnomah, are the controlling members of this committee. Thomas of Marion, the other member, usually returns a minority report. Westerland and Carpenter invariably agree and invariably amend.

In his message to the house the governor said in part:

"A little joker added ostensibly for the purpose of preventing the act from becoming effective before January 1, 1914, has evidently been overlooked by your honorable body. "If you will refer to this measure, as passed by the house, you will find that by its passage the sale of liquor even in dry counties, so long as it is sold in and about a railroad station prior to January 1, 1914, will not be unlawful.

"Once more I appeal to you in the name of the long suffering traveling public to recall this bill and strike out this iniquitous amendment inserted by your alcoholic traffic committee."

WARSHIP BUILDING RUSHED IN BRITAIN
 Present Year to Set New Record for Output of Yards of the Empire.

LACK OF LABOR HINDERS WORK
 Twelve Now Being Constructed for Government and Six for Other Powers.

London.—The present year will accomplish a new record in warship building in view of the heavy program contemplated for the British navy. Mr. Churchill is pledged to lay down at least five large battleships in 1913, while he has also given an undertaking to take special measures to meet the increase in the fleets of the Mediterranean powers, and this may necessitate the construction of a sixth British ship.

In addition to these, one battleship has been presented to the king by the Malay states, and Canada, if Mr. Borden's scheme is accepted by the dominion parliament, will present three more. Thus at least nine, and possibly ten, battleships will be taken in hand for the British fleet of which the cost of four will be defrayed by the states of the empire.

Twelve Now Building.
 The dockyards and great shipbuilding firms already have twelve battleships and battle cruisers in hand for the navy, apart from vessels which are nearly completed.

In addition to these twelve British armored ships, six battleships or battle cruisers are being built in England for foreign powers.

If ten new British ships are ordered this year, there will be twenty-eight armored ships of the largest size building in this country, with a displacement of over 550,000 tons. To complete this enormous fleet with speed will demand the most careful organization, and it is to be feared that in any event, there must be serious delays in construction. Already the recent British programs are heavily in arrears.

Skilled Labor Hard to Get.
 The difficulty which confronts both our dockyards and our private firms is to obtain the skilled labor required for ship construction. There is an insufficiency of workers at the dockyards, where day and night shifts as well as overtime, are being worked. Though special inducements are being offered to men to enter, so far the response has not been satisfactory.

All the indications suggest that the admiralty will have to revise its calculation that the largest battleship can be built in two years. Three years, to three and a half are none too much allowance in view of the enormous press of work impending.

HUSBANDS BARRED AT BRITISH COURT
 Women Who Get Summonses for Themselves Cannot Later Obtain Cards for Spouses.

London.—The first evening court of the season was held at Buckingham palace last night. Some small alterations have been made in the regulations, but they do not involve any change in the actual practice as observed last year. It has been expressly announced that trains would not exceed three yards in length from the shoulder, this rule having been laid down by Queen Mary last season.

The rule that ladies should not expect to receive summonses more than once in three years has been formally withdrawn, but it will still serve to govern the procedure of Lord Sandhurst. On the occasion of their own presentation, ladies will not in future be allowed to stand sponsors for other ladies as well, except in the case of their own daughters or daughters-in-law.

Hitherto ladies were requested to forward the names of their husbands at the same time as their own, and it was tacitly assumed that they would usually desire the companionship of their better halves. It is now made clear that they are to mention the names of their husbands only if they wish to be accompanied. And if they receive summonses for themselves alone, they will not be permitted to obtain additional cards for their husbands afterwards, except in very special circumstances.

Uses for Marshmallows.
 The housekeeper who has not tested the culinary possibilities of marshmallows has little idea of their many uses. For emergencies a tin box of these inexpensive candies is a good asset for the supply closet.

Should the supply of eggs give out when filling or frosting is wanted for a dark layer cake marshmallows may be substituted. While the cake is still hot place marshmallows torn in halves between two layers and also on top of the cake. Replace the cake in the oven for a few moments until there is an even layer of partially melted marshmallows over the cake.

Finely chopped nuts, grated sweet chocolate or coconut may be sprinkled over the yielding surface, and candied cherries, bits of citron or angelica, shreds of almonds or halves of English walnuts are easily embedded in ornamental fashion.

For the afternoon tea table the plainest of little cakes topped with marshmallows and placed for a moment in a slow oven are transformed into French confections. Spice cake baked in a thin sheet and cut in small rounds of the size of a marshmallow is an inexpensive substitute for the small, fancy cakes of the caterer. Top each little circle with a half marshmallow and partially melt in a slow oven. Decorate with a single nut meat, half a cherry or a cross marking of chocolate or colored frosting.

If the material for a fruit salad is scant cut marshmallows in quarters, using a well floured pair of scissors. Equal parts of grape fruit, English walnuts and marshmallows mixed with half the quantity of diced pineapple make a salad combination well suited to a French dressing flavored with wine.

Ordinary chocolate ice cream is easily transformed into an apparently expensive novelty by adding a plentiful supply of quartered marshmallows when the cream is half frozen. If the chocolate is rich and dark these dull white particles make an effective showing and also add an unusual flavoring.

The same addition may be made to a cold chocolate pudding, the marshmallows furnishing an attractive bit of coloring and contributing to a deliciously flavored dessert.

Bedroom Door Knockers.
 The small colonial cottage of a young bride who put thought and the planning of many months in the furnishing of the domestic paradise of which she is the guardian angel is unusually successful in all its details. The great knocker on the front door, white woodwork, candlesticks of both brass and glass, old fashioned chintz hangings, rag rugs and well chosen mahogany furniture all help to carry out the colonial effect.

The most original detail of the whole hometakes form of small brass knockers, miniature copies of the knocker on the front door, on all the bedroom doors. These knockers are not more than three or four inches long, but they are practical as well as ornamental. It would take much persistence even on the part of a very heavy sleeper to ignore the persistent, sharp tap, tap of the little brass clapper.

Porch Furniture.
 Rattan and reed furniture for the house or porch use is to be had this season in an increased number of designs as well as articles. The tea wagons are fascinating to look at and certainly are useful. The muffin stands, too, are unusually graceful.

A Shopping Bag.
 Sew a very large safety pin in your shopping bag. Then hang by means of smaller safety pins your door key, samples of cloth, memoranda and such things. They will be handy when you open the bag and save poking down and about the bottom of the bag for these things.

Nothing more graceful and dainty than this frock, at the same time allowing for freedom of movement can be imagined as a dancing frock for the debutante. The skirt of soft white silk is accordion pleated. The tunic of chiffon is embroidered heavily in small French bouquets. Narrow bands of skunk fur give it the needed accent of black.

Lip Pomade.
 The frosty atmosphere makes the tiny metal cases of lip pomade especially desirable for my lady's handbag, for just a touch of cold cream protects the lips from the dryness of the wind. The metal cases are about two inches long, and are gilt, finished at the top with an imitation jewel, and a ring by which they may be attached to a chain. They are about half an inch in circumference. The pomade is slightly tinted, either flesh or rouge color, so that its use cannot be detected, or, for those who so

A BECOMING GOWN OF BLACK VELVET.

A striking gown of black velvet has been illustrated above. Severely simple lines have been adhered to in the designing of this charming little frock, thus affording better opportunity for the exploiting of the beauty of the material. The simple blouse closes on the left side with clear crystal buttons. The edge being finished with a narrow pleating of white mousseline. The deep cuff of the sleeve reaches to within an inch or so of the elbow where it joins the scant puff cut in one with the bodice. The neck is finished with a wide collar of white silk and tie of the same. The skirt is laid in two pleats on either side of the front and back.

WHAT ONE MAN MADE WITH HIS MONEY AND WORK AT MOSES LAKE.

By F. H. NAGLE Neppel Commercial Club

The picture at the top of this article shows Jacob Secrest among his trees, near Neppel, on Moses Lake.

Mr. Secrest came from Wenatchee and bought forty acres of raw land in 1910. He paid about $100 an acre for it.

In the fall of 1910 he sold fifteen acres, twelve acres of it good land, for $6,000. Of the twelve acres that he sold, Secrest had planted six acres to trees.

Jacob Secrest thus earned, by his judgment and labor, $300 per acre. Besides, the land that he kept for himself had increased in value, being worth $12,000.

He is now living in a big house on twenty-five acres that he reserved for himself.

The trees seen in the picture are two years old. When you come over to Moses Lake, go and see these two-year-old trees. If you have any experience in orcharding, you will declare, as have expert observers from elsewhere, that this is a most remarkable growth.

The growth is remarkable because nature has provided in the soil, climate and altitude of Moses Lake remarkable conditions for the production of apples.

You can buy land adjoining Secrest's, and just like his was when he bought it, for $150 an acre. You can cultivate it for a season or two, after which it will be worth $400 of any man's money.

Do just like Secrest did. Buy a forty-acre tract in the sale of farm tracts March 17, cultivate it for a year

Suffered Twenty-One Years—Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Avoyelles Par., Marksville, La. Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. WM. MORROW, Notary Public.
