THE RECKONING.

I.
A Judgment Day I hope there'll be,
For friend and foe, for you and me
Unto us all the same;
Misunderstandings cleared away
The hidden brought to light of day,
The censure and the blame.

II.
The wrong that triumphed over right,
All bitterness that left its blight
And marred Life's little span!
How each for self and petty gain
Strove heedless of the grief and pain
Borne by his brother man.

III.
For such as this, come, Dawn of Right!
Illume our doubt with Faith's fair light,
And clear the mists away!
Aye, sure am I—for you, for me,
For friend and foe, for all, there'll be
Some time—a Judgment Day.
—Augusta Wall.

If Pendleton does all the paving work that is proposed for this spring the total cost of the work will run into a big figure and the city should be an attractive field for paving concerns. There will be abundant room for competition and competition we should have. It is the life of business and tends to reduce prices. The only trouble about paving competition in Pendleton is that we do not have enough of it and when we do get a little war underway the rival companies are entirely too solicitous about hurting one another. They whet our appetites for blood and then give us the spectacle of a pillow fight.

In the state senate yesterday one senator, Dimick of Clackamas, made some very pointed statements about another member, Farrell. In substance the charge was that Farrell was afraid to be a real legislator and vote his convictions for fear he would lose some business he has had with an Oregon City corporation affected by a proposed labor law.

For this criticism Senator Dimick was called down by President Malarkey who urged that such charges if made should be made privately to the senators. Is that the sort of senate we have? Is it alright to be false to the people but wrongful to expose corruption? If the senate is to be a private club devoted to the protection of the shady work of its members the East Oregonian can see no reason why it should retain a room in the state house and draw pay from the people.

In New England where people delight to trace their ancestry back to the Revolution consider our French erable sentiment has arisen of late to the effect that the United States should honor in a more personal way the brave Frenchmen who came so nobly to our aid at the time of need. It has been pointed out that this country has long honored such names as Lafayette, Rochambeau and De Grasse but that the names of the humbler soldiers of fortune who cast their lots with the colonies have been neglected.

Congressman James H. Curley of Massachusetts has risen to the occasion by securing and publishing the names of leaders and subleaders of one regiment sent over by Louis XVI to assist us in our great war for freedom. The roster follows:
Col. Le Comte Dillon, Col. Theobald Dillon, Lieutenant Colonel Barthelmy Moncarrelley, Maj. J. Moran, Capt. Moore, Purden, Bancks, Nugent, Swingley, Shea, Moore, O'Neil, O'Brien, Taaffe, Mandeville, McGuire, Macdermott, Kelly, O'Reilly, Noolan, O'Doyer, Lynch, Coghlan.

These further French names appear in the roster of another regimental organization:
Col. Thaddeus O'Brien, Capt. de Fitzmaurice, De Walsh, O'Neil, De Nagle, O'Brien, D'Orey, O'Croly, O'Connor, Lieuts. Plunkett, O'Riordan, O'Gorman, MacCarthy.

The names of these old Frenchmen have a familiar sound in spite of our neglect and the roster indicates the allies came largely from that part of France contiguous to the Blarney castle. Furthermore the information made public by Congressman Curley throws light on the ancestry of the gentlemen who manage that Parisian railway, the O'Wrands.

Madero now has time to reflect on the difficulty of trying to provide an enlightened government for a benighted people.

Dr. Friedman wants entirely too much for his tuberculosis cure. Patent medicine manufacturers are offering similar cures at much lower prices.

It will soon be time to get the grounds in shape and adorn the cabs with the baseball park signs.

John McCourt got ahead of the gong.

TRY SOME OF THIS

POINTS ON POPULATION.
Mrs. Champ Clark, who is well known for her brilliancy in conversation as her husband, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, is for his fame in politics, tells this story:
The late Bishop Potter of New York had a most unclerical relish for practical jokes and pointed anecdotes. His cosmopolitan spirit loved men and things, and nothing pleased him better than to gather a group of congenial spirits about him and swap jokes.
One day he met a friend, a distinguished Jewish rabbi, and said to him in great seriousness:
"Rabbi, I am greatly worried about a dream I had the other night. I dreamed I died and went to the Jewish heaven. And who do you suppose were the only occupants?"
"I don't know, I'm sure," said the rabbi.
"Pawnbrokers and secondhand clothing men," laughed the bishop.
The rabbi said nothing.
Shortly after, however, he met the bishop. "Why, bishop," he said, "I had a dream myself the other night."
"Yes," said the bishop uneasily; "and what did you dream?"
"I dreamed I went to the Christian heaven."
"Well," pursued Potter, bracing himself, "whom did you find there?"
"Nobody," answered the rabbi.—Popular Magazine.

NEWS FROM HOGWALLOW.
Washington Hocks' watch got behind last week, but is rapidly gaining, since he got to stirring around some. Cricket Hicks says if the water in the creek would freeze over right after the big rains it would prevent all this high water.
Sim Finders has swapped around until he has a tolerably respectable team. While one trots and the other paces, they manage to get to where they are going about the same time.
The Rye Straw storekeeper has decided that in these days of competition and high tariff, he can make more by cutting an inch or two off of his yard stick than he can in regular prices.
While waiting for a jug to run full of sorghum molasses yesterday, the storekeeper at Rye Straw made the statement that if he carried as big and complete a stock of goods as Sears & Roebuck, Mrs. Frisby Hancock would come in the next day and, call for something he had never heard of.—Hogwallow Kentuckian.

LAND VALUES IN LONDON.
(From the Pall Mall Gazette.)
In what part of London is the most valuable land to be found? The question arises out of a statement by the Daily Mail that a strip of ground abutting on the Charing Cross opening to the Mall archway is to be sold in two lots, the price of one of which works out at nearly 24 pounds per square foot, and that of the remaining piece at upwards of 32 pounds per foot. There is also a question of frontage price. This amounts to no less than 170 pounds per foot. But this reckoning of frontage alone in estimating the whole amount to be paid is more sensational than exact in conveying an idea of the real market price of the land.
In comparison with the values at Charing Cross, inquiries made in the city by a representative of the Pall Mall Gazette show that ground in the most valuable part of the "square mile" fetched a price far higher than that recorded further westward. Some time ago a piece in Lombard street, near the Mansion house, was sold for 40 pounds a foot. This, however, is not the highest price that has been recorded.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SHE HAD TO CHOOSE.
Mr. A. C. Plowden, who, after a somewhat severe illness, has resumed his seat on the Marybone bench, is by way of being one of London's institutions. He tells about the wife of a notorious burglar whom he was once cross-examining.
"You are the wife of this man?" asked counsel.
"Yes."
"You knew he was a burglar when you married him?"
"Yes."
"How came you to contract a matrimonial alliance with such a man?"
"Well," witness admitted, "I was getting old, and I had to choose between a burglar and a lawyer."—M. A. P.

alized during recent years, for another site in the same neighborhood brought a return of 58 pounds, and even this has been exceeded by a tiny bit close to the Mansion house, which formed a good bank site, and changed hands for 60 pounds a foot.
But this was exceptional on account of the situation. In Lombard street the letting value of ground is generally recognized as 2 pounds per foot, and this, taken at twenty years' purchase, marks the selling price at 40 pounds. In another instance at the corner of Lombard street, near the Mansion house, where there was some difficulty in getting a site, 48 pounds per foot was the price reached.
In King William street there is on record the letting value of a piece of land at 35 shillings a foot. This, taken on the basis of twenty years' purchase as before, equals the rate of 35 pounds. As, however, this particular piece was wanted some years ahead, the purchaser had to pay 1,000 pounds as premium.
It is clear, therefore, that on a question of comparative value in the market the city price considerably overtops that attained at Charing Cross.

SYRUP OF FIGS IS BEST FOR A CHILD

If Its Little Tongue Is Coated, Breath Feverish, Stomach Sour and Bowels Clogged.
Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.
If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.
When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged-up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.
With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.
Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.
Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.
Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.
