NEW YORK'S GREAT TURKEY TROT WAR

New York, April 21.—Not in decades has New York seethed so wildly as it is now doing over the question of dancing. Incredible as it may seem to outsiders this question with a very great number of people throughout the city, people of every class, is overshadowing everything else. Compared to it the income tax is a side issue and the tariff a matter of little importance. For New York is in the midst of a great turkey trot war. To a very much lesser degree this has spread to some other parts of the country. Here, however, the struggle has assumed tremendous proportions, which it is believed only legislation at Albany can settle. There are many who believe that even this will be inadequate. The average New Yorker apparently believes that his right to dance when he pleases, where he pleases, and particularly how he pleases, is guaranteed under the constitution, or if it is not, should be. The mayor's recent order closing at one o'clock places at which New York is accustomed to dance caused a roar which could have been, and undoubtedly was heard at Albany. The few places which got around the order closed money and soon New Yorkers in their insatiable desire to dance caused open violations. Afternoon turkey trotting, even Sunday afternoon trotting flourishes, and New York is apparently dance mad. The announcement of the mayor that the ban would be put on certain kinds of dances evoked fresh howls of rage and derision and the battle waxed only fiercer. Passengers on incoming steamships report that the affair is assuming international importance since developments are eagerly followed abroad. There is no doubt of the seriousness of the situation, or its importance in the eyes of New Yorkers, though it is hard for an outsider to understand such a tempest in a teapot. But apparently to limit New Yorkers as to the quantity or quality of their dancing is the one thing they will not stand for, and the turkey trot battle is likely to go down in history as one of New York's fiercest.

SPORTS

BUCKAROO TEAM DEFEATS P. P. L.

The Pacific Power & Light Co. of Walla Walla neglected to send any "juice" along with its baseball team to Pendleton yesterday and as a result its battery was ineffective when brought into action against the Buckaroo team. At the end of nine innings, the score board showed that the Garden City electrifiers had been drubbed by a 14 to 3 score.

The game was not exactly a stellar exhibition of the national pastime. McKune's men having things pretty much their own way, but the fans felt amply repaid for their money expended at the gate by the manner in which the team, which opens the season for Pendleton tomorrow, performed. It was a smooth running machine that Terry has developed and incidentally showed that it has possibilities with the stick.

As a matter of fact the errors of the visitors were largely responsible for the manner in which the Bucks ramed around the circuit but these same Bucks bludgeoned out enough hits off the delivery of Spencer and Doc Voneman to win a couple of games. In all sixteen safe ones were registered, six of which went for extra bases.

The bombardment commenced in the second when a triple by Haworth, singles by Berger and Doherty and a homer by Cowan, coupled with three errors and a few stolen bases enabled six of the locals to ring the bell. Singles by Cowan, Lodell, Doherty and a double by Rader annexed three more in the fourth.

Voneman replaced Spencer on the mound in the fifth and, after issuing a couple of free passes and contributing a wild pitch, he was found for a couple of doubles and a single, Lodell, Doherty and McKune being the men who did the slugging. The fourteenth tally was added in the sixth when Augustus hit safely, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored when McKune connected safely with the pill.

Berger officiated on the mound for the first three innings for the Bucks and succeeded in striking out seven men in that short period. Wells took up the work for the next three and in turn was relieved by Krause in the seventh. Both of those twirlers had but little trouble mystifying the power and light batters.

The visitors managed to send a couple around the diamond in the sixth when McCool got to third on the only Pendleton error and a wild pitch. Niles poked out a nice single, scoring McCool, and himself purloined second and third, to be brought in when Barnard hit out the ball to Lodell.

Niles' freak homer in the eighth gave the Walla Wallans their last score.

AMUSEMENTS

The Orpheum.

An exceptional good program for Tuesday's change:
Dick, The Dead Shot. Vitagraph. Trashy novels prompt little Dick to do things that are astonishing and laughable. His mother's slipper puts the finishing touches on the end of it.
Bread on the Waters. Edison. A mother's note, begging her disgraced son to make a man of himself leads to the redemption of another man who, in gratitude, undertakes to restore the young chap to his parents. It is a difficult task, but love and perseverance win the battle.

The Sheriff's Baby. Biograph.

The Crab and the Lobster. An instructive as well as extremely interesting subject showing how the crabs and lobsters are captured in nets.

The Pastime.

Good program for Tuesday's change:
"The Burden Bearer." Lubin. Featuring Arthur Johnson and Vivian Pates. The picture has been splendidly staged. Vivian Pates has the role of Agnes, with whom two brothers are in love. Florence Hackett has the difficult part of an adventuress, who at first hires the favored son, Dudley, and later falls in love with Mr. Johnson, a naval officer.
"Bedelia Becomes a Lady." Vitagraph. With aspirations for society, Bedelia leaves home and launches to the swim, but in the end she is glad to return to the old home.
"With Eyes of the Blind." Edison. Featuring Mary Fuller and James Horton. There is much beauty in this picture and it tells a dramatic story.
"Broncho Billy's Way." Essanay. A new story that is dramatic and has a punch.
The Pastime will install this week a sanitary drinking fountain.

Cosy.

Monday and Tuesday a three-reel "101" Bison Civil War drama, "A House Divided," with lots of speedy action and some lively battles. There are plenty of thrills as the plot unfolds and a big cast to make the military maneuvers realistic.
"In Old Panama." Imp. Comedy showing some dandy views of Panama, City.
"Blinks, the Black Hand." Imp. Lively and very laughable.
Miss Gladys Rahe, soprano soloist. We have installed an exhaust fan which takes 2300 cubic feet of air out of the house every minute. In 10 minutes it completely changes the air, thus insuring cool, pure air, however crowded the house may be. There's nothing too good for our patrons.

Return of Musical Comedy at the Grand.

A return engagement of the popular players, Daisy and Arthur Rosell, at the Grand theater will be hailed with delight by all lovers of musical comedies. There is a brand new chorus, six pretty singing and dancing girls. Baby Wanda will be one of the main attractions at each performance, delighting the patrons with her singing and dancing and her specialty should be seen by every child and mother. This popular company will open Saturday night. First performance at 7 o'clock. Second performance at 8:45. Admission, 15 and 25 cents. Matinee Saturday and Sunday, 10 and 15 cents. A good place to spend the evening.

The East Oregonian will buy your old rags. Must be large and clean. Bring or send them to this office at your earliest convenience.
