BOY BADLY INJURED; JUMPED ON TAXICAB

Baker, Ore., May 16.—John McClurg, the nine-year-old son of Mrs. Rose Snyder, received a broken leg and a hard blow on the forehead when he attempted to jump on a taxicab near the Citizens' National bank on Washington street. The machine was driven by Charles Olds, of the firm of Olds & Wattles, owners of the taxicab line. The lad with a companion, who made a successful jump for the other side of the taxi, run from the sidewalk at the same time. The McClurg boy grabbed the handles and seemed to reach the running board all right, according to spectators. However, he lost his foothold, fell under the rear wheel and suffered a broken thigh bone in his left leg.

REFUSES TO TELL HOW CAPT. SCOTT MET DEATH

San Francisco, May 15.—Refusing to disclose the secrets of how Scott and his companions met death in the South Polar regions, Charles C. Wright and Frank Debeham, members of the expedition arrived on the steamer Tahiti from Australia. Wright was one of the rescuing band which

NO KNEE BREECHES FOR AMBASSADOR PAGE

New York, May 16.—Expressing the sentiment "no knee breeches for mine," Ambassador Payne sailed for England. Asked for his opinion on the advisability of having a rich man represent the United States at the court of St. James he said: "No rich man is going there now. If I am called upon to entertain too lavishly I expect to go broke. I am going there for diplomacy, not entertainment. There will be no knee breeches. I shall be just the American ambassador who will do his best to maintain friendly relations."

Baker Will Celebrate Fourth.

Baker, Ore., May 16.—At a meeting of the Commercial club it was announced that the sum of $1500 is already assured for a Fourth of July celebration and that more could be easily secured, as the majority of the business men favor the plan and will contribute. A meeting will be held this evening, at which time committees will be appointed to take charge of the various details of the arrangements.

GRANGERS THINK SENATE USELESS

Albany, Ore., May 16.—The Oregon state grange adopted a resolution yesterday morning that in its opinion abolition of the senate was advisable. Passage of the resolution, however, will not be followed by initiative proceedings, so far as has developed.

A resolution favoring abolition of the legislature entirely was referred to a committee. Another resolution was introduced calling for preferential vote on president, governor and United States senator in Oregon. Several others relating to grange by-laws were brought in.

The vote in favor of abolishing the state senate stood 77 to 11. It is probable indorsement of California's stand on the anti-alien land law bill will be refused, the grange seeming to prefer to leave matters of that character to the national government. The University of Oregon referendum is also unlikely to receive action either way.

A paper on "Cooperating" was read by E. E. Blanchard, state legislator from Grants Pass.

A resolution came in carrying approval of the California anti-alien land ownership bill. It is still in committee. A resolution putting the grange on record against the University of Oregon referendum is also in committee yet. Resolutions forbidding lobbying during legislative sessions have been voted down. One requesting the government to loan funds to farmers from postal savings deposits at 4 per cent interest was passed.

A new system of education that will give the country girls and boys the same literary, social financial and political advantages now enjoyed by the young men and women residing in the cities, is one of the things advocated by Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., National master of the grange.

"It is possible to give our country girls and boys the same opportunities they enjoy in town," said Mr. Wilson. "and while I am aware it will take considerable money and time, I expect to see the day when through the efforts of the granges throughout the United States, there will be schools located in the country to teach the young men and women all the trades and professions."

"Conditions on the farm should be kept such that our boys and girls who spend their early days there will want to remain there. We want our best young people on the farm. The second and third classes ones we can use for something else," he said.

Ghent and Rome Will Be Linked by TELEPHONY

Ghent, Belgium.—Professor Vani, the celebrated Italian physicist, recently arrived in Brussels in order to co-operate with Mr. Goldschmidt in connection with the preparatory work that is to be undertaken for the purpose of inaugurating wireless telephonic communication between Ghent and Rome during the period of the Ghent exposition.

Professor Vani, who is chief of the military radio-telegraphic laboratory directed by Colonel Pullino, was enabled through the agency of a microphone of his own invention to establish telephonic communication between Rome and the wireless telegraphic station of Tripoli, covering a distance of more than 1000 kilometers, communication having been as clear and distinct, it is claimed, as in the case of short distance telephoning.

INDIAN MOSLEMS HEAR ATTITUDE OF BRITAIN PRAISED

Bombay, India.—Lord Sydenham, the retiring governor of Bombay, and Lady Sydenham were entertained to an afternoon party by the Muhammadans of Bombay on the eve of their departure for England.

In the course of a speech, in reply to an address of welcome, delivered by Sir Currimbhoy Ebrahim, Lord Sydenham alluded to the attitude of the Indian Moslem in regard to it. He asked those present to believe that he could perfectly enter into their most natural feelings in regard to the misfortunes that had befallen their co-religionists in Turkey. He well understood how strong was the bond of Islam, and that it was impossible for them not to be profoundly stirred by recent events. He had traveled through Turkey, visited Constantinople, and seen something of the Turkish army before it fell into the hands of politicians.

He wanted to assure them that the British people, and the army especially, entertained deep respect and admiration for the Turkish soldier, who had not had a fair chance in this unfortunate war, and who had nevertheless shown the sterling qualities for which he had long been distinguished. He at least had brought no discredit to the honor of Islam.

Proceeding, Lord Sydenham begged them not to believe the malicious reports that the British people were hostile to their Moslem brothers, that they could have helped them in their time of need and did not, or that they showed their misfortune unmoved. When the present heat had passed away, and the calm historian came to deal with the great events which had transpired, he believed that he would recognize that the part played by Great Britain had been directed solely to the general good, to giving councils of moderation, and to saving for Turkey what was yet possible.

BOY MAKING A BOMB IS HORRIBLY BURNED

Salem, Ore., May 16.—While endeavoring to make a giant firecracker or bomb, Lester Young, 15-year-old son of D. J. Young, was seriously injured by a premature explosion. He will probably lose the sight of his left eye. Both eyes were badly burned and the inside of his mouth and nose and face were scorched black. He was making the firecracker with a can, powder and fuse.

MANY SPEAKERS AT COW AND HOG DAY

Stanfield, May 16.—(Special).—Several prominent speakers have signified their intention of being present in this city May 24 to address the ranchers and others who are interested in cows and hogs. Saturday, May 24, has been set aside as "Cow and Hog Day" and the commercial club is working to boost this phase of industrial development in this part of the county.

Among the speakers of the day will be D. E. Clark, live stock man of the O-W-R, R. & N.; Dr. James Withycombe, the "Sage of Corvallis," who will speak on the dairy industry; E. L. Potter of the Oregon Agricultural College, who will tell the best methods of raising hogs; C. L. Smith, the agriculturist of the O-W-R, & N. W. L. Thompson, president of the American National Bank of Pendleton, who will make known the relation of banking and dairying.

A special car will carry the Portland visitors, as there will be several from the metropolis. They will arrive early in the morning and after breakfast will be taken in autos and other conveyances for a trip over the nearby country, showing the development and great possibilities of this section.

The afternoon and evening will be devoted to addresses and a general get-acquainted meeting. Every one who is interested in dairying or farming is invited to be present.

ROMAN FORT BUILT FOR SCHOLARS' USE

Berlin, Germany.—The German Emperor recently ordered the construction of two Roman forts on the Saalburg in order to help German schoolboys to understand more fully the methods of warfare in the time of Caesar. The construction of these model forts is personally supervised by the Emperor and three of the highest cases in the classical schools at Frankfurt, Wiesbaden and other towns in the neighborhood were recently present at the work. One fort has already been completed and the other is now being built.

Each of the four sides is to be 50 meters long. A ditch will be made around the fort, which will also be defended by a wall of earth and staves driven into the ground by a wooden hammer, of a pattern used in Caesar's time, and bound together with wattle. The building work is being done by 150 pioneers from the garrison at Mainz, who, at the Emperor's order, used tools designed after the Roman pattern. These include a two edged hoe or spade, held together by means of rivets, axes, pickaxes, and billhooks. Thirty men are held in reserve and the working squad thus numbers 120, which is the size of an ancient manipule.

AVIATOR HAMEL HAILS STEAMER IN MID-CHANNEL

Dover, England.—A very fine non-stop flight across the English channel and back, in the course of which two new records were created, was made recently by Gustav Hamel on an 80 h. p. two-seated Blériot monoplane. The first record consists in the fact that for the first time the double journey was accomplished by an aviator carrying a passenger. Mr. Hamel's passenger was Mr. Dupre. The second record was in respect of the weight of the machine itself. Unloaded, the weight of Mr. Hamel's monoplane was 860 pounds, while the weight of the "cargo" including the two men, petrol, oil and so forth was 320 pounds.

During the flight a distance of 120 miles was covered in 95 minutes, starting shortly after 9 in the morning the aviator rose to a height of about 1000 feet and then flew out across the channel. The French coast was struck east of Calais, Mr. Hamel then continuing his flight to Dunkirk, where he turned and headed for Dover.

EPISCOPAL CLERGY TO MEET IN HOOD RIVER

Hood River, Ore., May 16.—Members of the St. Mark's Episcopal church are planning on entertaining the delegates to the convention of the Eastern Oregon District of the Episcopal church here next Tuesday and Wednesday. Every mission and parish of the diocese will send representatives and about 40 church people are expected in the city. Rev. Ernest V. Shaylor, rector of St. Mark's church in Seattle, will be present, and will be one of the principal speakers at a mass meeting to be held Wednesday night.

ver. On the journey home Mr. Hamel performed a daring volplane from a height of about 2000 feet to within about 100 feet of the masts of a steamer, which he had observed in mid-channel. The captain of the steamer and Mr. Hamel exchanged salutes and the latter then proceeded on his journey, passing over the sixth destroyer flotilla en route. The aerodrome at Whitfield was reached about 10:45.

BOYS ILLUSTRATE SPARE TIME WORK

Liverpool, Eng.—The Liverpool Institute school's "hobby show" takes place annually for the purpose of showing to parents and friends of the boys attending the school examples of the work which has occupied the attention of the scholars out of school hours, and prizes are offered in order to encourage the boys to spend their spare hours in a profitable manner. This year the exhibit was most successful, and some articles as drawings, photographs, models and mechanical appliances were exhibited. Two features of the show which were specially successful were a music competition, when a number of boys sang and played before the visitors, and a series of short lectures, illustrated with lantern slides, given by members of the school on their favorite subjects. By far the most entertaining event of the evening, however, was a comedy translated from the French, entitled "Holst With His Own Petard," which was admirably acted by five boys.

GUATEMALA ANNOUNCES END OF MONEY DIFFICULTY

Guatemala City, Guatemala, May 16.—It was announced that satisfactory arrangements have been made by the Guatemalan government for the resumption of the payment of interest on the Guatemala foreign debt, which is largely held in England. A fund also has been created for the amortization of this debt, the interest payment on which ceased in 1894, owing to a financial crisis in the country. Great Britain recently sent to the Guatemalan government a strong demand for the payment of the claims of British bondholders, and the time limit for a reply was fixed for May 15. On May 10 the British cruiser Alceus sailed from Kingston, Jamaica, and it was understood that she was to proceed to Puerto Barrios at the request of the British Minister to Guatemala.

SHEEP STARVING IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, May 16.—Lack of feed for sheep and cattle is assuming serious proportions in California. F. J. Sinclair, secretary of the California Livestock Breeders' association, sent the following telegram to Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior: "Three hundred thousand sheep needing relief. Graves estimates forest reserves can feed only 70,000 leaving balance unprovided for. Will you open park to prevent stockmen's ruin? No time to lose. Feed all gone. Association represents small owners. See California delegation regarding previous petition opening forest reserves. Help California."

"Graves," of the telegram is the chief forester. The previous telegram referred to was addressed to the secretary of agriculture, who has jurisdiction over forest reserves while the secretary of the Interior is in charge of the national parks.
