GOVERNMENT IS FIGHTING PEST

PRAIRIE DOGS WILL BE EXTERMINATED FROM RANGE

Efforts Being Made to Get Rid of the Little Animals Who Do Considerable Damage—This Damage, It Is Said, Affects the Stock-Raising Industry in Two Ways.

Washington, June 30.—(Special.)—As a detail of its campaign against prairie dogs on the sheep and cattle ranges of the west, the biological survey of the department of agriculture is using carbon bisulphide in connection with eight tons of poisoned grain for the extermination of the little pests on the ranges of the Colorado National forest, Arizona.

Generally the Biological Survey works to prevent the extinction of birds and mammals. In the present instance it justifies its war against prairie dogs on the principle of the campaign against the bubonic-plague rat and squirrel, or against the rabbit which girdles fruit trees.

The damage done by the prairie dog, it is pointed out, affects the stock raising industry in two ways. First, many acres are laid bare in the neighborhood of prairie dog villages, and the amount of food available for cattle is proportionally reduced. Second, valuable animals, frequently horses, have to be killed after they have broken a leg in a prairie dog hole.

According to the department's expert the stock industry has unwittingly favored the increase of prairie dogs by killing off coyotes that prey upon stock but are also natural enemies of the prairie dogs.

Last year on the Cochetopa National Forest of Colorado eighteen tons of poisoned oats freed some 26,000 acres of grazing land from prairie dogs. On the Pike National Forest, in the same state, seven tons of oats were used to clear 60,000 acres. This year five or six tons of the poisoned grain only was used on the Cochetopa and three tons sufficed for the Pike.

It is estimated that on all the national forests about 277,000 acres, which had been rendered worthless for grazing purposes by prairie dogs, have been restored to their former usefulness. Since it takes on the average 40 acres to support one cow or eight sheep, this means a gain in the carrying capacity of the range sufficient to run 6950 cattle or 55,600 sheep.

RAIN DOING MUCH GOOD IN HERMISTON

(Special Correspondence.)
Hermiston, Ore., June 30.—The rain of the past few days has been exceptionally welcome and is doing wonders toward making everything grow. All hay was up before the rain and the second cutting is growing well. The moisture at this time therefore is of the greatest possible benefit.

Sylvester Whipple of Pendleton was down this week looking after his ranch and doing some piano tuning for Sapper's Music store.

Messrs Longhorn, Frick, Worster and Smith the Hermiston carpenters are working on the new Edwards building in Umatilla.

The hillside land about one to two miles north of Hermiston which for a long time was considered practically useless for any kind of crops has proven from recent experiments to be some exceptionally good orchard land, being well drained and from its location, practically free from frost.

L. B. Kicker and family of Irrigon drove to Hermiston to spend the day. Mr. Kicker reports that this has been the banner fruit year for the Irrigon section since it started.

A fourth of July celebration will take place in Hermiston on Independence Day and a good time is expected. Among the events will be horse pulling contest, baseball game between the single and married men, horse races, gymkana, bucking contest, fourth of July oration at the grandstand. The gymkana will consist of 100 yard dash, long standing jump, long running jump, high jump, roller fight, cock fight (by boys), three legged race, potato race, free-for-all race, thread and needle race, cigarette race, team race, wheelbarrow race, etc. The events of the day will begin at 9:30 a. m. and continue all day. Many cash prizes up to $10 and
