CAUCUS IN ROW OVER THE TARIFF

Hitchcock Withdraws When Amendment for Tobacco Tax is Voted Down Yesterday.

Washington, July 2.—When Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska withdrew from the democratic tariff caucus yesterday because that body voted down his amendment that would put a graduated income tax on tobacco producers, he precipitated the liveliest time the senate democrats have had since they began consideration of the tariff measure.

Senator Hitchcock's revolt, which he later declared did not mean that he had withdrawn from the party or that he would not support the party measure, served to determine that there will be a binding resolution adopted to support the bill as ratified, to refrain from introducing any amendments not proposed by the finance committee majority and not to support any amendments offered from the republican sides. It was because he anticipated such a resolution that he intended to introduce his tobacco tax amendment in the senate and to lead a fight there for its adoption. Many of his colleagues who had amendments pleaded with him, assuring him that he could be granted the privilege of bringing up his amendment without taking such a drastic course.

Senator Hitchcock declared, however, that there was no other course open and left the room while the excitement was at its height. The vote on the amendment was 23 to 18, the senators supporting it being Ashurst, Bacon, Clarke of Arkansas, Fletcher, Hitchcock, Hollis, Kern, Martine, Meyers, Newlands, O'Gorman, Pomerene, Robinson, Saulsbury, Shepard, Shields and Vardaman. All the members of the finance committee voted against the amendment.

WOMEN LIBERALS TACKLE ENGLISH HOUSING PROBLEM

London.—At a sitting of the conference of the Women's Liberal Association, under the presidency of Mrs. Soames, the subjects of "Land Housing" and "Conscription" were discussed.

Mrs. Soames said that the health, happiness and the moral character of a people were all largely influenced by their homes. The raising of laborers' wages might, she thought, help to solve the housing problem in the rural districts.

Arnold Rowntree, who spoke of the subject from the urban point of view, moved "That the great difficulty of obtaining land in some parts of the country, whether for cultivation or for building purposes, and the great shortage of cottages for agricultural laborers, demand the immediate attention of parliament. This council further calls upon all local authorities for a much more active and stringent use of their powers in the removal of insanitary and crowded dwellings, and the construction of decent houses in their stead."

Library Aim Told by Mr. Carnegie. London.—A dinner in honor of Mr. Carnegie was given lately by the Library Association. Responding to the toast of his health, Mr. Carnegie said he believed in libraries because of his father's example.

His father in Dunfermline was a small master weaver, and he and several of his companions decided to amass their books. They got a place for them in a room and they got their neighbors to read them. This was the germ of public libraries, and the library in Dunfermline reached its proper destination when he gave the first library to his native town. He perpetuated his father's work. Since he presented the library to Dunfermline nearly 2500 libraries had been established amongst the English speaking race, and he hoped to see them number 5000.

His great joy was that all these libraries were maintained by public taxation, thus making every citizen a part proprietor. The disposition of wealth, concluded Mr. Carnegie, is too unequal. Immense fortunes as a rule are not conducive to the general good. The millionaire has to learn that he is only the administrator of his wealth for the service of man, and instead of "Heaven our home" there is also the noble aspiration as our immediate duty to labor to make this home our heaven.

SALE OF RAILWAY LAND IS HELD FRAUDULENT

Washington, July 3.—In order, he said to frustrate schemes of unscrupulous land agents who are selling preferred rights to land within the forfeited California & Oregon Railroad grant, Senator Chamberlain had read in the senate and printed in the record, a letter from United States Attorney Reed, stating that no preferred rights exist to these lands in the present status of the suits.

Two years will be required to obtain a final decision of the cases in the United States supreme court, and if the decision of the lower court is sustained legislative action will then be necessary for the disposal of the lands. Money for alleged preferred rights, in the opinion of Reed, will be a total loss to purchasers.

Woman and Her Varied Interests

Shopping Notes.

Boxes and tiny paper dishes to be used for nuts, candies or even as holders for entrees at luncheon, come decorated with the national colors in various clever ways.

The housewife should watch for sales of jelly glasses. The slight variation in the size often makes considerable difference in the cost, says the Newark News.

Long-handled spoons provided with a catch on the underside of the handle to prevent the spoons slipping down into the kettle are a help in canning or preserving.

With sales in Holland shades at very reasonable figures, one should consider having extra dark curtains at windows where there is strong sunlight. The darkened rooms are cooler in appearance as well as reality.

Middy ties in all colors, are to be found in abundance. One has a choice of the ties fringed, hemstitched or simply hemmed.

Stain Remover.

It is sometimes difficult to keep the kitchen paper free of grease stains. They may be removed entirely if a mixture of pipe clay and water made the consistency of cream, is spread over them and allowed to remain overnight. In the morning it should be removed with a clean brush or cloth. —San Francisco Call.

Novel Lamp.

An electric lamp has the base shaped quite like a flower pot, says the Newark News. The standard resembles the stem of a plant, while the shade of glass is shaped and colored like a flower. This lamp comes in two or three sizes.

Women Buying for the Men.

Did you ever walk through a men's furnishing store or that section of a department store which is devoted to masculine wear and note the number of women who are among the customers? It would seem to be another domain formerly supposed to men which has been invaded by women-kind. The time was when men insisted upon buying their own furnishings, but now, at their own request, that work is turned over to the women of the family, who, enabled here as in other lines to adapt themselves to circumstances, purchase with as much assurance as they do in a woman's furnishing store.

It has been said that the average man dislikes nothing quite so much as a shopping trip. Occasionally we see one who appreciates the remarkable executive ability required for managing a great store and enjoys an occasional trip to one for the purpose of investigation, but even they acknowledge that it takes much valuable time.

When a prominent professional man was asked his attitude regarding shopping, he said: "There is nothing I should enjoy more than spending a whole day at Blank & Co's, investigating the workings of the store.

If I only had the time to devote to it, but it has come to be the custom in America for men to give so little time to shopping that there would be scant sympathy for me at the office if I went in some day and told them that I had been spending two valuable hours in buying furnishings and other wear.

"Men of America have not the same incentive for spending much time on their shopping expeditions that their European brothers have, and when it is necessary for them to make their own purchases they have formed the habit of doing so very quickly, although they may spend some time in leisurely repentance."

This is undoubtedly one reason why they prefer to turn the work or pleasure of shopping over to the feminine members of the family, for they are too apt to purchase the first line of merchandise which is shown them that is at all to their liking.

STANFIELD MAN IS ROBBED OF MONEY

(Special Correspondence.)

Stanfield, July 3.—J. D. O'Donel of this place was attending to some business matters at Echo Monday and had to spend the night there. While he was asleep in his room in one of the hotels some one entered, presumably with a skeleton key, and robbed him of $40 in money, a check and some keys. No clue has been obtained of the culprit.

F. E. SMITH PLEADS FOR AID TO ENGLISH AGRICULTURIST

London.—F. E. Smith, K. C., M. P., speaking at a banquet given at the prince's restaurant recently by the imperial chapter and the ladies' grand council of the Primrose League, said that of all the problems which beset England today that of rural depopulation was perhaps the greatest.

They had heard quite recently promises and programs of rural reform. They had been told that a powerful minister, whose record up to the present had not been in the direction of consolidating the interests of classes proposed to address his discriminating and informed attention to the conditions of agricultural life. That minister quite recently made an appeal for a non-party consideration of the reforms which it was believed he was about to introduce.

It was somewhat late in the day after the speeches which had been made with reference to "starving" the landlords, or the land laws, he forced which to ask them to apply a non-partisan mind to the process to be adopted. But they all believed that the only security to the great center of a great empire was that they should give to every citizen the feeling that he had the means of earning by industry subsistence for himself and his family. They could never build up a great empire if, in the very heart of the empire they were to have a population in which an absolute majority were driven to seek poor law relief at some stage of their lives, either in the form of outdoor or indoor relief.

He was satisfied that if now there was a genuine desire on the part of their opponents to do something for the agricultural laborer, and if proposals were put forward with a single desire to benefit, not a party, not a partisan, but a great class in the state, he did not believe that the gentlemen of England would refuse to respond to such an appeal.

Belgian Defense Act Explained.

Brussels, Belgium.—The discussion in the senate of the army bill occasioned an important statement to be made by the premier, M. de Broeuville. The statement follows: "We do not doubt the sincerity and loyalty of the great powers who are the guarantors of our neutrality, but we have seen in numerous declarations that in case of war Belgium will be called upon once more to provide Europe with a field of battle. We cannot have our national dignity disgraced nor our personality impaired. Antwerp will in time be the most impregnable fortress in the world. It is the intention of the government to raise a special loan of 254,000,000 francs to cover military expenses."

Germany to Have Larger Ships.

Berlin, Ger.—An official statement with regard to the displacement and engine power of the latest German battleships has just been issued. The Prince Regent Luitpold, 24,800 tons which is just nearing completion, is the largest battleship in the German navy, exceeding by 100 tons her sister ships Kaiser, Kaiserin, Friederich der Grosse and Koenig Albert. These five ships have each a turbine engine power of 28,000 horsepower, the new armored cruiser has a displacement of 25,000 tons, which is equal to 2000 tons more than that of the Moltke. Her engines develop 63,000 horsepower.

er that of the Moltke being 52,000, and the Von der Tann, the first large turbine ship, being 43,000. The new small cruisers Karlsruhe and Rostock each have a displacement of 4900 tons and an engine power of 24,000 horsepower.

Flashes From the Wire

Medford, Ore., July 3.—Work will soon be commenced on the new Elks temple here, to be constructed at a cost of $45,000. The money for the building will be raised by issuing bonds in $100 denominations to members of the lodge.

Centralia, Wash., July 3.—Articles of incorporation are on file with the Lewis county auditor by the Olympia Southern Railway company. The new concern which is capitalized for $100,000 proposes to build a line from Puget Sound to the Columbia river.

Los Angeles, July 3.—Mrs. Rhoda McCarty, widow of Luther McCarty, white heavyweight champion, killed recently in a boxing contest at Calgary, is here to collect $3200 which the champion had on deposit in a local bank. Mrs. McCarty tried to get the money without coming to California but was informed that she would have to file a petition here for letters of administration. This step has been taken.

Los Angeles, July 3.—Detectives of the Burns agency, attracted by the $6100 reward offered are attempting to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of Charles E. Pendell, an aged money lender. Finger prints supposedly left by the slayer on papers in the old man's office, where the crime was committed, the detectives hope, will aid them in finding the murderer.

San Francisco, July 3.—"Go get a job and then I'll marry you." This is the answer given here by Miss Emily Coulston of New York, better known by her stage name of Theo. Carew, to a proposal of marriage by Marquis Piero Marcone, an Italian nobleman. The marquis, who has lost a $3,000,000 fortune, started out immediately in search of work.

Snohomish, Wash., July 3.—The train crew of the Northern Pacific switch engine which backed into an automobile here Monday, June 30, killing two and injuring three, have been held responsible for the accident by a coroner's jury, witnesses contradicting the claims of the train crew that a red light was displayed and the whistle blown.

AMERICANS WITH AUSTRIANS GIVE ECHUBERT PRAISE

Vienna, Austria.—A festival in honor of Franz Schubert was held during the visit of the Milwaukee singers to Vienna, when the visitors and townspeople collected round the statue of Schubert in the Stadtpark. Councillor Herold accorded a hearty welcome to American singers in the name of the town, after which the president, Professor Luenning, made an appropriate speech in which he declared at the close that Schubert would never be forgotten. At the conclusion of this speech the Milwaukee singers laid a wreath ornamented with bows in the American colors and bearing the words, "To the Great Master—The United Singers of Milwaukee" at the foot of the statue.

GREATEST RUSH IN IMPORTATION OF GEMS

New York, July 3.—"Gem import record broken" is an announcement made mostly since the first of the year at the United States appraiser's office. The total for June reads $5,102,917, nearly $2,000,000 of which sum is represented by uncut gems, mostly diamonds. It is predicted in the jewelry trade that the total value of the gem imports for the fiscal year will exceed $50,000,000. The large figures are due to the fear of importers of an advance in duty under the new tariff.
