BOVINES MUST HAVE BILL OF HEALTH

W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian and secretary of the Oregon Livestock and Sanitary Board, has caused a circular letter to be issued to the secretaries of livestock shows and expositions which sounds a warning to all exhibitors of bovines to subject their animals to the tuberculin test in order to qualify them as entrants to said shows or expositions and prescribing a penalty for violation of the provisions of the law regulating such exhibits.

The following is a copy of a letter he is sending out to fair secretaries. "Section 31 of Chapter 14 of the Laws of the 1913 legislative assembly provides that no bovine animal over one year of age shall be exhibited at any state, district or county fair, or any livestock exposition, within the state, unless, within 12 months prior to such exhibition, it has been subjected to the tuberculin test and received a certificate of health from a qualified veterinarian. No entry for exhibit shall be accepted until such certificate is filed hence you will see that it is necessary for all cattle that are to be offered for exhibition at your fair, must be first tested for tuberculosis and proven free from said disease.

"If you are in possession of the names of parties who expect to exhibit at your fair, kindly advise this office of their names and we will make arrangements with them for this test, should they desire same.

"In all probability we can arrange to have your county veterinarian, to make these tests, and should this be done by that officer, or any assistant, state or other veterinarian, the same will be done free of cost to the owner.

"Kindly advise parties expecting to exhibit of this matter.

"Very respectfully,
"W. H. LYTLE,
"State Veterinarian."

MRS. HARRIMAN GIVES ENDOWMENT FOR RESEARCH

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of the late railroad magnate, has just given an additional endowment of $10,000 to the fund of $50,000 she established in 1911 for the foundation of a bacteriological and pathological research laboratory, in connection with the hospital service of the Southern Pacific company. This announcement was made by Dr. F. K. Ainsworth, chief surgeon of the railroad, in whose hands the disposition of the funds is placed.

The purpose of the endowment is to further the progress of medical research. For the last two years, the work has been going on under the direction of Dr. W. T. Cummings of the Southern Pacific general hospital at San Francisco. Dr. Cummings has devoted his time to a study of serums with special relation to typhoid fever and tuberculosis, and has contributed some valuable experimental data to the existing store of scientific knowledge.

The fund is placed in the hands of the Union Trust company of San Francisco, the income being turned over to the hospital department as it accrues.

MARITAL COUPLE IS TIED AS TIGHTLY AS PARENTS KNOW HOW

CANTON, O., July 21.—The holy bond of matrimony will not be the only bond that joins Miss Elizabeth Boldt of Canton and Casian Bart Jr., of Youngstown, when they are wed. To insure the wedded bliss of the young couple an ironclad agreement, backed by bonds pledging a $700 farm and $700 cash, has been put up by the fathers of the prospective bride and bridegroom. The young people themselves have no doubt that their marriage will prove a happy one. They have sworn eternal love to one another and declare that the agreement and bonds are entirely superfluous, but the old folks, noting the increase of the divorce evil, decided to do all they could in a legal way to make the marriage stick so tight that it can never become unknotted. By the terms of the agreement the bridegroom's father promises that his son will never loaf, gamble, drink, play pool or dance with any young woman other than his wife. The bride's father, on the other hand, promises that his daughter will make her husband a model wife, will not gossip, run around with other men, and will cook to the husband's satisfaction. A forfeiture of the $700 bond is to follow a violation of the promises made by either side.

Pleased With Baker.

BAKER, Ore., July 21.—Rev. J. E. Horn, now a resident of Portland, is visiting Baker. Rev. Horn still has business interests here. He observed that he was impressed with the splendid outlook of Baker and thought the people of this city should be well satisfied, considering the complaint of dull times elsewhere.

TROUT FRY TO BE PLANTED IN COUNTY

Between 150,000 and 180,000 trout fry will be planted in Umatilla county streams tomorrow by the state fish and game commission assisted by a committee from the Umatilla County Fish & Game association. The distributing car "Rainbow" will arrive in Pendleton tomorrow morning and every one of its 180 cans, holding between 500 and 100 fry each, will be filled.

Half of the cans will be unloaded at Gibbon where a local committee will have an auto ruck to receive them. Stops will be made between Gibbon and Bingham Springs and the fry liberated in the Umatilla river. Between Gibbon and Duncan, the car will be stopped three times along Meacham creek to unload part of the remaining supplies. At each stop a local committee will take charge of the cans and attend to the stocking.

The restocking of the streams by the commission bids fair to perpetuate the fame of Umatilla county as a paradise for anglers.

INDIAN SKELETON IS UNEARTHED BY CONTRACTORS AT WEISER, IDAHO

WEISER, Idaho, July 21.—Although contractors digging the sewer trench between Third and Fourth street west unearthed a bunch of human bones and skulls last Saturday, the find did not excite local people very much, although quite a number of the morbid curious ones had to take a look at the gruesome relics in order to satisfy themselves. The number of the bones and the manner in which they were lying in the ground is the only curious feature about them. There were four skulls of adults and were evidently buried with the heads in a kind of a circle and within a radius of two feet. All of the other bones were distributed promiscuously about, indicating that they had been removed at some remote date, while the skulls remained in the original positions.

Soon after the bones were dug up they were examined by Dr. G. M. Waterhouse and Dr. C. C. Conant and the physicians agreed that they belonged to Indians that were doubtless

ANCIENT ARENA TO BE FILMED

Motion Picture Company Rents Site and Will Take Series of Wonderful Stories.

VERONA, Italy, July 21.—Contracts were formally closed today for what is believed to be the largest and most expensive moving picture productions ever undertaken. The city of Verona itself has leased to the cinematograph company the ancient arena which compares almost in size, picture-ness and antiquity, with the coliseum at Rome.

For the score or more of productions that are to be staged in the arena, the cinematograph company has also engaged 1000 performers, including nearly all of the best moving picture artists in Italy. Sixty lions also have been secured for the productions together with a assortment of tigers, leopards and other wild animals that would shame many of the American municipal zoological parks.

The first production to be staged will be "The Last Days of Pompeii." For a portion of the scenes the entire company will be transported to Naples in order that some of the scenes may be taken on the actual site of Pompeii, at the foot of Mount Vesuvius. The company will later produce a number of other historical films of similar nature.

SHOE AND LEATHER MEN IN CONVENTION

Several thousand shoe men from St. Louis, Boston, Brockton and other "shoe cities" and representing both the whole sale and retail parts of the trade attended the formal opening of the convention this afternoon in the Bellevue-Stratford. Mayor Blankenburg will officially welcome the delegates to the city tomorrow at the first business session at which formal reports from chairmen of committees will be submitted. The afternoon will be given over to boat rides on the Delaware and sight seeing trips about the city.

The Royal Ulster Yacht Club of Belfast, acting for Sir Thomas Lipton notified the New York Yacht club committee that the conditions prescribed by the New York Yacht club had been accepted and signed and were on the way to America.

It was also stated that the races would be sailed under practically the same conditions that have governed former America's cup matches.

Woman and Her Varied Interests

Bamboo Baskets.

Baskets of the smoked bamboo are always in good taste, no matter to what use they are put, according to the Newark News. At just this season the shops have a large supply of the low, flat baskets, with or without handles. They are designed primarily to be used for the table, as sandwich, cake, roll or fruit holders. Some are woven quite close while others are made with the open star pattern.

Canned Whole.

Select small, round tomatoes, scald by putting in wire basket and plunging once or twice in boiling water. Remove skins and put tomatoes in jars, add teaspoon salt to each jar, fill the jars with cold water, put jars in boiler, the bottom of which is protected with strips of wood; surround them partly with cold water, cover the boiler and boil 10 minutes after reaching boiling point.—Janesville Gazette.

Novel Favors.

So many bon voyage luncheons and end-of-the-season affairs are being given at the present time that favors for these occasions are largely confined to trifles which indicate a summer trip, says the New York Times. Tiny hat boxes of paper to be filled with bonbons are to be had at 5 cents each and dress suit cases at 24 cents. Trunks which hold a larger quantity of "sweets" are priced at 15 cents and the little red picnic baskets cost 10 cents. These are rather newer than the others. But the newest of all these small items are the automobile hats. Made of colored crinkled paper these are 5 cents each. More carefully made of tan and black leatherette lined with silk, in which the candles are placed, they cost 24 cents each.

EUROPE GOING TO GET CHINA

DISMEMBERMENT OF THAT COUNTRY SURE TO COME

Turkey-in-Asia Also Will be Sliced Among the Great Nations—French Minister of Foreign Affairs Makes Prediction—General European War is Bound to Come.

(By William Philip Simms, Paris Correspondent of the United Press.)

PARIS, July 21.—That Europe is preparing for the dismemberment of China, Turkey-in-Asia, and the Colonies of Portugal, and the ultimate division of the spoils, was the contention of former Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Emile Leopold Florens, in a private interview given the United Press correspondent here today. This diplomat, who is credited with knowing more of European motives and politics than almost any other man, tells the reason for the monster standing armies which the great powers are now creating with a rapidity hitherto known only immediately preceding war. And Germany, with her confessed need for elbow-room, and despite recent eulogies sung of the "Peaceful War Lord," is given the blame for starting the ball rolling. The interview took place at the home of the statesman, and M. Florens called a spade a spade.

"At the outbreak of the Balkan troubles some months ago," said M. Florens, "I told you that a general European war was preparing for the near future. I still think so. For the moment, however, the ambitions of the great powers are holding them in check. They don't want war just at this time and for a very good reason. That is why every ounce of their influence is being exerted now to prevent the Balkan difficulty from dragging them into a fight.

"Two years ago," the correspondent suggested, "the world was informed that Europe was on the verge of a general war. Americans find it hard to understand what it's all about and what is holding the powers back."

"The general squaring of accounts between the nations of Europe is coming," the diplomat replied. "You may be sure of that. Something has happened to postpone the action, that is all. The reason is this: There is shortly to be considerable territory divided, and when this begins each of the great powers wishes to be at its strongest. A war now would weaken the nations engaged, and those which kept the peace would find themselves with a tremendous advantage over their rivals.

"In the first place, Turkey-in-Asia, is doomed. This empire is shortly to disappear just as Turkey-in-Europe has disappeared, and the powers are preparing to divide her among themselves. Secondly, Portugal is in a deplorable condition, and it is certain that before long the colonies of that republic are to be portioned out among the nations of Europe. England will get the lion's share. Lastly there is China. The republic does not seem to have solved the oriental riddle, and Europe is laying its plans to have a good hold on the situation when the break-up arrives.

"Does it not occur to you as peculiar that although not a single one of the great powers of Europe has recognized the Chinese Republic, they have made that republic large loans? Why? The answer is extremely simple: If China breaks up they don't want any stumbling block in their way, such as a recognition of the present government might create; they want to be sure of collecting their money, and China herself is security for the loans. Diplomatic history to my knowledge has never recorded a similar situation. The United States is the only world power not directly interested in China. The United States withdrew from participation in the loan, and alone of all the world powers, the United States has recognized China as a republic."

"Where is this race for armament to end?" Florens was asked. "Just where it is, in my opinion," he said. "The tax-payers are tired of the game and they won't let things go much further. Europe has about some her limit. The powers have demanded bigger armies and more money, and the people have met the demands, of late, it must be said, with great reluctance. This is proof that the limit has been reached. The next move belongs to Europe. She must justify her demands; prove her war taxes justified, that the sacrifices of her citizen soldiers were not in vain."

CHARMING FOULARD.

An assuming but fetching little foulard frock is offered for consideration in the drawing above. A noticeable feature is the arrangement of the two shades of ribbon, the colors, of course, matching those in the gown. These cross the shoulders in suspender fashion following the "V" opening of the blouse and terminating in a two looped bow front and back. A yoke of tucked cream net and vestee of heavy lace fill the center front. The blouse has the drop shoulder joined to the wide sleeve by a piping of the darker silk. The skirt is severely plain but may be elaborated with lace used on the cuffs of the blouse.

YOUNG GIRL'S GINGHAM FROCK

In the drawing above a frock is pictured whose youthful lines make it especially appropriate for the girl from sixteen to twenty. One of the many dainty gingham, batistes or linens with which the shop counters overflow at this season could be easily fashioned into a smart frock, if this design be followed. The deep pointed revers, wide collar and cuffs may be cut from heavy all-over embroidery finished with a narrow edging or cut from plain linen and embroidered by hand. A chemisette of trucked batiste fills the front of the blouse to the bust line where it meets a band of machine embroidery, which continues without break to the knees. The skirt joins the blouse without a girle but is piped with plain self-tone material which terminates on either side of the center embroidery panel.
