DISCOVERIES MADE IN NORTH

IMPORTANT FINDS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN DISCOVERED

Explorer and Prospector Returns With Stories of the Location of Iron, Salt, Oil, Gas, Asphalt and Copper, in the Parsnip River District—Gold Also Found.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 21.—(Special.)—Hugh P. Metcalfe, explorer and prospector, who is known in every mining camp in the states of Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana, also in the Boundary country, said on returning to Edmonton from the Parsnip river district, 300 miles inside the Arctic circle, that important discoveries have been made in the north. These include the location of deposits of galena, iron, salt, oil, gas, asphalt and copper.

"The biggest find of immediate commercial value is gold," Mr. Metcalfe added. "The stuff is high grade and can be saved easily and inexpensively. The other discoveries also are worth while, but for the present there will be little or no development on account of the lack of adequate transportation facilities. These, however, are bound to come in time. The next few years should see big changes in the north country."

Mr. Metcalfe reported hearing of Bruce White of Spokane and his party of explorers, who are provisioned for a stay of two years in the north, along the Mackenzie river. He also reported hearing of several other large prospecting outfits working inside of the circle.

"When the extent of the newest discoveries is known," he said, "there will be the greatest rush that Canada has yet seen. I predict that the coming mining boom will so far overshadow anything that has yet been attempted in the western country that people will forget all about real estate investments and the like and turn their attention to the new industry."

Mr. Metcalfe will leave Edmonton in a few days for Spokane to meet Charles Sweeney, formerly president of the Federal company, operating extensive properties in the Coeur d'Alene district, in northern Idaho.

J. A. Weston and Hugh McDonough returned to Edmonton on July 15 from the Omenica river district, with samples of copper ore taken from a ledge beyond Pine Pass, in British Columbia. They were out 14 months. In the district where they prospected and staked claims the men found evidences of gold, while indications of copper and iron were found everywhere, although the development of mining alterations, they say, must necessarily be delayed until railway transportation is possible.

Weston discovered what promises to be a substantial deposit of copper. Claims were staked and with a few samples the men returned to Edmonton. The outcroppings of the copper deposit were found at the base of a deep gulch some two miles from the Omenica river, and while the mining operations would be easy to carry out if the country were opened up, the lack of railway transportation to the outer world at present precludes mining on a profitable or extensive scale.

Weston reports there are at least a score of old-time miners panning in the Omenica district. Several have found small bars, where, by continuous panning they succeeded in making more than ordinary wages, but so far no large pokes have been brought out.

Factory a Puff of Smoke.
WINCHESTER, Mass., July 21.—The factory of the New England Fireworks company went up on a puff of smoke, the result of an explosion late Saturday. Manager Ernest Borell and three workmen disappeared with the factory.
Borell was thought to have been killed when portions of his clothing, his eye glass case and some coils were found in the vicinity. But a searching party later discovered him in a clump of bushes a mile from the scene of the explosion, unable to remember what had happened.

THE LECOMPTON CONSTITUTION.

(New York American.)
In looking over a bundle of papers the other day which came to him among the effects of an uncle in Kansas, Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Headley of Milltown, N. J., came across what appears to be the original draft of the famous Lecompton constitution of Kansas, a document for which the authorities of that state have been looking for half a century.
Judge Headley has written to the Secretary of State of Kansas telling him of the find. The Lecompton constitution was the first law of Kansas which provided for slavery. It was recognized by President Buchanan, but afterwards supplanted with a new instrument that forbade slavery within the state.

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITION IS FIRST OF KIND

NEW YORK.—The first international motion picture exhibition opened on Monday in the new Grand Central Palace. The Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America opens its third annual convention today in the same building. The exhibition is for the general interest of the public. The convention is for the proprietors of motion picture theaters and members of the league.

About 75 interesting exhibits are included in the exhibition, ranging from the proper kind of fire extinguisher to use in a film theater to a complete theater itself. There are four theaters on the main floor, and 12 new films are shown in each daily.

One of the spaces claiming great attention was the booth of the Children's Motion Picture League of Greater New York. Mrs. Laura Cogswell, its founder and president, and Mrs. Frank H. Dean, its treasurer, were both present. President Wilson, Governor Sulzer and Mayor Gaynor are its honorary vice presidents. Mrs. Cogswell is to make possible in certain theaters in Greater New York a program adapted to children on every Saturday during school terms from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. This organization held its first program on June 28, when 2000 tickets were given away to children. It is especially our aim to provide clean amusements for children of the working classes. There are now 200 members of the league.

SPORTS

N. YAKIMA TAKES SUNDAY GAME TOO

NORT YAKIMA, Wash., July 21.—(Special.)—Steve Meltzer, undefeated twirler since he came to Boise from the Spokane Northwest League team, got his bumps yesterday. He was hit in every inning but the first while Gordon, a Yakima pitcher from Spokane early in the summer, tightened after the fifth and did not let an Irrigator reach first.

The fifth inning looked like a disastrous one for North Yakima. The score was three to two in favor of the Braves when Reams led with a smash over second. Friene put one close to the same spot and Gordon hit Blauser, filling the bases. Gordon fanned Kennedy. Clark sent a long fly to Stolke which let Reams get home and Altermatt went out. Grovers to Fuller. That was Boise's last chance for the Irrigators went out one, two, three after that.

The only double play in the game was an unexpected one in the third. Blauser doubled and Kennedy singled into right. Stolke leaved the ball to Taylor, catching Blauser at the plate and Taylor put it back to Netzel, retiring Kennedy who over-ran second in his attempt to go up an additional base on the throw-in.

Boise attempted a double steal in the first, after Clark's single had scored Blauser. Kennedy was on third. The throw went from catcher to second and back, blocking Kennedy cleanly when he attempted to dash for home on it. The only stolen bases of the game were by Kennedy and Blaussed. Kennedy got his practically without opposition while the Braves infielders kept their eyes on Blauser. Blauser's came in the fifth with a man on third, and was also unopposed as there was but one out.

Taylor was caught trying to steal third in the third inning, after his double. Netzel was caught at second in the sixth and Taylor at second in the seventh.

Score: R. H. E.
Boise 3 8 3
North Yakima 6 13 1

COLLEGE PROFESSORS OF USEFUL ARTS DON OVERALLS

College professors who are in charge of the industrial arts departments have taken off their coats, donned their overalls, and assumed direction of the "applied science" work in the extensive improvements now in progress at the Oregon Agricultural College. The preliminary work of drafting plans, writing specifications and making necessary surveys, they had already done.

All carpentry and wood-work in buildings undergoing repairs and alterations is in charge of Professor E. P. Jackson, who has assumed the entire management. The plumbing for Science hall, installing of the new heating plant and laying the new mains, are under the supervision of Professor M. P. Phillips and C. C. Wiltshire, who may be seen crawling out of ditches and sliding down banks to inspect and direct the work. The extensive drainage system and the new scheme of walks and driveways, were worked out by Professor G. V. Skelton, professor of civil engineering, who is passing his vacation in superintending the work. He is assisted by Samuel Michael Patrick Dolan, he of football fame, who informed the press representatives that they were just laying a few tiles—aggregating twelve running miles. The landscape work involving many changes for beautifying the campus and facilitating communication between different buildings is directed by Professor A. L. Peck.

By means of this faculty supervision the budget for improvements is expended wholly in the purchase of material and payment of labor. This not only guarantees better work but effects a material saving of funds.

FOREWARNED OF ACCIDENT.

(New York Tribune.)
Roswell Yorke, a steeplechase jockey, who is at St. Mary's hospital, Jamaica, in a serious condition as the result of a fall from a horse, attributes his accident to his failure to heed a premonitory warning from his fiancée. He received the letter only a few hours before he was thrown. The girl said that in a dream she had seen him tossed from his horse.
Yorke was schooling Amherst, one of the best jumpers in the stable of Thomas F. Ryan, when the horse failed to clear a hurdle and went down.
The jockey received internal injuries and broke his left arm. He says the accident is his twenty-fifth since he began riding, 13 years ago.

Will Protect Trout Streams.

BAKER, Ore., July 21.—Mention was made of the fact that the game warden was here looking into the matter of certain parties dumping sawdust into trout streams, and the promise made by that official that guilty ones would be prosecuted. Messrs. Valentine and Yeakley, owners of a sawmill on Sutton creek, were brought before Justice Hubbard on a charge of dumping sawdust into that stream. It was brought out at the trial that the recent heavy rains had something to do with the sawdust finding its way to the creek, so a compromise was arrived at. They were fined $25 and the fine suspended.
