

WHEAT MARKET CHANGES BASE

Chicago Market Loses at Start But Starts Lower When Prices Begin to Bulge.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—There was a change in the wheat market after the bearish opening. Similar conditions to those shown Monday were forced upon the wheat market at the opening yesterday and prices ruled off 1-4 to 3-8c a bushel. Closing figures for the day not only regained this loss, but there was a net rise of 1-8 to 1-2c over Monday's final.

Responsibility for the bearishness of wheat option prices at the opening of the market can be safely placed at the doors of short sellers, who made initial sales in the hope of influencing a further sharp break which failed to materialize. Covering sales followed the bulge in prices.

Broomhull cabled from Liverpool that the steady American wheat cables caused support at the opening of the English market yesterday morning. Later realizing developed and prices declined with the undertone easy. The better reports from Russia and large arrivals there, larger Russian and Danubian offers, fine weather in the United Kingdom and throughout Europe, expected increase in the visible here and weakness in spots, all served to create a bearish feeling.

$23.90 here. The business is of small volume and scarcely reflects the general sentiment of the trade because not enough oats have been sold to date this season to firmly establish values. There is considerable last year's stuff still floating around and therefore the immediate desires of the trade are being quite well taken care of.

A very nominal amount of business is reported in the barley trade with quotations showing a spread of from $22.50 to $23.50 a ton for No. 1 feed. This alone indicates that the market has not yet been established. Brewing quotations range around 525 a ton.

For immediate delivery, small lots of club wheat are being taken in the country on the basis of 79c a bushel tidewater track, but next month's delivery is generally finding bids a cent below this. For immediate delivery small lots of bluestem are finding bids of 43c generally with a cent off for futures.

Flour market is quiet both for patent and export.

LAMB MARKET IS SHOWING FIRMER

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—Considerable strength is showing in the market for lambs at North Portland, and recent sales at $5.75 reflecting the change in sentiment regarding the offering of good stuff. The general sheep trade reflects steadiness for good stuff, but poor offerings are somewhat neglected and fail to bring their probable worth, because killers do not have the facilities or space to take care of them.

Practically the only arrivals available for the livestock trade at North Portland were sheep, although some other stuff had been held over from Monday. Seven loads entered the mutton yards over night.

Hog Market Holds Weak.

The sharp loss in the price of hogs at North Portland put the local trade below the best markets of the east by a nickel. This is the first time for a very extended period that swine values here ruled lower than any of the big markets of the east. The bearishness here is not due to any great increase in offerings, but the simple determination of killers to put down values.

There were no hog offerings on the local market over night, therefore quotations are nominally continued at the previous range.

General hog range:
Extra fancy $9.30
Ordinary light 9.25
Fancy heavy 9.10
Rough and heavy 8.00

Cattle Situation Is Weak.

Practically the only arrivals of cattle at North Portland yesterday was dairy stuff. The receipts of beef stuff were almost too nominal to note. General situation in the cattle trade is weak with prices depressed although showing practically no change except for extra fancy stuff. The latter is in fair demand with sales infrequent up to $8.35 for steers but the bulk of the stuff ranges considerably below this.

General market range:
Fancy steers $8.00@8.25
Medium steers 7.50@7.75
Ordinary steers 7.00@7.50
Fancy cows and heifers 7.25@7.50
Medium cows 7.00
Ordinary cows 6.50@6.75
Fancy calves 9.00
Ordinary calves 8.00@8.50
